FOOTBALL RALLY

Mass Meeting This Morning Team Prepares for Colorado.

There is to be something doing this morning at chapel in the way of a football rally. Only two days until the Colorado game, so come out and get your vocal cords tuned up for the occasion.

The football spirit is getting well under way and if every one will only do his share in keeping it up and pushing a good thing along, Nebraska will soon be in a position to hold up her head among the best of colleges as to spirit as well as everything else.

Be sure and come out this morning and bring your friends with you.

Last night's practice consisted of squad practice and a line-up against the scrubs. Bender was in at quarter for a short time. He is petting his ankle and does not care to do any work which will endanger a new strain. Lantz took his place and sent the team through their work with vim and snap which was good to see.

The work against the scrubs was good. Punts were exchanged during the entire practice and no plays were used.

The ends and tackles get down under Benedict's punts in a highly satisfactory manner, very seldom does the man advance the ball any distance, usually he is thrown back.

Robertson was out and went in for signal practice for a short time. His ankle is still very tender and has to be used with care. He will probably be in condition by Saturday.

Standeven, a most promising man, on the scrubs, who has been doing some good work in the nightly line-up against the 'Varsity, was given the signals last night and went in at end on the 'Varsity during part of the practice against the scrubs.

Cotton may be given a chance to kick goals in the Colorado games. He has been doing some good work in that line for the past two or three nights.

The one feature of the team's work at present which stands out above all else, is their speed. No time is lost in lining up, the signals being given during the operation. They seem to grow faster and faster every moment and their surety in handling the ball when going their fastest is just as great as when the pace is slower.

The Colorado game on Saturday will be an eye-opener to the men from the west. If they come down here expecting to run up against a game similar to the one Nebraska played at Denver, they will be mightily mistaken. There is almost no comparison between the playing of the team now and when they were at Denver, so great is the improvement.

The expression of the students is still desired regarding the Kansas excursion as to which route would be preferable.

The game after the Colorado one will be one of the best on the schedule. Knox always puts up a strong game and will live up to her reputation this year.

Last year in the snow and mud she held Nebraska down to seven points, and put up about the prettiest game seen on the home grounds.

It is hoped that at this game and also the Colorado one the attendance will be far ahead of that of any other game this year. Make this a record breaking season as to attendance and give our winning team all the support you possibly can, the team deserves more than it can ever get.

Scrubs will play at Peru.

Next Saturday the second teams will play Peru Normal at Peru. The line-up of the team, which will depart Friday at 3 p. m., will be practically the same as last Friday's.

Clark, who formerly played fullback, has left school and will return shortly to his home in Kansas. Craig takes his place at fullback. States will probably play right end.

York High School has been trying to schedule a game, but as yet it is not known whether at satisfactory date can be arranged. Grand Island College has reorganized and is trying to schedule a game for the 14th. This date is unsatisfactory to the management of the scrubs. A number of the second team will probably take advantage of the excursion rates to Lawrence on that date, and do not care to play.

Hockey Practiced Again.

The first hockey line-up was formed Monday. But little more than attempting to learn the game has been undertaken, owing to the fact that it is entirely new to most of the players. Rapid progress is being made, however, and yesterday's game was played with a great deal of spirit. The hockey suits are expected soon and with cooler weather some fast playing is looked for. So far the game has been limited to fifteen minute halves, but they will be extended and a whole hour devoted to the game.

Dramatic Club Elects.

The Dramatic club held its first meeting Wednesday morning and elected officers as follows:

President, Miss Howell.
Vice president, Mr. Roy Hanlon.
Secretary and treasurer, Miss Grace Roper.

All committees are to be appointed by Miss Howell and some plays will be arranged for soon.

Colonel Edward Daniels, who donated a large quantity of documents bearing upon the Kansas-Nebraska slavery struggle, and upon the early anti-monopoly movement, to the Historical society, writes from his present home, in Gunston, Virginia, twenty miles from Washington, stating that a movement is on foot there to restore Gunston Hall, the ancestral home of Colonel George Mason. Mr. Mason was a member of the constitutional convention and persistently refused to sign the constitution.

Dr. M. H. Evans, of Emerson, has discovered what seems to be part of the tusks of some fossil animal and is going to present it to the museum of the University. It is about three feet long and from three to four inches in diameter and seems to have been broken off at both ends.

The Senior laws will play the Freshman laws on Saturday, Oct. 31. The Freshmen are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing material, but as they have several good men a close game may be expected.

The copies of Richter's Quellenbuch, which will be used by the class in German history, have arrived, and may be obtained at the University Book Store.

The Senior laws are mourning the loss of their new football, which disappeared Wednesday.

The hour for the sketch class is changed from Wednesday to Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Academy Notes.

