

Detective Fatally Wounded by Suspect

Cincinnati, April 15.—Detective Huetlin was fatally wounded and Detective Al Guethlein seriously wounded late today when they attempted to question a man who had called at the office of Miss Amanda Blymer, a notary public, relative to the sale of an automobile. The detectives had been assigned to cases involving theft of automobiles. The man, when the detectives entered, jumped to his feet and, catching the officers unprepared, began shooting. Both detectives fell. The man, gun in hand, fled and was captured after a thrilling pursuit through the downtown streets. He is believed to be "Red" Holt, a police character.

Salesman Found in Wrong Hotel Room Held for Trial

B. M. Salzman, Chicago salesman, arrested Friday at the Hotel Fontenelle, was held in Central police court yesterday morning under $2,500 bond on a charge of breaking and entering.

Salzman pleaded not guilty and his preliminary hearing was postponed to April 19. He was found locked in a room on the third floor of the hotel and could not explain his presence there in the face of the fact he had a room on the 10th floor.

JUST From Abroad!

Brandeis Buyers Adventuring in Foreign Lands Bring Home Choice Purchases

Imported! Does that mean something rare, lovely and exotic to you? It certainly conveys that impression when associated with the newly opened exhibit of Imported Handmade Linens in our Linen Department. These were purchased by our linen buyer on his recent trip abroad.

Among the unique things is a 13-piece plaque luncheon set of Italian cutwork and filet with oval centerpiece and doilies which are charming on the new oblong tables. Another luncheon set has the centerpiece and plate doilies in an oblong shape, with buffet set to match.

A large, round lunch cloth is a veritable masterpiece in Italian cutwork with insets of Borano, Venetian point and filet. There are others less pretentious, but with equally interesting points of distinction.

Handbags From France

Some very smart and practical hand bags have just arrived from Paris. There is a smart simplicity about them which suggests their special fitness with the spring tailleur. Oval-shaped pouch bags in brown pin seal have a shell mounting with a clever crest-like fastening. A similar shape in navy blue faulle silk has a dainty cut steel design. Either of these styles priced 7.50

Many other exclusive styles are shown, priced up to 22.50

Matelassée Spanish Lace

Few women have understood so well the gracious charm of lace as the Spanish. But these beautiful imported laces will inspire winsome frocks or blouses to eclipse any of Spanish origin. There are bold, dashing patterns with a lovely, lustrous sheen in white, cream, navy, brown, and black. They are the full 36-inch width for skirts and priced less than a domestic product of distinctly inferior quality. Per yard, 3.95
