

Packers Fixed Prices, Is Charge in Washington

Armour and Fowler Companies Charged With Violations of Stockyards Law by K. C. Exchange.

By The Associated Press. Washington, Jan. 26.—Armour & Co. and the Fowler Packing company were charged with numerous violations of the packers and stockyards act of 1921 in a formal complaint which the Kansas City Livestock Exchange announced it had filed yesterday with the secretary of agriculture. This was said to be the first complaint formally filed under the new packer control legislation.

The complaint charges that the defendants practices include "price fixing in its worst form" and are "tending towards an absolute monopoly in the purchase and slaughter of hogs."

The two companies, it is alleged, "have conspired and agreed with certain shippers that such shippers shall have the exclusive right and privilege of shipping hogs from specified loading stations and territories to the Fowler Packing company of Kansas City and the said defendants deny to all other shippers the same right and privilege unless satisfactory arrangements can be perfected by said other shippers with the shippers previously selected by the defendants."

Names Kansas Yards.

The defendants, according to the complaint, receive, buy, water, hold, weigh and handle hogs at the Mistletoe stockyards in Wyandotte county, Kansas, in a manner which violates the control act.

In December, the complaint sets forth the Mistletoe stockyards received 48,443 hogs compared with 155,007 received and sold on the "open competitive market," at Kansas City. This, it was contended, "made Armour & Co. independent of the open competitive market and their hog buying policy is based not upon the basis of light or heavy receipts at the open competitive market, but solely on the number of head received by them direct at the Mistletoe stockyards."

Shippers, the plaintiffs said, are induced by the defendants with "false, misleading and deceptive statements" as to "certain savings which do not exist," to patronize the Mistletoe stockyards.

Calls Charges Silly.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—A representative of Armour & Co., when informed last night of charges made against the company and the Fowler Packing company by the Kansas City Livestock exchange, characterized them as "silly and ridiculous."

Armour & Co. who owned the Fowler company for years, he said, and asserted there could be no conspiracy between the two companies which, he said, would be equivalent to Armour & Co. conspiring with themselves.

"Mistletoe yard at Kansas City is a private yard owned by the Fowler Packing company, which, as is generally known, is an Armour & Co. plant," the official said. "No commission men are allowed to operate on this yard and no yardage charges are assessed against the shippers of hogs. Consequently hog raisers who consign to Mistletoe yard save commission and yardage fees."

Legion Backs Pershing on Preparedness Issue

Washington, Jan. 26.—The judgment of more than 1,000,000 ex-service men was given to congress by the military affairs committee of the American Legion respecting the question of national preparedness and containing an unqualified endorsement of the policy enunciated by General Pershing.

"The American Legion recognizes the demand for retrenchment and reduction in governmental expenditures," said the legion officials, "but practical men who have learned the lessons of preparedness by the hard experience of war, we are confident that it would be a great mistake, at this time, to limit the proper functioning of the national defense act by a reduction in the estimates as submitted by the War department and approved by the budget committee."

Feeding Operations Heavy Near Palmer, Farmer Says

E. E. Gruber came in from Palmer with two loads of choice heavy cattle. He said a large number of the cattle around Palmer were getting into shape for the market and would be sent in soon.

"This season's feeding operations have been quite heavy," said Mr. Gruber. "The only way the farmer can get decent prices for his grain is to feed it to his live stock."

"More sows have been bred this season than for some time and there will be a good run sent to the Omaha market in the fall. There has been no talk of cutting down the corn acreage and I am of the opinion there will be as much corn as ever put in around Palmer."

Name Acting Postmaster.

Aurora, Neb., Jan. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—A. F. Hickman has been appointed acting postmaster at Aurora to succeed J. H. Grossenrider. He will act until regular appointment is made. Hickman is not a candidate for permanent appointment.

Bond Sale to Aid Farmers.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 26.—The sale of $500,000 worth of 15-year provincial bonds bearing 3 1/2 per cent interest to the Dominion Securities company was announced today. The proceeds will be turned over to the farm loans department to be applied on loans to farmers.

Hold Youth for Burglary.

Beatrice, Neb., Jan. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Walter Harrow, 18, was arrested, charged with burglarizing the offices of the Funk Automobile company twice during the past week. According to Chief of Police Dillow, he has confessed.

