If any Omaha minister has a bigger record than seven weddings performed in four hours, now is the time for him to say so, or else forever hold his peace, and leave the laurels to the Rev. Dr. Baltyz of Kountze Memorial.

Last Saturday I married seven couples at half-hour intervals, there were no double affairs, it's my record, and I'm proud of it," declared Dr. Baltyz. They all took place at the church between the hours of 12 and 1.

All the weddings were quiet affairs, only the families concerned and a few friends being present. Miss Vera Weis married Eugene M. May, Miss Bertha McLain married Andy Jensen, Miss Olga Bollen became the bride of Louis G. Michaels.

The other couples were Mellicent Schauberg of Burlington, Ia., and Leroy F. Cox of Omaha; Miss Nancy Peterson of Omaha and William H. Bade of Panama, Neb.; Miss Jeanette F. Thompson of Omaha and Adolph W. Thomson of Wlota, Ia., and Miss Florence C. Jensen to John S. Wilkerson.

Brobel-elli's Wedding. At noon Monday a quiet wedding took place at the Kountze Memorial church. It was that of Miss Mabel Irene Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zalmom Ellis, to Mr. Louis B. Brobell. Miss Zola Ellis attended the bride and C. L. Swancutt acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Brobell will live at 307 Palmer apartments.

Iowa Couple Wed in Omaha. The marriage of Miss Eva Gwynn of Shenandoah, Ia., to William Goodner of Farquar, Ia., took place Monday at the First Presbyterian church. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gwynn of Shenandoah, and the bride's sister, Miss Inez Gwynn of Ida Grove, Ia., were present at the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. W. H. Jordan. Dr. Jordan was the pastor in Shenandoah for several years.

Allison-Kiplinger Dinner. Mrs. C. C. Allison gave a dinner for Miss Dorothy Kiplinger and Charles Allison and their wedding attendants at her home Tuesday evening. The Allison-Kiplinger wedding will take place at St. John's Catholic church at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Kiplinger will follow the ceremony.

Junior League Circle Meets. One of the three sewing circles of the Junior league met Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Harriet Metz. This circle meets every Monday to sew for the University hospital. Its members are the Mesdames Bob Burns, Amos Thomas, Bob Garrett, Richard Mallory, Bob Turner, Robert Reasoner, the Misses Harriet Metz, Mary Fuller, Ruth Carter, Emily Keller, Helen Walker and Elizabeth Barker.

Informal Tea. Mrs. M. F. Goodbody entertained informally at Tuesday afternoon at her home in honor of Mrs. Goodbody's mother, Mrs. R. Goodbody, and his sister, Mrs. Dora Goodbody of Paterson, N. J.

Church Bazaar. The women of Holy Name parish will conduct a bazaar in the school auditorium, Forty-sixth and Maple streets, from Wednesday evening until Saturday evening.

Dance Series. Watson's orchestra of Lincoln will give a series of dancing parties on Friday evening of each week at the Kel-Fine academy orchestra, which is composed of students from the state university, played during the summer months at Troutdale in the Pines, Colorado.

Church Hold's Rummage Sale. There will be a rummage sale held Wednesday at 1516 North Twenty-fourth street, by the ladies of Trinity Methodist church.

Card Party. The woman's auxiliary of St. Margaret Marys church will entertain at a card party Friday evening at the parish house, 5002 California street.

Omaha Grl Wins Honors. Miss Jean G. Kennedy has been elected secretary and treasurer of the International Relations club at Mount Holyoke college. She is on the bibliography committee of the club as well.

The members this year will take up the study of the Pacific with special reference to Japan and the disarmament question. Material for study will be sent from the central office of the club in New York City, which is supported by Andrew Carnegie.

Drama League Corner. New books added to the Drama league corner at the public library include: "The Moon of the Caribbees," Eugene O'Neill.

"Touch and Go," Lawrence. "Clare de Lune," Michael Strang. "The Rose and the Ring," Thackeray. "Collected Plays," Benham Phillips. "The Contemporary Drama," France. "Modern American Plays," George F. Baker.

A card index box on the shelf tells where references on all the attractions to be brought to Omaha by the Drama league may be found in the library, and to the clippings and bibliography of the best modern plays of all countries.

W. C. T. U. Convention. Americanization and enforcement of law will be features of the annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in session this week at Columbus.

