

Let's Go Shopping with Polly

What have we done with each God-like day?
We've forged a link for a chain of it.
The Master gave us the song of a bird;
We scarcely hear the refrain of it.
What have we done with our golden lyre?
See! there's hardly a string of it.
The hope of men we've trailed in the mire
And made a pitiful thing of it.

Give! Oh, give us the youthful hours!
The charm of the rose and the smell of it;
Give! Oh, give us our ivory towers!
The joy of life and the swell of it.
Set us back on the path of dreams;
The street of romance and the feel of it
Before the overlords took the earth
And bound us all to the wheel of it.

Pongee Favored Fabric for the Christmas Kerchief.

THE Mode Pleating Company, fourth floor, Paxton block, Sixteenth and Farnam, has lovely Christmas kerchiefs in pongee with drawn threads. If you'd prefer different colors than the ones shown your order may be left for both men's and women's handkerchiefs. The cost, very reasonable.

Afternoon and evening dresses show long sleeves, while evening gowns show high backs and no sleeves.

The new coiffures, as exhibited at the hairdressers' convention, shows an absence of the bob, and an increasingly tendency to exhibit the lower half of the ear. The whole ear has not yet emerged. Wire "rats" have come back, as have transformations and other ways of employing false hair. Here are the new styles, named in each case for the inventor. Glock—Fan coiffure. Hair bulges out back of ears, in a gradual swell from the face. Ornamental comb at back. Williams—Accomplished with transformation which is all front hair. Little ringlets plastered close to head in back. General outline follows contour of head. Milan—Coiffure de jour. Hair marceled and parted on side, and built high with twist on back top. Distinctive Glove Styles

Milady's New Coiffure Calls For Switches of Finest Quality.

THERE must be a quantity of hair for the achievement of the new hairdress, soft masses to be coiled and folded at the will of the hairdresser. The F. M. Schadell & Company's hair department, 1522 Douglas offers:

A three-stem switch of excellent quality hair, $6.
A large and longer switch, $10 and $12.
They're showing something new in woven pompadours for $15, which have the same effect as the $25 style formerly shown. Exquisitely waved, finely fashioned, I'm of the opinion that they're even better!

For the Gay Festivities of the Thanksgiving Holiday

ONE must give a thought to correct footwear. The Thos. Kilpatrick Co.'s shoe department is showing silver strap pumps with widely graceful cut-out shaping at the sides, $12. A high-throated silver pump offers a charming background for the scintillant rhinestone and silver ornament so popular among Dame Fashion's followers, this at $15. Lustrous black satin has been chosen for the fashioning of the one-strap pump to be worn at any smart affair—to be chosen for its diversity of wear, $12. One satin model shown had the strap button covered by a delicate flagree leaf, lovely, indeed.

Many of the new coats are cut along straight lines and would appear slender but for the huge square sleeves which give a fullness to the center of the coat and make it seem narrower at the bottom.

Gifts in Keeping With the Christmas Spirit.

MATTHEWS Book store, 1620 Harney, offers gifts in keeping with the Christmas spirit. Christmas cards and inexpensive useful gifts will appeal to thoughtful givers and they are now shown in perfect selection. For children are suggested the educational games which will be found in the downstairs salesroom. Books, to be sure, of all kinds, the ideal gifts.

Animal cookie cutters at 10c each are jolly additions to the Christmas kitchen.

Furs Which Are Not a Luxury.

THE Goldstein Fur Shop, over Fry's Shoe Store, Sixteenth and Douglas, are showing furs which cannot be called a luxury because they're too reasonably priced to be classed among luxuries. The explanation, their direct make to wear service and upstairs location.

Many of the new evening gowns come within an inch from the floor.

Thanksgiving Silver Service.

DELICATELY shaped are the new silver services which they're showing at the John Henrickson Jewel Shop, Sixteenth and Capitol. Unusually complete is the offering in the Lufbery design in quality plated silver, which may be had in both flat service pieces and exquisite hollowware pieces. The "Ambassador" design is the rarely lovely new design in 1847 Rogers plate. The sterling designs probably most popular this year are the conservatively beautiful Pantheon and the King Albert of rare daintiness. Write for booklets showing illustrations of service pieces in desired designs together with the price quotations, if unable to call at this gift shop.