Nebraska Gets Back Its Nerve, Survey Shows

(Continued From Page One.) tied to hogs, bringing about 50 cents a bushel in this way. My neighbors are holding their surplus corn in the belief that it will sell at 50 cents later. Much of the distress that has existed among farmers was due to having bought land at high prices, bought one farm too many myself."

"Sunshine by April" is the prediction of Robert Lynn, a banker of Magnet, in the northeastern part of the state. Although collections are still slow, credit is easier and business is picking up in anticipation of spring. He gives a great deal of praise to the War Finance corporation, which already has brought almost $7,000,000 to the agricultural industry of the state.

Better prices for grain and stock have made business better in my district," said another legislator, Grant S. Mears of Wayne. "Everyone has been economizing for a year, and only a little more confidence is needed for a complete recovery." Wayne is a real estate and loan agent.

Profit on Cattle.

G. M. Wallace, representative from Harlan county, farther to the west in the Republican river valley, shipped a load of corn-fed cattle a week ago and admits making a profit.

"When foreign countries once start buying as they need, farmers won't have enough to supply them," is his opinion. "If any farmer wants to stock up on cattle or pigs, he will never find a better time than now. Another promising thing is the increase of dairying and diversified farming. One trouble in Nebraska has been the tendency of farmers to cover too much territory. With better co-operation among the farmers, a good living can be made on less acreage, or a half section at most; a good deal of hardship has been caused by trying to buy or operate too much land."

Asked about optimism in his neighborhood, Mr. Wallace presented the case of a farmer near Clear Lake, a German who moved from St. Louis 15 years ago and rented a piece of land that was considered rather poor. At first he raised chiefly wheat and corn. Then six years ago he made a trip to the state agricultural college and obtained the advice of a specialist in buying a dairy herd. There were 40 Holstein cows and he went in debt to get them and a milking machine.

But now he has paid for his farm and has built up its fertility. And last year he put up a $6,000 house. He doesn't know there is any such thing as a bad piece of land.

Independence More Possible.

"Such independence is growing more possible through the fact that farmers are getting back to first principles. In the boom times there were many living on farms who would not trouble to milk a cow and bought their butter in town," Mr. Wallace said.

"I'm one of them," another legislator broke in. He is Fred L. Nutzman, who has lived on a farm in Cass county for 50 years.

"Too many of us never bother with our own milk," Mr. Wallace continued, inexorably. "I'm one of them, too," mourned Mr. Nutzman. "Farmers are blue but they are coming back faster than any other class. The industry of agriculture is not 'broke'—that's just imagination. Why our hank at Nebraska is actually advertising in the papers to lend money on cattle. Any state whose prosperity is based on the land is on a firm footing. I had this impressed upon me by an investigation in the legislature which showed that of the 50-year men we were $50,000 with which to start in business, only four or five of them would come to old age as financial successes. We found that of 50 boys given a farm worth $50,000, 45 of them would end life with a good home and more than they started with. There is more security on the soil."

Loss in Cattle Feeding.

J. A. Axtell, who is in the legislature from Jefferson county, broke in to say that there had been heavy losses in agriculture in the last two years, and for a longer time than that in cattle feeding.

"I lost $1,000 on one bunch of corn-fed steers last year," he said. "But I expect to make back in the next few years what I have lost in the past. Our banks are lending better, and any man that is safe can get credit. But there's not a nickel for speculation. There were months when loans were not to be had by farmers, no matter how good their security. I went to my banker and said, 'Suppose we all quit, how are we going to pay back what we all borrowed?' Such arguments have had their effect and through better financing farmers are able to hold their grain or feed it to livestock and are not pressed to sell all they have to pay their notes."

On With the Party.

Though the legislative session of the legislature has convened to lower taxes, there is no feeling that Nebraska is pauperized. This cut in taxes also spells better times. The people back home are said to feel more confident right now than they have been. The markets appear to have quit their drop and begun to advance. Farmers as a class are making a little money—more than in the last two years. By March they will be actively engaged in preparing the next crop, and then the swift coursing blood of spring will warm the whole business body. Those in Omaha or the east who talk otherwise are ill-advised. Nebraska is all dressed up, jingling a little money in its pocket, too. It is not going to a funeral, either as a mourner, or in fact, it is ready for a party—if the industrial and financial interests of the cities will be so kind as to stop croaking and issue invitations to the dance.

