Bureau of The Bee.
Washington, Nov. 12.

History is making so fast in Washington this year that novelists have turned themselves into daily news writers, the regular corps of newspaper reporters and correspondents has been almost tripled and the situation has even produced a new daily newspaper in the nation's capital. The interesting little coterie of debutantes who have planned for this, their first season "out" in the world, have been almost swamped into obscurity by the more important, more vital affairs which occupy the attention of their world just now. Nevertheless their dates are being set and their plans go merrily on while they pick up all the crumbs of gaiety and fun which fall towards them.

Distinguished Guests at Movies.
But of all the busy places at dinner and tea times, the embassies and legations and the home of members of the staffs are the busiest and the gayest. Each day there have been luncheons, teas and dinners, with calls and concerts sandwiched in between. The distinguished visitors, the greatest leaders among the fighting men of the world, and a premier or two, have been greatly interested in our theaters and concerts, mainly the orchestral concerts. There have been many a little party of them, including Premier Briand, stroll out from their hotel and down the street a little way, to one of the most attractive of the "movie theaters" in which they were especially interested and with which they were greatly pleased. The ladies of the parties are particularly impressed with the "bigness" of everything, which evidently they did not expect.

Few of the members of the visiting delegations fail to speak English. M. Viviani who spoke no English on his visit here last spring, and the one preceding that, is beginning to venture a few words now and then, but is reluctant to attempt even that for he is but learning our language. Strauss, the first of Germany's musicians and conductors to tour this country since 1914, and who is now drawing audiences in the United States, refuses to acknowledge that we have a language, but always refers to it as "Shakespeare's language." He is booked for a concert in Washington next month, but so far nothing is known as to his drawing power here. He has a large orchestra.

The first of the Philadelphia orchestra's concerts here this year, given on Tuesday afternoon at the "standing room only" audience, Mrs. Harding had a very interesting box party composed of Mrs. Taft, wife of the chief justice and former president; Mme. Mathieu, formerly of Cincinnati, wife of the Italian ambassador; Mrs. Longworth a niece of Roosevelt, wife of Representative Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati; Mrs. Richard Townsend and Miss Laura Harlan.

Two Beautiful Brides.
Two weddings of much importance were features of the early part of the week. Both brides were laced and with wonderful veils and accessories. The first one was Miss Monica Beckett, who was married to Capt. David St. Pierre Galliard at noon on Monday in old St. Johns church.

The other bride was Miss Margaret Aspinwall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Aspinwall, who was married Tuesday evening to Lieut. Carlisle Vischer Allan, U. S. A., son of Mrs. Donald Allan of Omaha. The ceremony was performed in the Church of the Covenant by Rev. Charles Wood, and was followed by a large reception in the Washington club. This bride wore the duchesse point lace gown which five generations of her mother's family have worn. This was topped with a veil of the same lace, which her mother wore at her own wedding, and she carried a shower of sweethearts roses and lilies of the valley. She is, like Monday's bride, very young and was extremely handsome.

Mrs. Donald Allan and her daughter, Miss Katharine Allan, of Omaha, were here for the wedding and came in time to partake of a large part of the entertaining done for the bride party preceding the ceremony. The bride's only attendant, Miss Virginia Sanders, of South Bend, Ind., wore a gown of periwinkle blue satin and chiffon with an overdress of silver lace with cascades of blue ribbons at the sides. She had a long graceful train of the periwinkle satin hung from the shoulders. Her bouquet was of tea roses, pink snap dragons, tiny lavender chrysanthemums and blue delphinium, carrying out the color scheme of her costume. Lieut. Paul Donnelly, U. S. A., was the best man and the ushers were Lieut. Robert Gard, Lieut. Harding Christian and Lieut. Hamilton Young of the army, and Scoville Aspinwall, brother of the bride. The bride and bridegroom stood in a bower of palms, ferns and pink chrysanthemums to receive the guests at the reception. The mothers of the bride and bridegroom greeted the guests first, assisted by the grandmother and aunt of the bride, Mrs. Scoville and Miss Scoville.

After the supper Lieutenant Allan and his bride left for their wedding trip, after which they will be at home at Camp Benning, Ga., where the former is aid-de-camp to the commanding officer. For traveling the bride wore an imported blue Scotch tweed suit with small black hat with ostrich feathers.

Mrs. Allan, mother of the bridegroom, wore at the wedding a costume of blue georgette crepe heavily beaded with blue beads, and Miss Allan was charming in a quaint frock of peach colored taffeta made with tight fitting bodice and a bouffant skirt, the side panels hooped slightly and falling below the hem of the dress, making a bottom line of scallops. With this she wore gold slippers and hose and a gold ornament in her hair. Mrs. Allan and her daughter spent the remainder of the week in Washington.

