

Shooting Mars Jazz Gayety at Orient Gardens

Cabaret, Scene of Slaying,
Owned by Jack Broomfield,
According to Police Report.

Amid the bright lights, jazz music, eating and drinking in the "Orient Gardens in Summer Land," at 123 North Tenth street, at 10 Sunday night, Ben Williams, negro, shot and killed Bud Turner, also a negro.

They were Beau Brummels, Williams and Turner. Diamonds flashed from their fingers and neckties. Their garments were always several jumps ahead of the latest fashions. They knew easy ways to get money. Bud has been convicted of selling dope and booze. Ben was arrested two weeks ago by government agents for selling dope.

During a drunken carousel six months ago Bud shot Ben. A few months ago Bud's wife shot Ben. Ben has been traveling about on crutches.

Array of Talent.
The Orient Gardens in Summer Land is a place where gayety prevails. It is presided over by Bob Wisdom, but police say it is owned by Jack Broomfield.

Large red placards announce the gigantic array of talent gathered together for "the amusement-loving public."

The "polite entertainment" includes "Peerless Rosa Skotte, the South Sea Island princess," singing the latest popular blues; dainty little Ollie Jenkins, "the big town sou-lrette;" the Albanian comedy four; "Sedate Alberta Coles, the brown skin song thrush."

And let not the public overlook "The Mighty Zanzibar Jazz band, in conference with the five Harmony Kings from Broadway, expounding everything in jazz."

Gone for a Long Time.
Nor is this all. Here is "The High Brown Beauty Chorus," consisting of six young women.

Add to this, five gentlemen who are named as "entertainers." Pile on top of that "The Old Kentucky Barbecue Kings, John Poston and Charles Taylor, Barbecued Meats and Fowls, the men who put the 'C' in coffee."

The "staff for Bob Wisdom" includes a couple of managers, a custodian, a treasurer and an agent.

But the two sartorial kings of the Orient Gardens in Summer Land will be gone from it a long, long time.

Ben surrendered to the police yesterday. He is charged with murder.

Lincoln Theater Man Meets Assailant Who Escaped With $1,500

Lincoln, Nov. 7.—(Special).—Lee Carroll, cashier of the Liberty theater here, who was slugged and robbed of the day's receipts Saturday night by A. M. Trimble, his best friend, and who Trimble says planned the robbery, faced Trimble for half an hour in the office of State Sheriff Gus Hyers.

Officers hovered on the outside expecting that something might happen to strengthen their case against Carroll. They declined to say whether they obtained additional evidence.

Carroll didn't even wear a bandage on his head today. A report that he was in a serious condition was denied by physicians.

Carroll continues to deny that he was implicated in the robbery and refuses to discuss the case with police.

"The case in the hands of my attorney," he said.

Carroll's condition was so improved this afternoon that he was taken to police headquarters, where he will be held pending his trial. He was under guard in a hospital last night.

New Bank Considered By Fremont Financiers

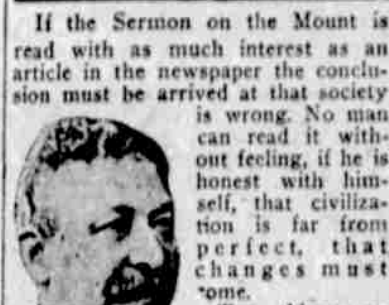

Fremont, Neb., Nov. 7.—(Special).—Plans for a reorganization of the First National bank are under consideration, and it is expected that the coming week will bring out final decisions in the matter. Several bankers of the city are seriously considering the organization of a perplexing situation. The fact that the four other banks of the city and two Omaha banks have made public their decisions to stand together and help each other has removed the few traces of alarm that appeared early in the week. The assurance that the depositors' interests are to receive the attention of all six banks has helped greatly to better the morale of the community.

Custer County Fair Body
Is in Debt Less Than $500
Broken Bow, Neb., Nov. 7.—(Special).—The auditing committee of the Custer County Agricultural society made its annual report and shows that the society's indebtedness is less than $500. The permanent improvements placed on the grounds this year amounted to $1,400.

Two-Minute Sermons Written Especially for The Bee by Gipsy Smith

If the Sermon on the Mount is read with as much interest as an article in the newspaper the conclusion must be arrived at that society is wrong. No man can read it without feeling, if he is honest with himself, that civilization is far from perfect, that changes must come.

Two things are needed, the conscience to recognize the truth, to crystallize it devoid of impurity, and the determination to put truth into action.