Movement to Limit Debate in Senate Strikes Snag

Washington, Jan. 26.—The senate movement to limit debate has met a setback at the hands of the senate rules committee, it was learned today. With many drastic proposals for amendment of the existing cloture ruling pending, only three votes were secured for a compromise plan which would have required senators to confine their remarks to the subject actually under consideration.

Textile workers in Germany work 46 hours a week.

U. S. May Consent to Attend Genoa Economic Meet

Ambassador Harvey Expected to Reveal Stand to French Premier During Stop in Paris.

Paris, Jan. 26.—It was reliably stated tonight that George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain, will tell Premier Poincare, during his brief sojourn here on his way from Cannes, that the United States may yet consider being represented at the Genoa economic conference, provided France will consent to full participation.

This was the view expressed tonight, subject to any further instructions from Washington as to the course to be taken toward the Genoa conference. Mr. Harvey's interview with the premier is expected to take place tomorrow.

It was understood that Mr. Harvey probably will inform Premier Poincare that the American government feels that the Genoa conference will be worthless, or at least of little value, unless France wholeheartedly takes part. Should France decide to remain out, he is understood to believe that America would be particularly reluctant to join. It is understood in Harding's quarters here President Harding's final decision on acceptance of the invitation depends to a considerable extent upon the results of Mr. Harvey's conversations.

The extent to which the United States will participate at Genoa and in European economic reconstruction generally is also considered as somewhat dependent, aside from French participation, on some solution of the reparations question and on a sincere indication by the European countries that they are trying to balance their budgets by reduction of land armaments and other burdens regarded as unnecessary by America.

It was also learned that the special committee which the United States appointed at Cannes to draw up the final agenda for the Genoa conference has delayed its first meeting, pending the outcome of Ambassador Harvey's conversations. It was pointed out that the allies do not want to frame a final program until the American views and desires are understood.

Body of Pope Placed in Crypt at St. Peters

Next came the major prelates in robes of black and purple, then members of the ancient order of the Sword and Cape, in quaint medieval costumes with ruffled collars, gaiters and buckled slippers, then the high officers of the armed forces of the vatican in the order of their precedence.

Meanwhile the members of the sacred college, bishops, archbishops and diplomats, had entered the chapel of the choir, with its high stalls rising along both sides of the altar. As they entered they took up their positions according to their rank.

Strains of Miserere.

The strains of the "Miserere" were heard as the procession approached the chapel and the cardinal archpriest, Merry Del Val, and the Cardinal Camerlengo, Gasparri, took their places in the casket which was to receive the body.

As the strains of the "Miserere" ended, the pontiff's body was carried in, and the anthem, "Exultabunt Domino," was again sung, followed by the chanting of "In Paradisum."

Then the solemn ceremony of absolution took place and the choir sang the anthem, "Ingrédiamur," followed by "Sicut Vultus."

While the last anthem was being sung the body was deposited in the cypress coffin and the major domo of the Vatican, Monsignor Sant'Agostino, covered the face of the pope with a veil of white silk and placed in the coffin the medals struck during the pontificate of Benedict, and purses of coins, in accordance with custom.

Absolution Given.

Cardinal Agostino, archbishop of Frascati, and the first cardinal created by Benedict, covered the body with a large red veil fringed with gold, and placed at the feet a brass cylinder upon which was inscribed a succinct history of the life and pontificate of the late pope.

Finally, absolution was given, the coffin was sealed by Cardinal Camerlengo and the archpriest with ribbons of violet silk, and the cover was screwed down.

The burial act was then read and formal transfer of the body made to the sacred college to the chapter of the basilica, this being duly registered. The coffin was thereupon sealed with the apostolic palace seal, then those of the basilican chapter, the arch priest and camerlengo.

The cypress coffin in which the body rested was placed in a lead casket, the ends of which were immediately soldered, and both were deposited in a hardwood casket, upon which the same seals were affixed as on the first.

This was surmounted by a wooden cross, also by the pope's coat-of-arms with the year and the Latin inscription, "The body of Benedict the Fifteenth, supreme pontiff, who lived 67 years, occupied the throne of St. Peter seven years and died January twenty-second, Nineteen Twenty-Two."

The casket was then transferred to the crypt in the left lateral nave near the entrance to St. Peter's, last absolution was given and Benedict XV was left to his rest beneath the flagstones which are tread by the thousands of pilgrims annually.