A new undergarment is the brassiere top chemise for evening wear.

Enlarged and Tinted Kodak Pictures a Delightful Gift.

WHAT a pleasing gift will be one of the enlarged and tinted kodak pictures which they are now preparing for Christmas at the Kase Studio, second floor Neville block, Sixteenth and Harney. A dainty frame selected at this shop makes the gift complete at such a small total cost that it is, indeed, a surprise.

Evening wraps fashioned of velvet and trimmed in wide soft furs are smart.

Cunningly Constructed Coutures in Narrow Black Framings the "Rage" in Fifth Avenue Shops.

THE new silhouette pictures have proved a "rage" and "riot" in Fifth Avenue picture and gift shops. The art department of the A. Hospy Company, 1513 Douglas, is offering a large line of these popular new pictures.

Some of the new blouses worn with jacket suits are slip-on affairs, often being longer than the peplum of the jacket and showing below it, giving quite a new effect.

A Clean House Expresses True Hospitality.

A SPOILED house should greet the Thanksgiving day dinner guests—rugs, draperies, curtains, cushions and spreads should be just as clean as expert cleaners can make them. The Pantorium, Sixteenth and Jones, promises to make your house a delight of cleanliness if you'll get the furnishings to be cleaned ready for them to pick up on Monday morning, November 21. Phone Douglas 0963.

Filet flouncings in colors with mesh from eight to 10 millimeters square, knotted in the corners, is the newest thing in lace.

Whipping Cream That Whips.

THE Alamito Dairy Company has a whipping cream, the "XX," which whips quickly into an unbelievably rich mass of frothiness for the embellishment of the Thanksgiving dessert. Phone Douglas 0409 and be assured that your dinner will be an utter success.

Many of the new blouses are fashioned to match the lining of the suits with which they are worn.

Furs for Kiddies

All Kinds of Hats Rejuvenated.

THE Kruger Hat Shop, third floor Barker block, Fifteenth and Farnam, rarely refuses to take an old hat for rejuvenation—for they're successful in reblocking almost hopeless hats. You'll find helpful, indeed, their remarking of furs and marabout, their refashioning of old fashions.

Hat and bags to match are very smart, and are being displayed both in Paris and New York.

Specialty Shop Takes Big Loss on Dress Models.

AN exceptional value in dress models is offered in the frocks which the Lamond Specialty Shop, Seventeenth and Farnam, has just placed on sale at $25. Of creamy gray Canton crepe is the foundation of one little dress, its over-dress a rich mahogany shaded duvetyne cut in one piece over the shoulders, slashed up to the throat to hang in a swagger fashion in panels which extend almost to the edge of the skirt hem. Grey suede and patent leather is the chic French imported belt which holds the panels in place. A warm tan upper and rich brown lower is the combination in heavy Canton crepe the two shades joined by a two-inch hand embroidered design in the two shades. Values in novelty dresses.

Many of the Parisian imports show the dresses with the fitted effect in the long waisted line, the skirt in very wide effect of circular treatment.

The Season's Hair Dress is Extreme.

ANNOUNCED Mrs. Wright-David of the Wright-David Beauty Shop, number 6, Baird block, Seventeenth and Douglas. And it's from one extreme to the other, either very, very high or very, very low. The kind of coiffures, in fact, which call for the services of expert hairdressers such as you'll find in this beauty shop. Curly and wavy are used when becoming, both of them sold at reasonable pricings. Phone Atlantic 4333.

Tam o'shanter and scarfs of krummer worn together are smart.

Suits This Season Bear Little Resemblance to Past Favorites. Fur Collars "Snap"

IT is probable that women are more anxious over the choice of a tailored suit than any other kind of costume. Why? Because climate varies so briskly in this stupendous continent on which we live and women vary so sharply in their activities that what is flesh for one is often poison for the other.

Women from the south cannot wear the warm, sturdy suits that are offered to women who live where the snow flies. Fur is abhorred in one state, adored in another. Long coats are bungleome for the women who stride about the streets half the day, yet they are necessary for protection to women who ride in motors or suburban trains during icy weather. So it goes.

For this reason materials differ, however, more than styles. A million women may unite in making one model popular for the reason that it can be copied in serge, duvetyne, velvet, broadcloth or crepe de chine. It may serve from Los Angeles to Portsmouth.