Men and women are not dying today for want of light. The average man has light enough to distinguish between right and wrong. Knowledge is abundant enough, but conscience is scarce. No, we are not dying for want of light, but for lack of honesty. "This is the condemnation, that light has come into the world, and men love darkness rather than light," and this is the reason, as found in John, "because their deeds are evil."

And Jesus said: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." When men get adjusted to God, they soon get adjusted to their neighbors. Suppose, instead of a few working crystals, every man should be full of the Godly light and love for his fellows. That would be like heaven.

When Jesus taught us to pray, "Our Father" instead of "My Father," he was thinking of a united humanity. This world can not be run by men. They can't run it by themselves along the line laid down in the Sermon on the Mount. The job is too gigantic. Only the fool says: "There is no God," or "I can do without him."

Let God come back to His own, and there'll be fellowship and friendship, the brotherhood of the world.

Gipsy Smith Revival Closes Next Sunday

The Gipsy Smith revival campaign closes in Omaha Sunday night. This does not mean that the evangelist will be out of work. Two weeks after closing his Omaha services he will open a revival campaign at Norfolk, Va., which continues from November 27 to December 18.

Then comes vacation through the holidays, after which the party goes to New Orleans for another series of meetings. According to word from New Orleans, great preparations are being made for the coming of the evangelist and a special tabernacle has been built to house 20,000 persons through the revival.

Following the New Orleans meetings the party goes to Nashville, Tenn., and then to Syracuse, N. Y., for similar meetings.

Be Loyal to God, Urges Evangelist Only One Royal Road to Greatness, Says Gipsy Smith.

"Life is a quest for greatness," Rev. A. F. Ernst, pastor of the Lowe Avenue Methodist church, declared in his 10-minute sermon to business men and women of the city at the Brandeis theater yesterday noon.

"When we become acquainted with most great men we soon learn their failings and shortcomings. Few men have the qualities that make them great in the eyes of all. John the Baptist had those qualities and Christ said of him that no man lived who was greater."

"John had the courage of his convictions. When he was in prison and awaiting execution he still remained true to what he believed right."

Following the speaker, Gipsy Smith, the evangelist, said: "There is only one royal road to greatness and that is by doing as John did, putting Jesus Christ where He belongs in your heart and life. John was loyal and true and he lived what he preached. You can attain this greatness by being loyal to the things that belong to the Kingdom of God."

Over $22,600,000 Credit Extended To Live Stock Men

Money of War Finance Corporation Handled Through
82 Institutions in 19 States
Since August 24.

Washington, Nov. 7.—More than $22,600,000 in credit has been extended farmers and stockmen during the two and one-half months since congress authorized the war finance corporation to make advances for agricultural and live stock purposes, according to figures announced last night.

Reports of the corporation's activities since August 24, showed a total credit in excess of $22,663,000, estimated with about 82 financial institutions in 19 states for making loans to farmers and stock raisers.

States in which corporation advances for these purposes have been made include: Montana, South Dakota, Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, Iowa, Nebraska and Wyoming.

The 82 advances range from a few thousand dollars up to one of $15,000,000 to a co-operative association in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, to assist in marketing grain.

Funds for the advances, officials said, are obtained from the corporation's balance with the treasury which, at the time these operations were begun, totalled about $430,000,000.

Applications for agricultural and live stock loans are coming in steadily, it was stated. In addition to its domestic financing, officials said, the corporation is continuing to finance American products for export to foreign markets.

YOU CAN'T TURN THIS FELLOW DOWN

An average of ten homeless waifs a day, like this lad, are turned away from Father Flanagan's Boys' Home each day because there is no room for them out there.

A Drive for $300,000 to Erect a Permanent Building for These Boys at Overlook Farm, Will Be Launched Nov. 14 to Last One Week

NO MORE ROOM

This Farm is now equipped with temporary wooden structures, having a maximum capacity of 125 boys. These buildings are now full. The new building will house and provide educational facilities for 500 boys.

PERMANENT BUILDING

The money raised in this drive will be used exclusively for building purposes. It is not for maintenance. Revenue from Overlook farm, from the boys' entertainments and from other sources supports the institution.

FOUR-YEAR RECORD

ALL CREEDS	ALL NATIONS
In the four years the Home has been operating, 840 non-Catholic boys and 45 Jewish boys have been housed, clothed, fed, educated and put in non-Catholic and Jewish homes, or provided with jobs. 330 Catholic boys have been cared for in a similar manner. FIRST APPEAL

This is the first time a public appeal ever has been made in Omaha for Father Flanagan's Boys' Home. This institution spends $50,000 annually in Omaha, and during the four years of its existence, only $5,000 has been obtained here. Omaha has supplied 83 per cent of the 1,215 boys that have been cared for in the Home.