Among the speakers at the convention are Mrs. M. D. Vieno, president of Douglas county; Mesdames G. W. Covell, C. J. Roberts, H. N. Craig, E. G. Grover, James Dalzell, S. Bragg, H. G. Claggett, T. R. Ward, W. C. King and Dr. Jennie Callard.

It is probable that Mrs. Lelia Dyer of Boone will be re-elected state president.

Omaha Bride to Reside Abroad

Mrs. Vachy Korak, jr., who was Miss Julia Stenica before her marriage Sunday, left Tuesday with her husband for their future home in Prague, Czechoslovakia. They will tour Italy, France and Switzerland en route.

Personal. Mrs. L. B. Webster is ill at her home.

Miss Dorothy Hill returned Monday from a two weeks' stay in Norfolk, Neb.

Mrs. H. H. Baldrige and Mrs. Blanche Paterson returned Monday from Excelsior Springs.

Morton Wakely will return Wednesday morning from a short business trip to Chicago.

Mrs. Leon Conde of Kansas City is the guest of Miss Lydia Hamren this week. Mrs. Conde arrived Saturday.

Mrs. W. J. Foye is at St. Catherine's hospital, where she underwent an operation Monday for the removal of her tonsils.

Mrs. M. T. Barlow, who has been confined to her home for nearly two weeks with an attack of neuritis, is able to be about again.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Graham and daughter, Margaret, of Freeport, Ill., are visiting at the Will T. Graham home. They made the trip by automobile.

Mrs. William Dinkins arrived Sunday to spend a week in Omaha at the home of her father, Mr. H. P. Whitmore. She will return to Kansas City the first of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Harmon left for Long Beach, Cal., on Tuesday. They have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. E. G. Wilmoth, and Mr. Wilmoth.

Mr. E. B. Davis of Omaha will be one of the principal speakers at a banquet given at the semi-centennial celebration of the Palladians at the University of Nebraska next Saturday night.

Miss Janavence Kerens of New York, who has been a guest at the Walter Head home for a few days, left for her home Monday evening. Miss Vernelle Head spent last weekend in St. Joseph, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McFerrer and small daughter of Hoopston, Ill., arrived Monday, to be guests of Mrs. Charles Test Stewart of Council Bluffs. Mrs. McFerrer is to be a bridesmaid in the wedding of Miss Menie Davis, October 29.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Weston and Miss Mildred Weston left Tuesday morning on a motor trip to Sioux City, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Weston will return to Omaha Thursday, but Miss Weston will be away for 10 days.

E. O. Hamilton has been in Omaha for the last few days. The end of the week he expects to take a trip to Oklahoma and then do some hunting in the sandhills, after which he will be in Omaha again before he returns to California. Miss Ruth Hamilton is studying art this winter, and Allison Hamilton is in school in Los Angeles.

Mrs. F. P. Kirkendall expects to leave Friday, October 14, on a motor trip to Chicago. In her party will be Mrs. J. R. Scobie, Mrs. C. M. Wilhelm, Mrs. Arthur Remington and Mrs. Burdette Kirkendall. They will be gone about 10 days.

My Marriage Problems

Adelle Claffman's New Phase of "REVELATIONS OF A WIFE"

Who is the strange woman who stopped the car? Robert Savarin, with a quick movement, swung his car to one side just in time to escape grazing the woman seated in the middle of the road painting at an easel.

Two other cars coming from the opposite direction, and being compelled to stop at the obstacle, brought him to a stop also, and the woman at the easel looked up from under an immense sun hat. At sight of our car and its occupants she sprang to her feet, almost upsetting her easel as she did so.

With a devious eye which evidently born of long practice, she sighted the case with one hand as she passed it, came to the side of the car and jumped on the running board.

"Lillian Underwood, as I'm a hopeless sinner!" she exclaimed. "Just drive to one side of the road, kind gentleman, so we can talk. Charlie!" She threw a command over her shoulder to a young man who had stood admiringly near her easel. "Get the things out of the road for me, won't you, there's a dear. Now, Lillian, introduce me to your friends, if they can stand the gaze of my hand as you've kept yourself all the time. And where is Harry, or aren't we supposed to ask questions about him any more? You know I've been at the far end of the continent for ages, and only came back this spring to find you gone from the city, and the wildest rumors flying around about your whereabouts?"

