

First National At Fremont Was Founded in 1866

Defunct Financial Institution Originally Was Private Bank Operated By E. H. Rogers and Company.

Fremont, Neb., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The First National Bank of Fremont, which closed its doors to the public Monday morning, has a long and interesting history, being the development of the first bank founded in Fremont and Dodge county in 1866, 10 years after Fremont took its place on the map of Nebraska. The impetus gained by the little village at that time through the building of the Union Pacific railway through the Platte valley, gave rise to the birth of the initial institution, then known as the Pioneer bank, operated by E. H. Rogers & Co. In connection with their real estate offices E. H. and L. H. Rogers opened the private banking house which has since then developed into the First National Bank of Fremont. Very humble quarters in a one-story frame building housed the first banking institution in this city, with the front end of the structure occupied by a hardware concern. Later when the banking business looked good, the owners constructed a separate one-story square front building for the accommodation of the bank. It flourished rapidly in this building and for some years was the only bank in the town or county. In 1872 the bank was reorganized, becoming the First National bank. The first capital was $50,000 with Theron Nye as president. In 1914 the bank went into its new home on Main and Sixth street where a five-story steel and concrete building was constructed. It seems to have been an ill-fated building for since that time the Nye-Schneider-Fowler company, one of the largest grain corporations in the middle west, whose main headquarters are in the same building, flourished on the rocks in practically the same manner.

Motorist Robbed of Car By Man He Befriended

Holdrege, Neb., Nov. 1.—(Special Telegram.)—John Peterson of Minden, Neb., enroute from Holdrege to Minden, picked up a man in a soldiers' overcoat about one mile east of Funk; and half-mile farther on two men stepped out from the side of the road and held up the car with revolvers and the man in the car slugged Peterson over the head. Peterson was thrown into weeds from the car and was found unconscious about an hour later. Upon recovery he told his story over the phone to Sheriff Anderson of this place. The three men took the car and were seen going east at Axtell. Peterson will recover.

Two Children Are Burned To Death in Chicken House

Scottsbluff, Neb., Nov. 1.—(Special Telegram.)—While Mrs. H. H. Huffman tried in vain to save them, her son, Walter, 4, and Lawrence Day, 5, were burned to death here this afternoon in a chicken house adjoining the Huffman home. It is said that the children had matches, and were playing near a can of gasoline. Both bodies were burned beyond recognition before they could be gotten from the burning house. Mrs. Huffman was prostrated by the sight.

Ad Leaguers Learn Art Of Draping Live Model

Members of the Advertising-Selling league at the Fontenelle hotel last night gave their undivided attention with extraordinary intentness to a demonstration by E. J. Berg of the Burgess-Nash store of the draping of a young woman with various clothes until she appeared fully clad in a modish gown. Charles Kenworthy, 13, spoke in behalf of Father Flanagan's home for boys. E. D. White made a plea for the Aero congress.

Man Tells Policeman He Deserted From Camp Lewis

"I am an army deserter out of a job and hungry," said a man who approached Patrolman Frank Freeman, who was walking his beat. He gave his name as Sam Goldberg, 23, Newark, N. J., and stated that he deserted a year ago from Camp Lewis, Wash. He said he became disgusted with the army and departed "A. W. O. L.," but, without work and money, asserted he would be more satisfied at Camp Lewis.

International Agrees to Consider Strikers' Status

Houston, Tex., Nov. 1.—Officials of the International and Great Northern railroad late today agreed to answer, Tuesday, the proposals made by the brotherhood officials for a settlement of the trainmen's strike. The proposals embraced reinstatement of all strikers without injury to their seniority rights and consideration of the strike as having been part of the national program of the bro.

Typhoon Destroys Crops In Philippine Islands

Manila, P. I., Nov. 1.—Batanes island, the northernmost province of the Philippines, communication with which has been cut off since July 22 owing to a destructive typhoon, lost 80 per cent of its crops and hundreds of head of live-stock in the storm, according to advice brought by a vessel which arrived yesterday from the island. There was no loss of life.

Shoots Wife and Child.

Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. 1.—Grieving over the prospect of his life having to seek employment to aid in making ends meet, Martin H. L. Smith, graduate of Lehigh and an instructor in mechanical drawing in the West New York schools shot and killed his 3-year-old daughter as she lay asleep in her crib, and after shooting his wife in the head, killed himself. The tragedy occurred in the Smith's little home in Springfield.

Field in Good Condition For Air Meet, Say Pilots

Markings for Race Course Completed—Practically All Planes Participating in Air Events at Kansas City Will Fly to Omaha To Attend Congress.

