by Palermo's Canines, a trained troupe of fox terriers, who exhibit a routine of tricks that are lighly amusing and entertaining. For the grownups there is the featured act of Allen's Cheyenne minstrels, a quartet of entertainers whose harmonious voices and comedy hanter is most enthrening. Two extremes of athletic sports, roller skating and acrobatics are to be offered by Kenny, Mason and Scholl, who are to present a strictly original novelty which they call "The Impossible on States," Beulah Kennedy and Bille Davis, who complete the vaudeville program, are to portray a rollicking, laugh-provoking, true-to-life happening, embellished with song, dance and witty dislogue.

Burdened with bundles and just about ready to drop in their tracks is the condition of fully nine-tenths of the audiences that gather at the Gayety these afternoons to avail themselves of the joyful rest afforded by the tired shoppers' matinee each day at 2:15, Arthur Pearson's famous 'Step Lively Ciris' are an important portion of this form of rest cure and cannot help but send the auditors out entirely refreshed and in fit condition to again start in to depicte mer-dition to again start in to deplete mer-efiants' stocks of Christmas goods. Try it yourself. Without sight or hearing, Helen Keller proves the most interesting personality that has ever appeared at the Orpheum theater. She is assisted by her lifelong friend and teacher, Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy. Miss Keller spent two years in New York at the Wright-Humnanson school, where she learned lip reading. She then had the desire to enter college, She was sent, accordingly, to the Cambridge school for girls. After preparatory work there she entered Harvard. In 1837 she matriculated at Radeliffe, where she was graduated with honors. Throughout her college course, Mrs. Macy was her constant companion and helper, How Miss Keller was tutored is one of the interesting features told by Mrs. Macy on the Orpheum stage. Watch the Orpheum sdvertisement in this paper. An automobile number is printed therein daily. The owner of the number will be given two Orpheum tickets free.

Former Wife's

Deposition Read

At Burch Trial

Los Angeles, Dec. 21. - Depositions to the effect that Arthur C. Burch, on trial for the alleged murder of J. Belton Kennedy, showed signs of moral and mental changes from two to three years ago were read today as part of the defense's effort to show the prisoner was insane at the time Kennedy was

Attempts Made to Prove De-

The depositions were made in Chi-cago by Miss Allie Gale Quayle, former wife of Burch; Bishop Matthew Quayle of St. Louis, her father, and Mrs. Dora M. Burch, mother of the defendant. Before the reading began, Paul W. Schenck, chief of defense counsel, announced he practically had completed the other angle his defense, a denial that Burch shot Kennedy. He said there were three or four scattered witnesses who were not in court, but who would be put on the stand at such time as they became available. Earlier in the day J. J. Sullivan, also of defense counsel, stated that Mrs.

Madelynn Obenchain, co-defendant of Burch, would be subpoenaed. Mrs. Burch, in her deposition, testified her son told her his wife had attempted to choke him and also attempted his life with a revolver. Mrs. Quayle denied she had done either of these things, though she had seen such charges embodied in a bill of divorce she said Burch had
