

Attorney Admits Missing Teacher Conniston's Wife

La Maude Yule, as She Was Known to School Authorities, Kept Fact of Marriage Secret.

Some of the mystery regarding the disappearance of La Maude Yule, the South High school teacher, was unraveled Saturday when an attorney, who said he was her counsel, admitted that Miss Yule and Mrs. Buckley Conniston were one and the same woman.

"It is safe to say Miss Yule was Conniston's wife," said this attorney. The lawyer admitted that the missing teacher had only a few days ago retained him as her counsel. He refused, however, to confirm a report that he had been retained to prepare a divorce petition for her. He said he knew nothing, though, of her disappearance from Omaha.

Identifies Photograph.

Paul Stanton, manager of the Morris apartments, yesterday identified a photograph of Miss Yule as the Mrs. Buckley Conniston who, with her husband, had rented an apartment in the Morris.

Records of the board of education, however, show nothing to indicate Miss Yule was married. The teacher entered the service of the board of education a year ago. In her application she gave her name as La Maude Yule. She said she had been married and separated, but at no time did she reveal her marriage to Conniston.

Credentials Were Good.

The teacher's credentials from Wisconsin where she taught before coming to Omaha gave the name of La Maude Yule, but in a later record the name of "Hasi" was bracketed, thus leading school officials to imagine that had been the name of the husband from whom she had separated.

The missing teacher boarded a train Friday for Denver. Before departing she told Matron Sherman of the police department she had been beaten and robbed. Friday night Buckley Conniston, a salesman for the Jones-Opper company, called police and said his sister, La Maude Yule, had disappeared. Then Saturday morning Conniston himself vanished.

Jap Crown Prince Dinner Guest of College Alumni

Incident Marks First Time in History That Member of Imperial Family Has Visited Club.

By CHARLES DAILEY. Chicago Tribune Cable, copyright, 1921. Tokio, Nov. 6.—An incident illustrating the fast onset of democracy in Japan was the presence of Crown Prince Hirohito at the Tokyo club tonight as the guest at a reception dinner of Cambridge alumni. Never before has a member of the imperial family ever visited a club or anything like a semi-public place. Although it has not been announced, it is stated authoritatively that the heir to the throne will open parliament next month. The present emperor never did, though occasionally one of the princes acted, but chiefly the premier read the speech from the throne.

In many ways efforts are being made for Japan to follow the form of the leading powers, since it is now one of them. This is encouraging the leaders to hope that one of the outcomes of the Washington conference will be that the army will be subordinate to the premier instead of reporting directly to the emperor. It is also hoped that civilians will be permitted to head the naval and war ministries instead of line officers. This will help to rob the general staff of its independent political powers which is one of the drawbacks to a successful outcome of the Washington conference.

Ulster Premier Holds Conference With Lloyd George

Sir James Craig Hears British Plan for Settlement of Irish Peace Tangle.

Chicago Tribune Cable, copyright, 1921. London, Nov. 6.—Sir James Craig, the premier of Ulster, arrived in London from Belfast, and immediately after going to his hotel for breakfast, drove to 10 Downing street for a conference with Prime Minister Lloyd George, who had postponed his departure for his country home to meet him.

After leaving Downing street, Sir James said: "In accordance with an invitation which I received today I have seen Mr. Lloyd George and the chancellor of the exchequer. I have arranged that when Ulster's interests are reached in the conference, all of our representatives will be asked to attend. In the meantime, nothing will be settled behind our backs."

It is understood that Mr. Lloyd George explained to the Ulster leader the plan for the Irish settlement which has been approved by the cabinet and tentatively agreed to by the Sinn Fein. That is, Ireland is to become a commonwealth of the British empire with Ulster as a subordinate state enjoying wide autonomy. Sir James listened and said that he would have to consult with his colleagues on the matter and it is likely that he will return to Belfast immediately for this purpose.

Before going he will see Lord Carson, his predecessor in the Ulster leadership, who is now reported to be acting as a mediator and trying to induce Ulster to accept a reasonable settlement. Lord Carson has had several conferences with Mr. Lloyd George lately and it is stated that he came away from the last one with some sort of an answer as to Ulster's attitude by that time.

Cigaret Law Blocks Plans at Hawthorne

Lincoln, Nov. 6.—(Special)—Superintendent Gus Miller of Hawthorne, Nebraska's new reformatory, has bumped against a Nebraska statute in his endeavor to soothe the minds and hearts of his charges by permitting them to smoke cigarettes in their quarters.

Investigation made by the state board of control shows there is a statute on the books making it unlawful to supply minors with cigarettes or cigar materials. A majority of the inmates of Hawthorne are under age.

So far the board of control has taken no action on the cigarette question. They expressed the belief today that the heads of the institutions should continue to handle this proposition in the way they saw best.

Rum Dealers Make War on U.S. Agents, Haynes Declares

"Dry" Officers Take Lives in Hands in Raiding Bootleggers' Dens, Prohibition Commissioner Says.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, Nov. 6.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes charged that bootleggers of the country, having failed to smash the efficiency of "dry" law enforcement through bribery, are now inaugurating campaigns of intimidation and violence which in many instances result in the killing or serious maiming of federal prohibition agents.

"The bootleggers and moonshiners," said Commissioner Haynes, "do not hesitate to shoot 'dry' agents down like dogs. They repeat the old traps for them. Still, or bootlegging stores are protected with high-voltage electrical devices. Agents in many sections are taking their lives in their hands when venturing into bootlegging dens or moonshine territory.

"In the liquor traffic there are unscrupulous men with unlimited means who are constantly trying to outwit the law. In New York recently two of our agents turned down an offer of $50,000 each, with promise of double those sums, merely to O. K. permits authorizing withdrawal of whiskey from bonded warehouses."

Home Again—With the Same Old Backache!

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

DOES every day bring the same old, nagging backache? Do you rise in the morning lame and stiff? Drag through the day with your back a dull unceasing ache? Evening finds you "all played-out," thinking only of a little rest before tomorrow's weary grind? Then don't be discouraged. Realize it's merely a sign you haven't taken good care of yourself—been overworking and haven't had enough fresh air, exercise, rest and sleep. This has probably strained your kidneys. So instead of worrying, just take things easier for awhile and help the weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Then if it's kidney backache, you'll soon get over it and the headaches, dizziness, tired feelings and bladder troubles will go, too. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Omaha Folks Found Relief:

W. L. APPELY, 2501 Sherman Ave., says: "My kidneys were in such a condition I could hardly control their action. The secretions were highly colored and contained a brick-dust-like sediment. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and a couple of boxes made my back and kidneys strong and healthy again. I have not been bothered to speak of since. However, with the least sign of any trouble with my back or kidneys, a few Doan's have always fixed me up again in a night."

MRS. CHAS. APPLETON, 2818 South 17th St., says: "I was quite poorly owing to backache and kidney disorder. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and quick relief followed. They acted as a tonic to my kidneys, giving them strength and correcting all the trouble. The successful trial of this medicine by another member of the family gives us further proof of its merits, for the help we have derived from Doan's Kidney Pills has been of a permanent nature."

ERHARD CORNEER, proprietor, dairy, 2510 Valley St., says: "I had kidney trouble and I knew no more jumping on and off my wagon was the cause of it. There was a constant ache across the small of my back and kidneys and a soreness through my hips. My kidneys acted frequently and the secretions were highly colored. A friend told me of Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had used two boxes, my back and kidneys were strong. That is the cure that Doan's Kidney Pills gave me."
