

Father Shakes Hand of Officer Who Killed Son

Says Death Is "Better for My Boy"—Pal Identified as Bandit Who Robbed B. & O. Train.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Clyde Timmons of Hammond, Ind., who with a companion Thursday night kidnaped Mrs. James J. Callahan, wife of the former manager of the White Sox Base Ball club, and other members of an automobile party, was yesterday partly identified as the masked bandit who last Tuesday night robbed passengers on a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train as it was leaving Chicago.

Timmons' companion, Earl Timmons of Chicago, a cousin, was shot and killed by a policeman last night following a chase after the Callahan car.

Alfred Timmons, a Chicago veterinary surgeon, at the inquest today identified the dead man as his son. As he stepped from the witness chair after testifying, he walked to the policeman who had shot his son and extended his hand.

"I never thought that I would shake the hand of the man who killed my son," he said, "but if ever a killing was justified this one was. You merely did your duty and, after all, it is better for my boy."

Earlier in the day Timmons confessed, according to the police, that he and his partner had participated in several holdups, including a train robbery on an Oregon Short-Line train August 31, when they collected $450. Following the confession, Mary Roberts, said to have been an intimate acquaintance of the man who was killed, was taken into custody.

She told a coroner's jury investigating the death of Earl Timmons that she met him in Salt Lake City a year ago and had been living with him for the past three months. Jewelry she possessed was said by the police to be part of the spoils from two holdups. According to Clyde Timmons, she left her husband in Salt Lake City to come to Chicago with the dead man.

Fruit Juice May Take Place Of Sacramental Wines

New York, Dec. 24.—A plan for the elimination of fermented wine for sacramental purposes and the substitution thereof of a specially prepared fruit juice is under consideration by the federal prohibition officials in Washington, it was learned here yesterday following the publication in the morning newspapers of a letter from Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish committee, to Internal Revenue Commissioner David H. Blair, proffering the aid of the organization in remedying existing conditions.

The proposed new regulations would apply not alone to those of Jewish faith, but to all other denominations although it was said that no complaints have been received here that priests or ministers have abused the sacramental wine privileges given in the Volstead act and in regulations from the prohibition department.

State Troops Fired on as They Enter Newport, Ky.

Newport, Ky., Dec. 24.—State troops detoured today in Newport, and through a drizzle of rain marched to the Newport rolling mills where steel workers are on strike. The detachment numbers 250 men, divided into five companies, under command of Col. H. H. Denhardt of Bowling Green.

Occasional shooting and stoning around the strike zone have marked the progress of the strike. As the soldiers proceeded into the mill plant several shots were fired from the outside. The troops were halted and a machine gun was set up under orders of Maj. John K. Dillan. The gun remained at its station about 10 minutes and as all remained quiet on the outside, it was dismantled and taken inside the plant.

Adjutant General Jackson Morris said the guards inside the mill would be disarmed and that no shooting from either side would be permitted.

Daugherty "Fed Up" on Advice

Attorney General Says He Has Had Enough Counsel to Last Until End of Term—Most Of It Bad.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Enough advice, most of it bad, has been offered Attorney General Daugherty since he assumed office, he said tonight in a Christmas greeting to the public, to last him "until the end of my term, whether it be long or short." "The majority of the counsel proffered, he added, "was of such character that the person offering it would not himself do as he advises me to do if he were in my position."

Mr. Daugherty's statement contained injunctions which, he said, were "stated for the consideration of all who may read, regardless of their station in life." Several of them follow:

"If a man does the right thing he will have the help and approval of those who know him, and if he does not do the right thing he does not deserve it."

"The world never turns against a man until after he has turned against the world, and it is never too late to wake up."

"A man owes society, his country and the world more than it owes and more than he can ever pay."

"If one has self-respect he will not go far wrong."

"If one respects others he will do them no injury in either person or property."

"In this country one man has the same freedom and the same rights as another."

"Every man owes the same degree of loyalty to his country, and the same obligation to society."

"To all mankind," Mr. Daugherty concluded, "I wish a happy, healthful and hopeful Christmas time. Let us hold up our heads and be grateful. Let us obey the laws of our country and let us obey the 10 commandments."

Recess of Dail Expected to Aid Chances of Pact

Opinion of Citizens of Ireland Likely to Influence Members in Favor Of Treaty.

By JOHN STEELE. Chicago Tribune Cable, Copyright 1921. Dublin, Dec. 24.—The adjournment of Dail Eireann for Christmas doubtless will save the treaty with Great Britain. The members went to their homes Thursday night and will be subject to the pressure of the opinion of their constituents, an opinion overwhelmingly in favor of the treaty, though this opinion may not induce all the "die-hard" republicans to vote for ratification.

Some have committed themselves against the treaty, no matter what the people say, but several may be persuaded to abstain from voting. Such abstention would favor the eventual passage of the treaty.

For a week I have sat in the dail listening to debate which from the point of honesty and even of oratory, is on a high plane. From the point of parliamentary order, it fell short of the standards of the older assemblies.

But that is a fault that time will correct. This was a remarkable assembly in which votes really were influenced by oratory. Those opposed to ratification argued day by day by the fiery appeals of women and old men, notwithstanding the fact that the element for ratification had the advantage of most of the best oratory and hard reasoning.

The best literary performance, that of Miss Mary MacSwiney, was spoiled by too great length. She spoke for three hours. De Valera also spoke well, but too frequently abandoned argument to appeal to passion. From all points of view, the speech which was the greatest and which will live in history was that of Gavan Duffy for ratification.

Easy to Sell Goods to Women, Says Advertising Specialist. "It's easy to sell goods to women," Charles H. McIntosh, Chicago, president of the Associated Ad Clubs of the World, told the Advertising-Selling league at a special luncheon to mark his visit here, yesterday noon, in the Chamber of Commerce. "Show a woman a thing that's stylish and the right color and she'll buy it."

"But with men it's different. Real salesmanship is required to get their money. They usually buy in a hurry and the salesman who gives them services and suggestions will make the best sales record with them."

Everything All Ready For Police Xmas Party

Omaha police are making final arrangements for their Christmas party at the new police station, Eleventh and Dodge streets, Sunday night. All children of the old Third ward have been invited.

Samuel Morris, post laureate of the police force will assume his annual role of Santa Claus. He will distribute the gifts which will be piled around a Christmas tree.

More toys and candies are wanted at the station to take care of the large number of children that are expected to accept the invitation.

Not Through Yet.

Ralph Sadler, twice tried on charges of practicing a confidence game with injuries "hung" in both trials, will face a third jury some time next month, County Attorney A. V. Shotwell declared yesterday.

Hubby Beat Her, Girl-Wife Says

And Threatened Her Mother's Family When She Gave "Shower" for Baby.

Mrs. Edith Winther, 20, was awarded a divorce from Carl W. Winther, 21 by District Judge Sears yesterday and the custody of her 3-month-old baby after she testified that her husband struck her several times and refused to provide for her. Just before the baby was born, Mrs. Winther testified, her husband came to her mother's home, where she had been living temporarily and knocked her down.

Mrs. G. Freeman, mother of Mrs. Winther, testified that because Winther would not provide baby clothes for the child, she gave a "baby shower" to get clothing.

When Winther learned of this, she said, he came to her house and threatened and swore at everyone. Winther first sued for divorce, charging cruelty. In a cross petition Mrs. Winther alleged that her husband would not support her, was cruel and had vicious and vulgar habits.

Judge Sears granted Mrs. Winther $25 monthly alimony. The Winthers were married in Council Bluffs September 27, 1920. Winther is a mechanic at the Union Pacific shops.
