Iwauqua, Summer Home of Camp Fire Girls

By Mrs. Howard H. Baldrige. School days are again the program for the boys and girls, and a few weeks ago saw the closing of Camp Iwauqua, where all the summer long, the Camp Fire girls have lived close to nature, and according to their ritual, turned on "New Fiction and Drama." Subject of opening talk, "Beneficial Rest." F. E. O. Sisterhood, Chapter M—Saturday, 1 o'clock luncheon with Mrs. H. M. Bishop, 4117 South Twenty-eighth street. Mrs. P. T. Lee, assistant hostess. Miss Autumn Lavie will speak on "Our National Law."

Omaha Walking Club—Sunday, 2:30 p. m. From State and Locust streets, taking East Omaha car. The walk will be from the west end of the East Omaha car line into the bluffs and hills north of the city. Meet at the Harrison street car line. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wood, leaders.

The last week of camp, the board of Camp Fire counselors, including Mesdames Charles Hubbard, F. P. Kirkland, Howard H. Baldrige, Dollie P. Elguter, E. A. Puagan, M. A. Woodruff and the Misses Nell Ryan, Gladys and Inez Shamp moved to Camp Iwauqua at 6 o'clock and began their work.

It was a gorgeous morning and the 21 miles ride to the camp, over good roads and through a most pleasing pastoral country gave the older women the needed "atmosphere" to fully appreciate all that camp life meant to the girls.

The camp bugler awakens the camp at 6:30 a. m. and arrayed in bathing suits, the girls start the day with setting up exercises, then for the morning plunge in the lake, which is close at hand. Seven o'clock finds them at the two long tables, standing behind their chairs where a morning prayer is softly chanted in girlish voices and then they "fill up" on a breakfast of fruit, cereal, plenty of good milk and bread.

Assembly and inspection comes at 9 o'clock, from 10 to 11 the girls are taught how to handle a canoe and row a boat. After that comes classes in nature study. This consists in learning the names of different trees and their uses, different birds, flowers, insects, the various soils and what they best produce. At noon bathing suits are donned, wet or dry ones make no difference to these sturdy youngsters, and their swimming lesson begins under the efficient leadership of Miss Mary Louise Guy, the camp's chief counselor.

The bugle calls the girls to dinner at 1:30 and such a dinner. After a softly chanted thanks to the Giver of all good things the heaping dishes of meat, mashed potatoes, fresh tomatoes, topped off with freshly baked apple pie, disappeared as they were by magic. Each table is chaperoned by two "guardians" (girls who have been graduated from Camp Fire service) and thus the conversation is directed along Camp Fire lines.

During the afternoon the time is divided into, rest hour, free hour and service hour and ends with a good long hike, after which each group prepares its own supper. Then a long hour round the camp fire, talking over the days experience and story telling and then to bed.

The Omaha Camp Fire unit has been in existence eight years and numbers over 900 girls, from the ages of 12 to 18. The possibilities of Camp Iwauqua are many, and each year new improvements and equipments are added, and in time it will be something Omaha may well be proud of. It now consists of a long canvas covered wooden floor dining tent with the kitchen at one end, eight sleeping tents, all well arranged, a water slide, four canoes, with the equipment that goes with a well-organized camp. Mayor Dahlman has kindly consented to permit the Camp Fire girls to tag the good people of Omaha, October 1 and from the money raised they hope next year to replace the dining tent with a permanent building.

As the day was drawing to a close the visiting Counselors were loath to leave this happy group of sun-burned rosy checked girls. They are the women of tomorrow, and living under the influence of Camp Fire and all that it stands for, we are assured of a group of "honest to goodness women" pure in thought, living to serve others and the love of home and country in their hearts.

A membership of 1,200, a large lodge for Camp Iwauqua and a $5,000 budget for this year's work, to include special training courses, office, equipment and field work, are the aims of Omaha Camp Fire girls for the coming season.

Social Settlement Notes. Omaha Social Settlement will be open for registrations in clubs and classes Saturday, October 1.

The Omaha Woman's club is selling auto plates, carrying the word "Omaha" on the face. They come in two varieties, white enameled letters on a Kelly green field, and copper letters on a brass field.

The prices at which they will sell, allow a margin of profit for the club women who will apply their earnings to the club house site fund.

Club women of many other cities, including Seattle and Tacoma, have undertaken to sell similar plates in their towns. They regard them as a boost for the city as well as a source of modest revenue.

In connection with the Omaha sale, there will be a parade Saturday, October 1, followed by public speaking. Mayor James Dahlman, the Chamber of Commerce, city organizations and business men have expressed approval of the sale of these name plates carrying the word "Omaha."

Food Sale. The Minne Lusa Woman's society will hold a sale of home-cooked food at the Minne Lusa Pharmacy, 6716 North Thirtieth street, Saturday, October 1.
