

Uni Students Are Banned From Lincoln K. K. K.

Message From Kavern, Published in Daily Nebraskan, Says School Pupils Are Not Wanted.

Lincoln, Sept. 20.—(Special).—The Ku Klux Klan wouldn't organize a society among the university students even if the students desired to wear white shrouds and chase each other over the faces with a hole cut in its since the law of the university prohibits students from joining any secret organization.

Such is a written statement purporting to come from the Lincoln order of the Klan which was sent today to the Daily Nebraskan, official publication of the University of Nebraska.

The statement further sets out that if individual students desire to knock at the door of the "Kavern" in Lincoln and see to learn the password, they will get the pass on sign signified through the mediator of the big toe on the right foot instead.

The "official" Klan document followed a statement yesterday by Chancellor Samuel Avery that if any students showed Ku Klux Klan proclivities for working in the dark, secretly, he would send them back to the old farm where they could do twilight milking instead of twilight Ku Klux Klanning.

Two Deals in Europe Made

By Omaha Real Estate Man

During the last month E. G. Solomon has sold two Omaha properties while the owners were in Europe. He first submitted a cash offer for a business corner in South Omaha, to the owner who was in Atlanta, Germany, got an acceptance and closed the deal in four days.

His second transaction was submitting a cash offer for a fine residence in the Field club district, to the owner, who was in Manchester, England. The offer was accepted and the deal closed inside of 24 hours.

Record Enrollment at

Medical College Here

More than 250 students, a record for the institution, are enrolled in the Nebraska university medical college, located in Omaha, at the opening of the new term. Out of approximately 175 applicants for admission to the freshman class, only 95 were selected, selection being made on a basis of scholarship.

Students from 20 states, from the Philippine islands and from China are enrolled.

Jack and Jill

Jack was in an amiable mood—so amiable that he said never a word about the scorched toast, or the lack of marmalade, the supply of which seemed to have become exhausted in the night. Jill had dark and sinister suspicions of the new maid.

So she dared broach a proposition that had been on her mind for weeks.

"Jack you like dogs, don't you?" she asked. She threw him her sweetest smile.

"Oh, yes," he replied carelessly.

"Do you like Airedales or terrier, best?" she went on.

"All the same, aren't they?"

"Of course not, foolish man," said Jill. "There must be a hundred different kinds."

Jack nuzzled over his breakfast. Jill despaired. He seemed so frightfully uninterested.

"Jack, I know where we can get a thoroughbred dog, a fox terrier, for only $10. He's a thoroughbred, too."

Jack grunted morosely and his earlier smile was gone.

"No place to keep a dog," he said, "and besides they're a terrible nuisance. Never can go anywhere, especially for a week-end, but what you have got to have the dog tagging along."

"Oh, but honey, a dog would be so much company for me while you are away all day."

Jill could have bitten her tongue as soon as the words were out. At best it had been a tactical blunder. Jack favored her with a dark scowl.

"Oh, you want a $10 pup to have in my place during the day, eh?" This heavy sarcasm he deemed sufficient to dispose of the matter.

That night he burst into the living room and grasped Jill in an enthusiastic embrace. He kissed her warmly and, ay, even hugged her.

"What in the world—" she gasped.

"Oh, darling, I've got such a surprise," cried Jack with a gay laugh.

"Come on." He tugged her out into the hall.

Sitting calmly on their best Chinese rug was a small dun-colored and somewhat nondescript comediton. It was a dog, a rather waggish looking fellow of mixed ancestry and of a breed not to be cataloged.

"Hey, there, Spot, shake hands," commanded Jack with all the good fellowship in the world in his voice.

The dog grinned and immediately oblied.

Then Jack insisted that Jill make the acquaintance of the little beast and the hand-shaking ceremony was performed, right and left, and left and right, just to prove, so Jack said, that the animal was immensely clever and probably knew as much as any man did. Not surprising but what he knew more.

"Most intelligent dog I ever saw in my life," declared Jack.

"But, darling, could have bought a pure-blooded terrier for only—"

"Pure-blooded?" repeated Jack.

"Why this dog couldn't be duplicated for $10?"

"But where in the world did you get him?"

"Why the little fellow followed me from the office all the way down to the station. I pretended not to notice him, but the little beggar actually nipped at my feet so I had to notice him. He looked at me just as if he wanted to say, 'Aw, take me home.' So darned if I didn't pick him up and smuggle him into the smoker."

"But, Jack—"

"And just think how much company he'll be to you, honey, while I'm away all day."

Boys Having Success In Selling Stamps For Aero Congress

Youths selling stamps for the International Aero congress to be held in Omaha November 3, 4 and 5, are employing real salesmanship, according to early returns to the Omaha Aero club.

Gordon Pray, young son of George Pray, Carter Lake club, has devised a simple method by introducing a brief letter on the purpose of the stamp-selling campaign. Gordon approaches the business man with the personality of a real salesman and sells his idea. He is near the top of the list of contestants who are trying for the first prize, an airplane flight to Chicago, for selling the most stamps.

Edward Rice, 10, 1912 Emmet street, and Clifford Shaw, 1707 Dorcas street, also have turned in large sales.

