

Archbishop of Tyre Lies Ill in Omaha Hotel

Noted Asian Prelate Who Has Jurisdiction Over Holy Land Is Touring America.

Rt. Rev. Maximus Saigh, D. D., Syrian Catholic archbishop of Tyre in Asia Minor, lies ill in his suite at the Hotel Fontenelle.

He arrived in Omaha four days ago on a general survey tour of Syrian Catholic churches in the United States. He was appointed special delegate for that mission by the late Pope Benedict XV and also the patriarch of the Eastern church.

Noted and dangerously ill, Archbishop Saigh is under constant care of his secretary, Rev. Timothy Jock, and Rev. Elias Abboud, pastor of the Syrian Catholic church, Sixteenth and Marsha streets.

Mother of Three Dies of Cold in Cabin Home

(Continued From Page One.) and one from the west, arrived. Gathering the generally little used snow fighting material railroad officials shortly after 9 o'clock succeeded in getting out two trains, one over the Pennsylvania and one over the Baltimore & Ohio from the north and hoped to continue intermittent service during the night.

Train Service Suspended

In the national capital itself, street car service was practically suspended at daybreak, but gradually service was restored on the trunk lines. Thousands of government employes were forced to struggle through almost knee deep snow to the government departments while many others in outlying and suburban sections took one look outside and decided to remain at home.

Deep Snow in South

Reports to the weather bureau showed the fall of snow early today at Baltimore stood at 14 inches. Lynchburg, Va., reported 20 inches, the heaviest in the history of that city. The storm was reported to be continuing at Richmond, Va., where street cars were completely tied up and many trains stalled or held in the yards.

Conditions at Norfolk appeared to be the worst, with a gale of 56 miles an hour part of the business section of the city under water and crippled shipping.

66-Mile Wind Cripples Norfolk Water Front

Norfolk, Jan. 28.—A blow reaching a velocity of 56 miles an hour early today crippled water front activities here and practically suspended shipping in Hampton Roads.

Married Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hipsley. Broken Bow, Neb., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hipsley celebrated their golden wedding anniversary surrounded by their children and grandchildren. An elaborate wedding dinner was served.

G. O. P. Laying Plans for 1922 Campaign

Beveridge on Tour

Mr. Beveridge has not made a formal announcement of his candidacy, but it is believed to be imminent. He has been touring Indiana for six months, speaking not on political questions but on the Bible and moral topics, chiefly before women's clubs.

Fight to Be Bitter

The fight will be a bitter one and, whatever the outcome, the democrats are counting upon a republican split in the election. The important consideration in his case is the republican organization backing New except in Marion county, where it was captured by the anti-New forces when Mayor Shank was elected in Indianapolis. The adherents of Senator Watson have cooperated with the Beveridge forces in electing Shank, and are reported to be aiding Beveridge in other parts of the state.

Townsend in Difficulty?

Senator Townsend is reputed to have a hard fight on his hands for renomination. John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, former national commander of the American Legion, has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination. Representatives Kelley and Whitney Watkins of Manchester are regarded as possible entrants. The Newberry case will figure in the contest. Townsend defended Newberry and the anti-Newberry crowd is looking for a candidate against him. Possible candidates for the democratic nomination are Woodbridge N. Ferris of Big Rapids, former governor, and former Representative Frank Doremus.

Are After La Follette

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, who is so independent that he votes with the democrats about as often as the republicans, long has been a thorn in the flesh of the G. O. P. organization. To pluck it out is again the ardent desire of the republican national leaders, now that the senator is a candidate for renomination. Senator Lenroot, whose reelection La Follette defeated two years ago, has been deputed to find a nemesis and is still looking.

Woes Nonpartisan League

A determined effort is to be made to put the skids under Senator McCumber, republican, in North Dakota. He is a candidate for renomination, and may find himself pitted against his former colleague, Asle Gronna. At a recent senate committee hearing Mr. Gronna wrathfully informed Mr. McCumber he would undertake to accomplish his defeat. Mr. McCumber, however, is an extremely astute politician.

Long After Reed

There is an ugly fight on in democratic ranks in Missouri, where former Third Assistant Secretary of State Breckinridge Long is gunning for Senator Reed, who has not formally announced his candidacy for renomination. Republican possibilities include Walter Dickey, the angel

Water Commerce of United States Shows Increase

Overseas Traffic Jumps 21 Per Cent During December Over Previous Month—Bulk Oil Excluded.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Water borne commerce of the United States in December showed the first upward trend since the June coal movement due to the miners' strike in England, the shipping board announced last night. The total overseas traffic last month increased 699,500 tons, or 21 per cent over the November movement, according to the board's figures, which did not include bulk oil moved in tankers.

104 Head of Livestock Killed in Adair Fire

Adair, Ia., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—One hundred and four head of livestock, including 70 hogs, 32 sheep and two valuable stallions, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a large barn on the farm of Dr. H. A. Alcorn, a few miles south of Adair. The fire, which occurred at night, was discovered by a neighbor living near. He rushed to the barn and opened the doors, but the livestock refused to leave the burning building. The loss sustained by Dr. Alcorn is estimated at $8,000, partially covered by insurance.

Rabbits Near Red Oak Said to Grow Horns

Red Oak, Ia., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Rabbits in these parts grow horns, according to John Perry, a farmer living near Red Oak. He says his sons recently shot a half-grown rabbit which had two well-developed horns growing out of its scalp. The horns, which were hard substance and about the length of the rabbit's ears, were not attached to the animal's skull.

(Continued From Page One.) salesmen in the Omaha stock yards compute it even up to 70 cents. Profit in sheep. Once or twice a month a carload of corn-fed cattle is shipped out. Roughly, one of these loads would bring $1,000, some of which is profit as prices now stand. One farmer marketed a load of sheep last week at 13 cents per pound—they cost him 3 cents a pound for less, which shows there is probably more profit in sheep right now than in anything else.