Airplane pilots tested out planes yesterday on the new landing field in excellent condition for the International Aero congress which opens in Omaha Thursday. C. B. Coombs, who will pilot the "Cactus Kitten," hopped off the field shortly before noon yesterday in the Curtis Oriole which is to be given to some civic organization during the meet. "Just a little more sun and that field will be the finest I've ever landed on," declared Coombs. "It has the get-away, width and smoothness that makes a field excellent." Bert Acosta, who will fly the Curtis navy plane in the Pulitzer trophy race, declared the new field in fine shape for the congress. N. W. Porter and N. C. Torstenson of Fort Dodge, Ia., landed at the new field at dusk Monday to enter this Curtis Oriole in several of the races. The matter is now before Maj. Ira Rader, chief starter for the races. With the announcement Monday that 44 planes had been entered in the various races and word that 24 speed planes would fly from Kansas City to Omaha on Thursday, all is in readiness for the big meet. Markings on the course have been completed. All races will start from the field, Major Rader announced. The planes will make straight-away courses for 11 miles to Calhoun, where the marker is a high windmill around whose base is painted a white circle, 50 feet in diameter. From Calhoun the course lies to the northeast for seven miles. The second marker is a white circle on a tall bluff to the east of Loveland, Ia. The last stretch is from Loveland to the field, 12 miles. The Pulitzer race covers a distance of 150 miles, or five times around the course. In the organization of a national body of air men during the congress Benedict Crowell, former assistant secretary of war and head of the Aero Club of America, is being touted for president. He will preside at meetings of air men during the meet. The "Texas Wildcat" will not fly in the Pulitzer trophy race, it was announced definitely yesterday. Protest has been made as to its danger in hopping off and landing and the technical committee ruled it out. The ship has not been fully set up, several parts having not arrived yet. It will be on exhibition during the congress. Practically every plane participating in the air events at Kansas City at the Legion convention will fly to Omaha to attend the congress, according to Everett Buckingham, who returned to Omaha from Kansas City yesterday. "There'll be about 50 planes here from Kansas City," Mr. Buckingham said. "They will begin to arrive today." After visiting the Omaha field yesterday Mr. Buckingham said it was far superior to the field at Kansas City.

Two-Minute Sermons Written Especially for The Bee by Gipsy Smith

No one should ever be able to say of any woman, "She made it easy for a man to do wrong." God never made a woman thus, to pull men down, but to be companion, wife, mother, friend and inspiration. I suppose you would call Herodias and her daughter, Salome, "vamps," today. She danced Herod into the pit of perdition, and danced the head of John the Baptist off. Her whole life was given over to evil, self-indulgence and voluptuous pleasure. It ended in the ruin of the king and the disgrace of his court, the degradation of her own child and a place in the Bible history as the cruel murderer of the forerunner and cousin of Christ. Another example of a vampire woman is Drusilla, the mate of Felix, who left her first husband to live with the governor. When the Apostle Paul stood before the pair, he spoke pointedly of morality and future punishment. The governor trembled, but Drusilla was unabashed. Just as it is possible for women to soar to heights unreachd by men, so is it possible for women to fall farther than any man, once they do start downward. It is within the power of women to make the world anew. They can inspire the noblest instincts of men, and ought to do nothing through their general deportment and manner of dress that would lower the respect in which they are held. The erring woman of the Bible who is best known is Mary Magdalene. She saw the folly and error of her ways and in penitence of tears sought the feet of Jesus. Looking into her heart, and knowing she was penitent, Jesus said: "Thy sins are forgiven." Oh, the love which forgets the sin and remembers the sinner, in mercy and compassion. That is the Christianity I am preaching today.

Christian Lives Urged by Smith World Is Dying for Want of Christ, Evangelist Declares.

Business men and women were urged to live more Christian lives and to think less of worldly and more of spiritual things by Gipsy Smith, evangelist in his noonday address at the Brandeis yesterday. "If Jesus came quietly into your office today, shut the door and sat down to talk with you, what would you do and what would you tell Him?" the evangelist asked. "If he showed you all the ugly things you had tolerated what would you do? Would you do as Peter did and say, 'We believe Thou art the Christ?'" "Would you have written that letter or transacted that business? Cast out earthly things that are ugly. Let Jesus come into your life. He is a saving influence in society, home or the business world. He is necessary to all. The world is dying for the want of Christ." The Rev. Arthur Atack preceded the evangelist and delivered a splendid sermon. He pleaded for an appreciation of the value of Christ. Satin and velvet were unknown in antiquity.

Guilty Plea Changed Hastily After $500 Fine Was Announced

John Auld pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Woodrough yesterday to charges of illegal possession of liquor and illegal sale of liquor. He was fined $10 for each and paid the fines.

His partner, Jack Murphy, pleaded guilty to the same charges. It looked easy. "I fine you $10 for illegal possession of liquor," said the judge. Murphy smiled. "And $500 for illegal sale of liquor," finished the judge. Murphy gasped. "I withdraw my plea on that last charge," he exclaimed. "I'm not guilty."

The judge allowed him to change his plea and fixed his bond at $1,000. The two were arrested at Grand Island a week ago. They paid fines of $100 each in county court there and were rearrested immediately by federal officers and later brought to Omaha.

Star Witness Gone; Trial Is Postponed

Disappearance of J. H. Snodgrass, star witness for the state, caused the postponement yesterday of the trial of Leo Ray Brunson, accused of the murder of Mrs. Margaret Foley Hyland the night of June 4. Deputy County Attorney John W. Yeager, who has the case in charge, was unable to say yesterday when the case will be called for trial. Snodgrass was bound over to district court on a forgery charge and released on $1,000 bond. This bond he forfeited when his case was called for trial Monday, October 28. Brunson is held in the Douglas county jail waiting for his trial to be called.