San Francisco, Jan. 26.—How Virginia Rappa conducted herself at a party was the topic of testimony at the opening of today's sessions in the second trial of Roscoe Arbuckle, accused of manslaughter in connection with the death of Mary Allen Barrie of Hollywood, was scheduled to reserve testimony for the defense which included only one question.

Aurora Starts Suit for Lower Light Rate

Aurora, Neb., Jan. 26.—The city of Aurora secured an injunction in district court to prevent the Public Service company from charging and collecting for electricity according to its present rates. The city claims that the present rates were only allowed temporarily, during the peak of high prices. The injunction suit asks for a return to the regular rates provided by ordinance. The city also asks for an accounting to determine the net profits of the company. The franchise of the electric light company provides that 50 per cent of net profits above 10 per cent on invested capital shall be paid to the city.

A.E.F. Vet Charges Was Mistreated After Yank Probe

Alleges Veterans' Bureau Discharged Him After Testifying at Hangings Hearing at Washington.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Declarations that he had been robbed and discharged as an employee of the veterans' bureau after testifying in the senate investigation of illegal soldier hangings were made by Charles P. Green of Minneapolis in letters and telegrams received by Senator Watson, democrat of Georgia, and read today to the investigating committee.

Green declared in his communications that enroute to his home "American Legion friends" at Cincinnati had stolen his suitcase, containing his army discharges, decorations and other documents. On reaching Minneapolis, he charged, he was informed by the veterans' bureau office there that his services were no longer required.

In trying to place Green, who had testified that the bodies of nine soldiers killed by the military police had been sent to a hospital at Chateau Rous, France, Chairman Brandegee recalled to committee members that Green was the witness who declared on the stand that General Pershing was "a liar" and that he would rather belong to the I. W. W. than to the American Legion.

Three doctors attached to the Chateau Rous hospital testified yesterday there was no truth in Green's charges as to the nine bodies.

Charge Denied.

Minneapolis, Jan. 26.—"Charles P. Green could never be discharged by the veterans' bureau because he never has been an employee of it," C. D. Hibbard, northwest district manager, said today in commenting on information presented today to the senate committee investigating illegal hangings in the American army.

Buda Farmer Tops Omaha Market With Sheep Shipment

The top price of $7.75 a hundred for ewes, the highest since July, 1920, and the top price of $12 a hundred for yearling sheep, the highest since June, 1920, was received on the Omaha market by Chris Smikle of Buda, who brought in several hundred sheep.

Mr. Smikle said most of the sheep brought in were allowed to run in the cornfields for about a month and then put in the feed lot and fed on shelled corn, alfalfa meal and alfalfa hay.

Joker Found in Water Company Franchise

Plattsmouth, Neb., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Just as the city council was about to pass a motion that the city notify the Plattsmouth Water company they desired to open negotiations for the purchase of the plant, one of the councilmen discovered a joker in the old franchise which provides that if after negotiations are opened either party could not agree as to the price, the matter should be laid before the district court, and that appeal can be taken no further than the state supreme court.

The council then backed up and passed a substitute motion that the fire and water committee be authorized to secure the lowest possible figure the company would take for its plant.

The water company has served notice of its intent to raise the rates to all consumers at the expiration of a 10-year period in its franchise this spring.

Omaha engineers, employed by the city to prepare an estimate of valuation, set the sum at $131,933. It is understood that the company has offered its property to the Nebraska Gas and Electric company for $60,000.

More Witnesses in Floth Case Called

Couple Said to Have Been at Florist's Home During Alleged Attack Summoned.

Paul Floth, 37, veteran Omaha florist, was arraigned before Police Judge Wappich yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace preferred against him by Mrs. Martha Fowler, Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Fowler caused the arrest of Floth on a charge of having choked and struck her after she had accepted a position in his home as housekeeper last Saturday.

According to the testimony given by Mrs. Fowler yesterday, Floth attacked her when she quit the job. Floth said the woman became hysterical after several drinks with another couple at his home.

Mrs. Fowler offered to show the court several bruises she claimed to have received at Floth's hands. Floth also exhibited a mark on his face. Mrs. Fowler did not deny assaulting Floth, saying she had been assaulted by Floth.

After hearing the testimony, Judge Wappich continued the case until Monday and ordered other witnesses in the case to appear.
