LINE UP ON CAMPUS

Lambast the Scrubs. Some General Remarks.

The weather gods were kind last night and ceased from their weeping long enough to allow the team to practice on the campus in front of University Hall. The athletic field was very soft and could not be used.

The Varsity was out in full and also was the second team. They lined up against each other and the play was fast and furious.

The Scrubs had the ball most of the time and gave the Varsity some good, hard work.

Along towards the end of the practice Drain took Foster's place at quarterback for the Scrubs and Coach Booth went in at right half. This meant business.

Coach Booth would take the half that had the ball and send him into the line with a force which was amazing. At times the combination would shoot through the Varsity line like a cannon ball. It was excellent practice for the Varsity and showed them how it seemed to have a star man bump into them.

The rainy weather is a great handicap to the team in that it interrupts the practice, which means so much just before the hard game with Knox. They will, however, make up for lost time as soon as the weather clears up.

Graves, the promising substitute full-back, was sent to the training table yesterday.

A good many new suits are coming in now for the new men on the Varsity. The same style suit is used this year as was last. This is a union suit with a broad band of elastic about the waist. This gives freedom to the wearer and also by fitting the body snugly makes it impossible for a man running to be stopped by some one catching hold of his suit.

In speaking of the treatment received by the team at Iowa we are forced to mention some very unpleasant things—one in particular.

In going to and from the hotel to the grounds the team was pelted with mud and stones by small boys along the roadside. A good many of the Iowa students were on the streets and saw this happen, but made absolutely no move to stop it.

No team ever received such treatment here, and should anyone start such a movement every loyal University student should lend his assistance to stop it.

When a visiting team is here that team is practically the guest of the whole University and it is the business and duty of the students to see that every possible courtesy is extended to that team while it is here. Nothing else is such a good promoter of healthy athletics.

Also Iowa made it a point to do all in their power to raise as big a din as possible when Nebraska had the ball so that the players could not hear the signals. This is hardly football etiquette. If your team can not win by straight football let them loose and still keep their good reputation. A dirty game won is a reputation lost.

Let the students here and especially the leaders of the rooting squads, remember not to give their yells while signals are being given. As soon as the ball is put in play then make all the noise possible, the more the better. But when the other side, as well as our own, has the ball, give them every legitimate chance in the world—a true sportsman is known by the amount of courtesy he extends to his opponent. Let us all, in this sense of the definition, be true sportsmen.

Manager Buckner says that all details for the Kansas game have been arranged. The officials have been chosen and are entirely satisfactory to both sides, so that there will be no delay on that score.

Has everyone that is going registered for the trip? The time is drawing near and it will be well to hurry up.

Take careful notice of the article which appears in another column of this paper regarding the Knox and Illinois games.

NOTED LECTURER.

Prof. Joseph Jastrow of Wisconsin Will Lecture Here.

Prof. Joseph Jastrow, professor of psychology in the University of Wisconsin, will lecture here on November 24th. Professor Jastrow is one of the most noted psychologists in the field today and the news that he will lecture here is received with interest by those who are acquainted with his work and especially by those who have had the privilege of meeting and hearing him.

He is a man of rare literary ability and has lectured widely in this country. His recent book, entitled, "Facts and Fables in Psychology," created quite a sensation when it was first published, and is regarded as the best treatment of the subject of telepathy, including spiritualism and legerdemain, before the public today.

He will deliver some lectures before the psychology class and will speak at chapel on November 24th, as mentioned above. His subject will be "The Sub-Conscious," and it is a privilege to us all to have the opportunity of hearing such a splendid exposition of the subject as is promised.

Y. W. C. A. Meeting.

On account of the rain Sunday afternoon the Y. W. C. A. meeting, which was in charge of Miss Allene McEachron, was not as well attended as it otherwise would have been. Miss Griffith, in her customary earnestness, gave an instructive talk on the need of the spirit of missions in the Christian character. Miss Mildred Clark reviewed the environments and influences of Lake Geneva in a pleasing manner and doubtless inspired in many of her hearers a desire to spend "ten days on the mountain top with God." Miss Shinbur treasurer, made a few well chosen remarks concerning the financial standing and needs of the association. The meeting closed with all present feeling that they had been much benefitted.

A New Inter-Fraternity.

Sigma Omicron Beta, a new inter-fraternity club, composed of a few members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta and Beta Theta Pi, has issued invitations to a dance to be given by them at Walsh hall Wednesday evening, November 11. Some fifty couples have been invited to enjoy the hospitality of this latest Greek letter addition to the University.

Dr. Gerig Writes From Paris.