Omahan Asks Divorce From French War Bride

Suit for divorce was filed in district court Monday by Anthony Palmisano, 2615 North Fifteenth street, from Antoinette Palmisano, whom he met in France while there as a soldier. They have lived in Omaha since April, 1920, when in response to his urgent plea she came to Omaha where they were married. Now Antoinette longs for the bright lights of gay Paris, the cafes and dance halls and already she has her passports for the journey to her sunny France.

Omaha Council Supports

East Omaha Drainage Plan

City Clerk C. F. Bossie has been authorized by the council to cast 350 votes, one for each one in the district owned by the city, in favor of the East Omaha drainage project when it is voted upon by interested property holders, in his office next Monday.

The land on the Nebraska side consists of about 5,700 acres and on the Iowa side 1,280 acres. The cost on the Nebraska side will be approximately $100,000.

Lead Prices Up.

New York, Sept. 20.—The American Smelting and Refining company today advanced the price of lead from 4.60c to 4.65c a pound.

Brief City News

Omaha Average $300—According to estimates made by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce on the total savings deposits in Omaha banking institutions, the average wealth of every person in Omaha is $300.

Porch Blown Away—During the heavy rain and windstorm Monday night, part of the porch of the residence of Andrew Traup, city detective, 1122 South Thirty-fifth avenue, was destroyed and carried by the wind for several blocks.

Broomfield Pays Alimony—John Broomfield, negro and former owner of the Monarch Garden, closed by the welfare board last November, was divorced by Charlean Wallace Broomfield in district court Monday. Broomfield paying her $3,000 alimony.

Bryan-Butler Political Slate Is Mentioned

"Brother Charley" Refuses to Deny or Affirm Rumor Being Circulated by Democrats.

Lincoln, Sept. 20.—(Special).—"Brother Charley" Bryan today refused to either deny or affirm a report that movement was under way by "progressive democrats" to launch a Bryan-for-governor and Dan Butler-for-governor campaign in the democratic primaries.

"I don't know what my friends intend to do," "Brother Charley" said. "Right now, as city commissioner, trying to check the big business interests and get cheap coal, cheap ice, cheap food and a square deal for the masses, is keeping me pretty busy."

The verbal launching of the Bryan-Butler boom followed circulation of a report that "Brother Charley" and Dan Butler of Omaha were in conference recently.

Both men have large followings and have waged campaigns of the same caliber in their respective homes against the coal merchant, the ice man and the landlords.

Both have undergone the same experience in getting the biggest vote at a city election and then have their fellow commissioners elect another, receiving a lesser vote.

How to End Aching Feet

New-day treatment keeps feet in perfect condition

A little book, entitled "The Proper Care of the Feet," is helping a good many people to free themselves from the nervous strain and constant annoyance of aching feet.

It shows simple ways to keep the feet in proper condition—how to overcome excessive perspiration, how to soothe aching muscles and tendons, how to reduce swelling, how to get instant relief from corns and how to end them; in fact, this little book is all that its name infers: "The Proper Care of the Feet."

This booklet accompanies each box of Blue-jay Foot Treatment, which may be obtained at your druggist's, or a free copy of the booklet will be sent if you write to Bauer & Black, Chicago.

An Exceptional Business Opportunity

There is now no doubt that the country is on the road to much better times. To those who can correctly read the future, the richest rewards will come. Next year and the years thereafter will be the harvest time of those who venture wisely now.

A well known Detroit automobile factory whose product is meeting with rapid sale is seeking a few additional distributors in several rich territories. Automobile experience is not necessary but merchandising experience will be considered as a valuable asset. Ample capital and the ability to create a fighting sales organization are the two major requirements.

ARE YOU SUFFERING FROM NERVE FORCE EXHAUSTION?

How to Tell and What to Do.

Thousands are failures in life and a burden to themselves and families from depletion of the nervo-vital fluid.

All success and happiness in life depend upon the nervous system, which consists of countless millions of cells. In these cells is stored that mighty mysterious energy which we call nerve force. When your nerve force becomes weakened or exhausted, you may suffer from all kinds of alarming symptoms. The nervous woman of leisure feels bright and like herself during any exciting pleasure, yet every time she indulges in such she is only further spending her already small supply of reserve nerve force and further aggravating her already lamentable condition. When such a woman has no exciting pleasure she feels morbid and depressed, has headaches, periods of great weakness and moods in which she wants to scream.

The nervous business man feels in a perpetual hurry. He is impatient and restless while waiting for his car or luncheon. He eats rapidly, fidgets and at night tosses and thinks for an hour or two before he can go to sleep. His memory fails, his judgment becomes poor and he often makes bad decisions, which greatly injure and sometimes ruin his business. The nervous student broods over his studies and cannot fasten his attention upon his work. The nervous mother or housekeeper is highly irritable, forgets where she puts things and often cannot remember what she started to do. At night she often has a "wood cry" and excuses it by saying it is a relief for her nerves, when it means a high state of nerve force exhaustion. Without "nerve force" your will power becomes weakened. You have noble impulses and desires, but you do not carry them out.