A Curious Figure. She stopped to take breath, and I decided that I disliked her intensely upon first sight. In her youth she must have been a striking lissome brunette. Now, in her late forties she was scrawny and sallow where her make-up did not reach. Her hair, which in her youth had been "raveled the raven's wing," still held the hue of that famous bird, but it was a color which patently came out of a bottle. And her dress—an extremely short sport skirt topped by a smock, low-cut, short-sleeved, with rolled-down stockings and flamboyant sport shoes of large figured chintz—made her a bizarre figure even in that artist colony, where freakiness of costume and behavior forms a fantastic edging for the beautiful study of wood of which the colony life is composed.

That she was malicious, though harmlessly so, under her apparently friendly greeting, I was sure from a queer furtive little expression in her eyes as she looked at Lillian. All Lillian's world knew of Harry Underwood's curish treatment of her, and the way she had heaped coals of fire upon his head by saving him from prosecution, getting him out of the country and giving him a chance to redeem himself by foreign service in the world war.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

From Tilly. Tilly, I'm afraid you are silly, or else you think I am. I hope you are only joking, for it would be anything but funny if an 18-year-old girl married a man of 42 with two sets of twins and one of triplets, and you say he does not love you in the bargain. Mercy!

Should Man Be Thanked? Dear Beatrice Fairfax: Will you please tell us which is correct in regard to the following: My chum insists that a girl should not thank her escort after he has taken her to the theater and supper, as he has had the honor of her company; neither should she invite him upon their arrival home, or ask him to call again, as it is his place to make future dates and continue the acquaintance.

I think it is proper either to thank him or say she has had a pleasant evening; that she may invite him in but that he, if well bred, would decline if it is late, and that the man should come and see her, as he has the privilege of signifying whether or not she desires his company.

We are both puzzled as to what is good form in this instance. At whatever does the girl give her order of her escort, and he in turn give her order to the waiter, or may she give her order direct to the waiter?

BETH AND RUTH. My dear, I am glad there are some nice girls like yourself left. Your view is the right one. A man is something more than the dirt under your feet, and if he gives you a pleasant evening, why should you not thank him? Don't overdo your thanks, but rest assured you never err by being polite. To be sure, the man has had the pleasure of your company, but you also have had the pleasure of his. Too many girls get the idea that man was meant to be their slave and is not entitled to civil treatment. There are certain things a man should do for a woman, but at least he should be thanked.

I caught a glimpse of something sincere behind her theatricalism and her posing, something that spoke of a real need. And a flash of the desperation that need brings had shed over her brilliant eyes for a second Lillian saw it, also. I knew from the promptness with which she opened the tonneau door.

Get in, Eleanor, she said brusquely, "and tell me what's the matter." To my horror, the woman, after obeying, turned her head against the back of the seat and broke into a perfect storm of tears and sobs.

for his pains. Men and women were meant to be companions and equals, each having some superior points perhaps, but balanced on the whole. Women have worked through centuries to gain equal recognition with men. I hope they won't spoil their newly-gained freedom by treating men with disrespect. Give your supper order to your escort and let him deal with the waiter.

Heartbroken: Of course, I think a girl of your age ought to be in school, if your mother and brother are determined you shall work my opinion won't help you much. The only thing possible you could do would be to consult an attorney in your city, who might get the court to order you to school, using therefor some of the money your father left you.

A Reader: I am glad you are interested in learning the names of prize winners to The Bee questionnaire. The result will be announced just as soon as the judges have carefully gone over the replies. They are trying to give a perfectly fair decision and, of course, that takes time when there are more than a million answers to be read.

Best Treatment for All Complexion Ills. If the skin be colorless, sallow, muddy, over-red, if it be rough, blotchy, pimply or freckled, there's nothing that will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercurized soap. It literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and non-living particles of surface skin, so gently, gradually, you experience no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence, one so clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful, you look years younger. One ounce of this soap, procurable at any drug store, will rejuvenate even the worst complexion if it is used on like cold cream before retiring and removed mornings with warm water. The mercurized soap is in a healthier and more economical form than the cosmetic habit.

It is used in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered azoiline in a half-pint of water. This acts immediately, affecting even the deepest wrinkles.