An interesting experiment is being tried in the Academy. Mr. Will Stein, a graduate of the University, brought, during opening week, Mr. Kim Akagi, a young Japanese. Mr. Akagi has been a laborer in this country for seven years and by his industry and keenness of mind has risen to the position of foreman of a B. & M. section gang. It is affirmed by Mr. Stein that Akagi's section and monthly reports are the best on the road. Urged by his father in Japan, and aware of his needs in English and mathematics, Mr. Akagi registered for beginning algebra, English and chemistry in the Academy. What his difficulties are can hardly be imagined. In algebra he does very well, for the language of mathematics is a universal one, but in the English and chemistry classes the problem is a perplexing one to Miss Dean and Miss Hartzell. Were not Mr. Akagi's patience, cheerfulness and ambition contagious, these teachers would despair. The results so far, however, are encouraging and the principal is contemplating plans for a Tokio branch of the Academy.

The athletic side of Academy life is making steady gains. Fourteen girls have enrolled for basket ball and two good teams are assured. Last week the Daily Nebraskan recorded a defeat for the football team administered by the Cotner Preachers. The Academy fellows determined to kill off these preachers despite the world's crying need of good ministers. Accordingly they met them again last Friday and the score was 0 to 0. It was the old conflict of science against religion.

Miss Adele Lathrop, a graduate student of Dr. Sherman's department, and teacher of second year English in the Academy, is making a decidedly favorable impression. Her natural teaching ability in combination with unusual preparation and experience, is securing her enthusiastic support from her pupils.

Miss Corwin, the general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. for the states of North and South Dakota and Nebraska, conducted the religious exercises at Monday's chapel and gave the students a helpful address.

Meeting of Journal Club.

There will be a meeting of the Chemical Journal club Saturday at 10:30 a. m., in room 4, chemical laboratory. The program will be as follows:

Dr. Avery—Report on Berichte Journal.

Mr. Crouch—Report on Analyst Journal.

Mr. Emerson—Report on American Chemical Journal.

All interested are invited to come.

Contrary to the frequent reports that football is not conducive to good scholarship we have just been officially informed that one of our stars on the 'Varsity this year is also making a record in his studies. In French he is leading the class.

The mission class studying the Chinese situation, met in the Y. W. C. A. rooms Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. It was led by Mr. Harrison. Those present considered their time well spent. All members are urged to be present next Tuesday evening.

The observatory was open Tuesday evening and a large number of persons enjoyed an excellent view of Saturn. Next Tuesday it will be open for a view of Jupiter.

Miss Howell gave a short talk to the first year class in elocution yesterday morning on "The Dramatic Club."

CONDEMNS SOPHS

Chancellor Andrews Says Sophomores Should Desist.

Chancellor Andrews has officially expressed his disapproval of the action of the Sophomores Monday in intruding upon the Freshmen and attempting to interfere with their meeting. While his views on events of this nature are generally known, he has made no official statement in regard to this matter until yesterday, when he said in reply to a query of a Nebraskan reporter:

"I deprecate and abominate the action of the invaders, and I wish to say right here that they had better mind their own business."

In referring to the Sophomores as the invaders it is plain to see the light in which the chancellor regards them. In their assault upon the Freshmen guards it is evident that they acted against his wishes, and their conduct was all the more displeasing on account of the resistance offered to University authorities.

Prominent members of the Freshman class feel the lack of organization and the strenuous difficulties that have beset them in their attempts to carry on the business of the class. Twice has the class been called together without any of the permanent officers being elected. They feel that if they had had some University official to preside over their first meeting and a number of responsible upper classmen to assist them in keeping out the invaders, that they could have accomplished much toward class organization, instead of being at sea with no signs of succor ahead until the present time. Their chairman has been left to call a meeting and here the matter stands. For them the future is uncertain, though not as dark and forbidding as it was a week ago. It is the desire of all to have the matter brought to a point. Whether the chancellor's condemnation of the action of the Sophomores will expedite matters is uncertain, though his opinion should be respected and doubtless will be by the greater part of the class.

Some of the Sophomores still fondly cherish hopes of demoralizing the Freshmen, although it is doubtful if they will work on quite as large a scale as before. Vague rumors are flying about as to kidnapping seances. It is said that several of the Freshmen are already marked out for attack and if it is impossible to get them substitutes will be taken. This is getting back to the old style of class warfare, and serves as a reminder of old times. We have been acquainted with the names of several of the men against whom designs are said to be aimed, but withhold these from publication, as we would not give undue publicity to anyone unless we were sure of the facts of the case.

There will no doubt be trouble of some kind when the Freshmen meet to elect again, but it will hardly be of such a serious nature as that of last Monday.

The chorus did not appear at chapel yesterday, but will sing Friday morning. An extra number will be rendered.

The class in geology I met in the chapel for the first time Tuesday.
