

Love Is God, Not Only Attribute, Says Lecturer

Peter V. Ross, Member of Christian Science Lecturing Board, Speaks at Church Here.

Peter V. Ross, member of the board of lecturership of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., lectured on "The Divine Immanence" last evening in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Twenty-fourth and St. Marys avenue. He will repeat the lecture tonight.

He said in part: "Christia has always associated love with the Supreme Being, though perhaps more as a characteristic or attribute than as a synonym. But Christian Science recognizes that while in one sense love is an attribute, an all pervading quality of God, yet in a fuller sense love is God, or as St. John puts it, 'God is love, and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.'"

Reality of Good.
"The deductions to be drawn from the conception of Deity as love are most inspiring and liberating to suffering humanity. Take all the sickness, sorrow and misery that appear to run riot in the world about us. Could they be imposed upon mankind by a Supreme Being who is love?"

"Unthinkable and impossible," you reply. Could such things be made or countenanced by a creator who is love? The response is an emphatic "No." From whence then are they and by whom created? Christian Science replies that they have not in fact been created and that they have no actual foundation or existence, because the one and only creator, power, and presence is love. The same is true of all the hate, malice and strife that seem to infest society. They are the very antitheses of love, and hence can have no actual influence or potency when love is infinite and omnipotent.

"Any one who chooses can begin at once, in Christian Science, to prove this momentous truth; and having proved, though perhaps only in minor details, that discord, whether in the form of bodily ailments or of mental disturbances, can be put out of existence, he will be ready to admit and able to see that the sum total of human wretchedness can be disposed of on the basis of its unreality and nonexistence."

Discoverer of Christian Science.

"If there has been any event of modern history more remarkable than the discovery of Christian Science, that event has been the successful establishment of Christian Science on an enduring foundation. To discover this science required rare spiritual insight; to so establish it that the truths of Christianity should not again be lost to sight required unsurpassed sagacity, resolution, courage and devotion. These qualities were possessed to a superlative degree by Mary Baker Eddy, which answers the oft-repeated question, Why did Christian Science come through a woman?"

"To a world sick with its belief in materialism, intellectualism and skepticism, as well as sick with sin and disease, Mrs. Eddy has brought a workable means of regeneration. For the suffering and sorrowing she has made known a divinely prepared way of escape. Those who are availing themselves of the opportunity thus provided hold her name in love and reverence, while people the world over are coming to recognize her as one of the foremost benefactors of the race."

Concordians Hear Analyst's Views

Mabel Warner Rugg Speaks on Diagnosis of Character for Business.

The science of character analysis as applied to an individual's capabilities, traits, and adaptability to the line of work he is engaged in, was discussed by Mrs. Mabel Warner Rugg, character analyst, before the Omaha Concord club at a luncheon at Hotel Fontenelle yesterday noon.

"The reading of character is a science in which a great deal of interest has developed within the last few years," Mrs. Rugg said, "until today most of the large corporations and the government departments employ character analysts to aid them in choosing employees and executives for various positions."

From their types of features and size and shapes of heads and hands, Mrs. Rugg analyzed the characters of several members of the club and told in what way they are adapted for their lines of work.

Two new members of the club were introduced at yesterday's luncheon. They were B. G. Barron of the Summit Dairy company, and W. Newton Clark, salesmanager of the A. B. Currie company, wholesale coal dealers.

Howell to Explain Radio to Nebraska Audiences

R. B. Howell will address the Business Men's Community club at Central City tonight by invitation. He will discuss the radiophone and his recent European trip. This afternoon he will speak at Silver Creek. He is scheduled to speak before the Commercial club at Grand Island, April 27.