Mrs. Lucille Bacon Penfield and her tiny daughter, Virginia, have returned to Washington after a year's absence.

Mrs. Clarence R. Day nee Smith of Omaha entertained a company of ladies at luncheon early in the week, having a number of army women and members of smart resident society circles.

What's What

By HELEN DECIE.

Some breaches of etiquette are easily recognized. One of these obvious rudenesses, of which all properly reared children are conscious before leaving the nursery, is "whispering in company." The "company" may be one other person or a large group; the fault is the same in either case.

Not only is actual whispering taboo, but so inconsistent with social amenities are all symptoms of hidden conspiracy, that no two or more must seem to have a secret from the others. Secrets they have no doubt; we are not obliged to reveal our innermost thoughts and hopes to all and sundry, nor are they in turn, under any obligation to unobscure their private affairs to us. What is to be avoided in the interests of social courtesy is the appearance of a cabal, a small group holding in common a secret which may be only a trivial matter, but which, by word now and then, and an exchange of glances they magnify into something of import.

The natural inference from their conduct is that no one else present is sufficiently intelligent or friendly to be admitted into the secret. (Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co.)

Broken Knitting Needle.
Do not throw away your amber knitting needle should it break near hot water for a few minutes, then shape to a point and smooth with a fine grade of sandpaper. After knitting a few rows the needle will regain its luster.

November Skies.
Than these November skies I'm no sky lover. The clouds are deep; Into their grey the subtle spies Of color creep, Changing that high austerity to delight, Till e'en the leaden interfolds are bright.

And when of colors none, Nor rose, nor amber, nor the scarce Is truly seen— In all the myriad grey, In silver height and dusky deep, remain, The loveliest, Faint purple flushes of the unvanquished sun.—John Freeman.

Get Acquainted Club.
Get Acquainted club meets tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the First Unitarian church, Turner boulevard and Harney street. Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Olds will be host and hostess.

Following the social hour Dr. Charles H. Lytle will give a talk on "Dollars and Dreadnaughts," illustrated with stereoscopic slides. Violin solos will be given by Mrs. Mabel H. Reed, accompanied by Miss Mabel Henrickson. Strangers and lonesome folk are welcome.

The club will give a benefit party in the common room of the church Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The proceeds to go to the Near East Relief.

Mrs. Merrill Lectures.
Mrs. Anthony French Merrill will give the second of her Monday morning lectures at the Blackstone November 14, when her subject will be "Poetry and Pageantry." Following

Club Women Will Present Play

A one-act play, "Pierrot's Awakening" will be presented Friday, November 18, at Burgess-Nash auditorium by the public speaking department of the Omaha Woman's club. Mrs. O. Y. Kring, leader. It will be a matinee performance at 2:30 and all members of the Omaha Woman's club are invited to attend. There is no admission fee.

The part of Pierrot will be played by Mrs. Klea Lewis, a graduate of the Farnam School of Expression in Chicago, who has been in amateur theatricals both here and in Chicago. Mrs. Benjamin Boasburg will play Pierrette. She is a graduate of the Wisconsin conservatory and will be remembered by Omahans for her work with Oscar Craik's players. The Maker of Dreams is Mrs. H. N. Kamen, who studied in London and has had experience in amateur dramatics.

Following the play, Mrs. L. E. Poe will give a group of company and Mrs. George Shields will read. Musical numbers with a trio of piano, violin and flute will be given by Miss Edith May Miller, Mrs. J. C. White and Mrs. A. F. Anderson.

Orange Blossoms.

The custom of using orange blossoms as bridal ornaments is supposed to have been brought to Europe by the crusaders from the east. The Saracen brides being accustomed to wear orange wreaths at their marriage. A second theory is that orange blossoms came to be worn by brides on their marriage because they were not only scented, but also were rare and costly and so within reach of only the noble and rich, that indicating the bride to be of high rank. A third idea is that orange bridal wreaths had their origin in Spain, where oranges have been cultivated for centuries. Thence the fashion passed to France and spread to other lands.

Real Raisin Pie
Men are quickly refreshed at night by a dessert like this

3 cups Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins
3 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon corn starch
1 teaspoon sugar

Wash the raisins, put in saucepan with 1 cup cold water and bring slowly to a boil. Add sugar, salt and corn starch, which has been mixed with 1 cup cold water. Boil 3 minutes; add lemon juice. Pour in pie tin which has been lined with crust, while hot cover; brush top with cold milk and bake in moderate oven until brown.

All measurements for this recipe are level.

SUN-MAID RAISINS

Use Sun-Maid Raisins, made from California's finest table grapes—American raisins, processed and packed immaculately in a great modern California plant. Seeded (seeds removed); Seedless (grown without seeds); Clusters (on the stem). Also a fine, creamy dessert.

Raisins are cheaper by 30 per cent than formerly—see that you get plenty in your foods.