It is useless for the fashion writer to suggest fabrics. Various experiments in this line have failed, for the women concerned usually make objection to such and such material is unsuitable in the kind of temperature in which they live. So it is merely a glance at fashion and not a piece of advice to say that broadcloth in a silky weave is at the height of fashion, that what is known as kasha cloth, kasha duvetyne and kasha serge are delighted in by the smart people who want to get away from the commonplace, that velvet is sponsored by enough dressmakers to put it in the running, and that ordinary serge is on the shelf more than in the sunlight.

When women ask if fur is placed on tailored suits one is at a loss for a comprehensive answer. There is fur on some suits, but the argument is against it because of the variability of our weather and the impossibility of wearing a suit with attached peltry in all seasons that precede the sultry one. It is better to have fur separate, and if one wants to present a fashionable picture this fur will take the form of a high postillion collar instead of shaped revers, and the deep cuffs of it will be attached by means of snaps.

In certain climates the fur trimmed suit continues its daily service. Some of the models vary, but this is a question of taste and purse. The jacket may be almost knee length and loosely belted in at the low waist line with a girdle of the material caught in front with an ornamental clasp of metal. It is difficult to get away from this form of trimming.

The sleeves constitute the actual novelty of the jacket, as they do in the majority of clothes this season. They are squarely cut and run well over the broad tunic which forms the upper part of the jacket. There is a heavy line of stitching to accentuate this odd placement of the armhole so that no observer will fail to see it.

Order Christmas Greeting Cards When You're Making Plans for Thanksgiving Day

PERHAPS you've not realized that there's but four shopping weeks before Christmas day! Doesn't leave a great deal of time for the selection of your personal greeting cards—especially when they're to be engraved from your calling card plate. Let me send samples now from the selection offered at the Acorn Press, 1214 Howard.

Virginia Carvel Sterling Silver Design Fills the Thanksgiving Silver Chest.

THE C. B. Brown Jewel Shop, 220 South Sixteenth, is showing a delightful Thanksgiving silver chest filled with the beautiful new Virginia Carvel sterling silver service. This is a design of simple and classic lines to which a distinct colonial feeling is imparted by the dainty flower sprays that fall so naturally under the mirror-like surface. While delightfully reminiscent of our country's early romantic years it is in entire harmony with the most modern expression of the finest period dining room furniture of today. Service pieces in hollowware are truly lovely when they're decorated in the Pompeian Adam design which reflects some of the finest motifs of Robert Adams, noted decorator of the 18th century, whose period decorations reflect the rosette, the classic urn, festoons of husks and beads, also the winged griffins, the Roman shield with sprigs of "The Laurel of Victory" and other characteristic Pompeian designs. I'll be glad to send out an illustrated booklet on either the Virginia Carvel design or the Pompeian Adam.

Shell and bone combs with designs in contrasting color inset so that there is no wrong side, the design showing both back and front.

Flowers for Thanksgiving Day Should be the Sturdy Chrysanthemum.

THANKSGIVING flowers will, without question, be the lovely chrysanthemums, which they're showing in gorgeous profusion in the John Bath Flower Shop, Eighteenth and Farnam. What They Are Wearing.

Sleeves are being developed after the fashion of the Russian Cossack blouses and Roumanian peasant blouses.

Machine knit silk dresses with rows of pin tucks and a slight gold thread woven in with the silk are among the novelties displayed.

One of the shops shows a white crepe blouse embroidered in black in an all-over design and a heavy silk thread that almost seems like soutache braid.

Velveten frocks for the tiny tot are being shown. The darker shades such as navy and black are employed, enlivened by trimmings of red and other bright shades.

It is forecast that velvet shoes will be worn this winter. Some bright colored velvets will be made up with gold or silver cloth, while others will show velvet of gay colors combined with patent leather.

Diamonds set in onyx or ebony, the latter being used for stone bracelets. The combination of diamonds set in black is proving very popular in accordance with the black and white vogue.

Corset Shop Specializes in Fitting the Flapper.

SUCH a difficult age, the "flapper" Sage, when the girls are emerging from their school days into society with its requirements for new dignity of carriage. The Dorothy Hill Corset Shop, second floor, Neville block, Sixteenth and Harney, specializes in fitting young girls and is also most successful in surgical fittings of abdominal and rupture supports.
