

Brief City News

To Meet in Omaha—The Nebraska Manufacturers' association will hold its annual convention at Hotel Fontenelle December 11, it was announced Thursday.

Advisers to Meet—The seventh and last all-star series of meetings of the Omaha Advertising-Selling League will be held Monday evening at 8 at Hotel Fontenelle.

Eight Motorists Fined—Judge Patrick fined eight motorists in Central police court yesterday. M. Olson, 1721 South Ninth street, was fined $5 for reckless driving.

Plan Target Practice—Fifty students of the R. O. T. C. of Creighton university will spend three days next week at target practice on the government rifle range near Plattsmouth.

Search for Boys—Police are searching for three Farnam school boys, each 12, who failed to return from classes Thursday. They are Joe Evans, Paul Staley and Clifford Butler.

$5,000 in House—Officer Wade of the raiding squad testified yesterday in police court that Sam Grizzo, 1223 South Twenty-third street, had $5,000 in cash in his house when it was raided.

Bankers to Meet Here—The annual convention of the Nebraska Bankers' association will be held in Omaha, September 26 and 27, it was announced yesterday. More than 1,900 bankers are expected to attend.

Study Big Business—Fifty political economy students from the University of Nebraska visited Omaha manufacturing concerns for the purpose of studying manufacturing methods and big business yesterday.

To Compete in Drill—Platoons from Council Bluffs high school and Creighton high school, R. O. T. C., meet for competitive drill on the Creighton university field May 19 in connection with the annual flag day exercises.

To Address Underwriters—Prof. E. H. Howbert, director of the school of life insurance salesmanship at Denver university, will speak at the meeting of the Omaha Underwriters' association in the Brandeis grill at noon today.

To Lock Up Justice—Presiding District Judge Charles Leslie announced yesterday that hereafter all juries hearing criminal cases will be kept locked up even during recesses. This is to avoid any psychological effects from meeting friends of defendants, the judge said.

Two Men Fined—Lucian B. Johnson, 5524 Florence boulevard, fined at the election commissioner's office for the progressive nomination for register of deeds. James C. McGinley, 2909 Leavenworth street, fined for the republican nomination for state representative from the sixteenth district.

Denied Waif—The application for adoption of Jackie, 7, waif, made by Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Van Ness, 4184 Wakeley street, was denied by County Judge Crawford yesterday. The child will be raised by Mrs. Maggie Moriarty, appointed guardian. She is the daughter of John Rush, 1323 Martha street, retired Omaha public official.

New Residence Blocks Are Opened Near Happy Hollow

Three new residence blocks were opened yesterday bordering on the Happy Hollow club grounds. The new district will be a model of exclusiveness in street and parking improvements, it was announced. Windy avenues and a beautiful landscape feature the section.
