

Hogs Solution of Farm Finance, York Man Says

Col. W. A. Thompson Declares Infallible Brood Sows Will Furnish Money for Taxes and Interest.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 5.—The infallible brood sow is the remedy that will replace the lapsed tax collector, with the least investment and the slightest risk, Col. W. A. Thompson of York said in an address before the Nebraska Swine Breeders' association here today. Many thrifty land owners will testify that during the periods of depression, hogs furnished the money to pay taxes and interest, he said.

"Today the farmer finds his bank balance depleted and credit hard to obtain," said Colonel Thompson. "We are anxious to find a remedy that will replace our losses. The infallible brood sow is the remedy we are looking for. It is the only hog that will produce profit in depressed times until the mortgage finally is lifted and more acres were added to the holdings. The worth of the brood sow as a permanent shock absorber to carry us over the bumps of adversity is more in evidence today than ever before."

"Recently I sold a herd of 130 sows, weighing on the average of 100 pounds, all well bred. They sold as feeders for $9 per head—a total of $1,170—and a sum equal to the worth of 4,000 bushels of corn. As the first 100 pounds of pork is cheaply produced, they paid for about 3,000 bushels of corn they did not consume."

"Corncribs are filled to the overflowing point, while a reduction in livestock numbers is observed," Colonel Thompson stated. "He said there was an overproduction of corn and an underproduction of livestock. Men believed they were doing the profitable thing when they curtailed their livestock production during the peak of grain prices, while today they are confronted with a problem the result of a desire to make quick profits with no thought of the future." Colonel Thompson declared. "Brood sows and their gilts are converting many corn crops into profits. Farmers who possess no hogs are coming to your farms this winter to absorb your surplus."

"I have a friend who recently traded six pure-bred gilts to a neighbor for 1,000 bushels of corn. My friend delivered the gilts in one wagon load and the neighbor paid for

Fremont Banker to Stand Trial

Head of Defunct Fidelity Trust Co. Charged With Attempt to Defraud Clients.

Fremont, Neb., Jan. 5.—(Special.)—January term of district court will open here January 9. The case of Frank B. Knapp, head of the defunct Fidelity Trust Co., charged with attempts to cheat and defraud clients of the institution before its failure, is first case on the docket.

Knapp has been one of the most prominent bankers and financial men of this section of the state for several years. The family was prominent socially before the crash came, but since then have left the city. One other case that will attract attention is the trial of Paul E. Martell of Toledo, O., charged with defrauding Mrs. Pauline Schwab, 72, of Hooper. Martell is alleged to have sold Mrs. Schwab a pair of eye glasses, which he claimed contained diamond crystals and would cure cataracts. He bilked the aged woman of $3,000, it is claimed.

Iowa Man Doubles Money by Feeding Sheep 90 Days
Among the livestock shippers to the Omaha market was John F. Larson of Exira, Ia., who brought in 213 head of lambs that averaged 59 pounds, when they were bought here 90 days ago as feeders. He received $11 a hundred pounds and said he about doubled his money. He bought them for $6.50 a hundred.
Mr. Larson said he had a bunch of cattle on feed and that he had found financial conditions in part of the country in pretty good shape with the bankers being more liberal in loaning money for feeders.

Winside Farmer Makes Good Profit on 90-Day Cattle
Three loads of heavy cattle, averaging 1,408 pounds each, were brought into the Omaha stockyards yesterday by F. H. Carpenter of Winside. He received the top price of the day, $7.50 a hundred.
Mr. Carpenter said he was pleased with the profit he had made on his shipment. He bought the cattle here about 90 days ago, when they averaged 1,100 pounds, making a gain in the time he had them on feed of 308 pounds each. He said he had fed his cattle on alfalfa and corn.

War Corporation Useless, Asserts Implement Man

Finance Body Duplicates Work of Reserve Bank—Establishment Political Move, Speaker Says.

Establishment of the War Finance corporation was a political move by the republican party, according to T. N. Witten, Trenton, Mo., who addressed the thirteenth annual convention of the Mid-West Implement Dealers' association at the Hotel Rome yesterday.
"There was no need of the War Finance corporation," Mr. Witten said. "The Federal Reserve bank already was established and authorized to do the work taken up by the finance corporation."
"The great trouble with the Federal Reserve board is its mismanagement in many departments. There are too many 'big men' on the board. Out of 30,000 banks in the United States, 10,000 have had no aid from the Federal Reserve banks because the little fellows had no influence, or representatives."

Unfair to West.
"At the time when the Federal Reserve bank was at its highest efficiency 53 per cent of the funds were loaned out in New York. That's not fair to the western bankers. Under proper management the Federal Reserve bank could have $3 for every $1 now out on loans."
Mr. Witten declared the Romans of old knew more about scientific agriculture than do the farmers of today.

Omaha Man Speaks.
In the afternoon F. W. Thomas of the Omaha agency of the War Finance corporation addressed the convention on "Advances to Farmers for Agricultural Purposes."
Dr. W. E. Taylor, Moline, Ill., delivered a lecture on "The Need for Dairy Cows in Omaha Trade Territory."

Fort Crook Traction Rates Upheld by State Rail Body
Lincoln, Jan. 5.—(Special.)—The Omaha & Southern Interurban Railway company was given permission to continue in force the rates which it has had since April 1, 1920, until further order by the state railway commission today.
This line runs from South Omaha to Fort Crook and is owned by the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company. Figures showed that it earned only $5,600 in 1921.

Iowa Horse Buyer Killed in K. C. Shooting

Kansas City, Jan. 5.—Harry Bruener of Des Moines, Ia., a horse buyer, was shot and killed and Adolph Drabos, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and W. B. Hall, Kansas City, were wounded when, according to witnesses, Frank Thompson, a stock raiser of Olathe, Kan., opened fire on Bruener in the crowded lobby of the Live Stock Exchange here today.

State Certificate Needed to Get Wheel Tax Plates
State registration certificates must be shown at the city clerk's office to obtain 1922 wheel tax plates, according to C. F. Bossie, city clerk.
Mr. Bossie offers the following information for the benefit of automobile owners:

Every vehicle owned in Nebraska and operated on the streets and boulevards of Omaha an average of three or more days a week is subject to the tax, except those absolutely owned by the city, county, state or national governments.
Wheel tax is a street and boulevard maintenance tax and is divided 60 per cent to street repair and 40 per cent to upkeep of boulevards and can not be used for any other purpose.

Wheel tax plates are required by law to be placed on the front of vehicle in plain view.

Corn Eaters of America Organized at Lincoln

Lincoln, Jan. 5.—The Lincoln club of the Corn Eaters of America, pledged to eat corn in some form once a day during the year, was organized here at a banquet of 500 representatives from many Nebraska Chambers of Commerce and from large cities along the Missouri river. The dinner was made up exclusively of corn dishes. It is planned to spread the organization through the corn belt at once and make it a national organization. The object is to increase the demand for corn and help the farmers.

Homes in Oklahoma Town Are Wrecked by Tornado

Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 5.—Carrying the wreckage of five power houses from the Turkey and Bird creek oil fields before it, a tornado struck Tulsa, a little town of about 300 inhabitants, six miles north of Tulsa, early yesterday, smashing three homes and a garage and injuring four persons.
The storm, following a part about 75 feet wide and lasting barely four minutes, just veeed high winds that did considerable damage in Tulsa. Damage in Tulsa is estimated at between $7,000 and $8,000.
