

Hay Movement is Below Normal In All Sections

Nebraska Has Shipped About 10 Per Cent of Alfalfa Crop—High Freight Rates Blamed.

Lincoln, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—The movement of hay is below normal in practically every producing section of the country and less hay has been marketed to date than at the corresponding time last year, according to a national survey of the hay market situation just completed by the bureau of markets and crop estimates and reported by the state bureau of markets.

Dealers in the principal timothy producing states, including New York, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Wisconsin, estimate that only about 15 per cent of the marketable surplus has been marketed to date. The highest movement was indicated in Wisconsin, where only about 5 per cent of the surplus has been marketed. The heaviest movement estimated at 25 per cent of the surplus has been marketed in Ohio and Illinois.

As is usually true at this time of year more alfalfa has been marketed than timothy. Reports from the principal alfalfa producing states indicate that about 30 per cent of the surplus has already been marketed, ranging from 5 per cent in Kansas and Idaho to 10 per cent in Colorado and Nebraska, to 50 per cent in Texas, 60 per cent in Arizona and 65 per cent in California.

Only about 15 per cent of the prairie hay is reported to have been marketed to date. The lighter movement has been in the Dakotas and the heavier movement in Missouri and Oklahoma.

Of the same hay, dealers estimate that the quantities to be marketed in 1921 will be only about 86 per cent of the quantity marketed in 1920. This corresponds very closely to the decrease in production. The 1921 crop of timothy is estimated at approximately 79,808,000 tons, or about 87 per cent of the 1920 production of 91,193,000 tons.

Freight Rates Blamed.

A number of factors, including high freight rates, financial conditions, unprofitable prices to producers, farm work and good pasturage are given as the contributing causes for the light initial movement of hay to market. At this time high freight rates are thought to be the greatest hindrance to a normal marketing of the tame hay or wild hay crop. From many of the prairie hay sections, especially reports indicate that freight and marketing costs are so high that no attempt is being made to market any but the highest grades of hay. The lower grades, which usually provide a medium priced food for use in wintering stock, will not be harvested or prepared for market.

Only Woman Bishop in World Conducts Old-Fashioned Services at Kelpine Hall.

"We are going to beat the devil in Omaha," so spoke Rev. C. W. Bridwell, brother of Bishop Alma White, when he opened the series of revival meetings being held at Kelpine hall. There is no denying that there is a devil, a very active one, and that this is no myth but a reality. The trend of the times is downward and we hope to stimulate Omaha people churchward and to salvation.

ask Mr. Redmond. "He says prices have so declined in New York that the merchandise may, in some cases, be sold here cheaper than at any time since the Burgess-Nash company was organized."

The merchandise already has been shipped and will be on sale in all departments of the store shortly, Mr. Redmond said. Mr. Nash, who left Omaha with 17 of the store's buyers a week ago, is to arrive in Omaha Monday with the buyers, in the same private car in which they departed.

While in New York Mr. Nash arranged to have the Fuchron twins, who attracted much attention in large New York establishments, come to the Burgess-Nash stores to sell and display merchandise in the junior department of the store.