C. B. Cornell has received a letter from Dr. J. L. Gerig, who is now in Paris. Mr. Gerig is staying at l'Hotel Jacob, a place of much historical interest, which is supposed to have been the abode of the semi-historical D'Artagnan and his three friends. This is where Dumas has located many of the important scenes of the well known trilogy, "The Musketeers," in which D'Artagnan is the leading character.

SUPPORT NEEDED

Unless it is Forthcoming Coach Booth Will Leave Next Year.

Developments have taken place in the football situation, which are of such a character as to make the united support of the student body necessary to the future welfare of football at this University. Unless the University people and others turn out and make the games with Knox and Illinois a success financially, the probabilities are that Coach Booth will not be with us another season. There is certainly not a member of our faculty, student body or alumni who would not feel a deep regret to hear that Coach Booth even contemplated leaving, and the present is the time and opportunity for each to work on as large a scale as possible to preclude any likelihood of losing our famous coach, by not supporting the team.

In speaking of the matter Dr. Condra, chairman of the Athletic association, said:

"This institution will not be able to keep Coach Booth another year unless greater interest is shown in the games with Knox and Illinois. The students should all turn out to these two big games, and do their share towards putting the association on a good financial footing. The receipts from these games must be sufficient to enable the board of control to meet the expenses for this year."

This statement coming from so high an official as Dr. Condra shows plainly that there is no possibility of a doubt, but that Coach Booth will go elsewhere unless the proper support is forthcoming.

It is to be hoped that the students will take this matter to heart and do all in their power to help things along. We don't intend to let Coach Booth go, as long as it is within our power to keep him, and indeed it is within our power to keep him. If each student will only take an active part and talk up football among the people of Lincoln and seek to interest all whom they can, then a comfortable assurance could be felt that the two great games of the season will receive all the support that could be desired.

Let each strive to point out all with whom he may come into contact the responsibility entailed by this important university function, in which in the case of Knox and Illinois the whole state is interested. And let each bear in mind that the schedule for next year depends in a large measure upon the support tendered to these two games.

Hence there are two very important considerations to hold in mind. Some students can not attend either or one of these games because they haven't the money to spare. No undue sacrifice is asked from anyone. Let each student do what he can, and there are several ways in which each can render efficient service. In fact students are urged to write home to their home papers, describing the situation in an interesting light as possible and seeking to do justice to the full significance of these games. In this way the people of the state will take more than a passive interest, and with many this interest will be of such a character as to prompt them to attend one or both of these games.

We can't let Coach Booth go. What would football here seem like, anyhow? if we were to lose him. It lies within the power of the student body and the faculty to preclude all possibility of his going. Any institution should be proud to support such a team as we have, and there is no reason why we shouldn't or can't. So once more let us urge each student to take a personal interest in this matter and do all in his power to keep the management clear of financial embarrassment.

Basket Ball Practice.

Considerable interest is now being shown in basket ball, and a fair-sized squad of players was out for practice last night. The men have all been showing marked development. According to Dr. Clapp's statement the new men who have appeared are showing up well, and the old men are playing faster than ever. Two promising candidates have recently appeared, in Hagensick, who played on the Varsity team two years ago, and Raymond, a member of the Lincoln High School team last year. The present month will be devoted entirely to practice, and all the men will in that time be given sufficient opportunity to prove their quality.

No games will be scheduled until after December 1st. The first games will be played with local teams, and the heavier games will be played later on, when the team is well organized and in the best condition it is capable of attaining. About twenty men have shown up thus far, but more are wanted to come out. All students who have had previous experience in playing basket ball are urged to come out and practice.

Correspond For Japanese Paper.

Yashichiro Yamashita will correspond for a Tokio, Japan, paper from the Louisiana Purchase exposition. Recently he made a trip to St. Louis to look up matters, and expects to correspond regularly when the fair opens up in earnest. Tokio is his native city, and he has influential friends there. He corresponds regularly with the governor of the province in which Tokio is situated.

Mr. Yamashita will take his M. M. degree next semester, and will return to Japan to take up work on one of the biggest Tokio dailies. He is a graduate of Tokio University, and while at this University he has specialized in political economy.

WEATHER UNPROFITIOUS.

Carnival Will be Delayed Until Next Week.

A fitful period of sunshine yesterday morning brought the faculty members forth to view the smiling aspect of the sky and to meditate on an immediate session to proclaim that the Athletic Carnival should be held as soon as preparations could be made for it. But the clouds overshadowed all their glad hopes and anticipations, bringing disappointment and sadness and dispelling the general feeling of rejoicing that had prematurely run rampant. Time after time yesterday afternoon faculty members mournfully descended the of the main hall to gaze longingly upwards for some rift in the clouds that might betoken a general clearing off. But as often as they came they were disappointed.

When asked whether the faculty actually intended to hold their carnival at all or not a prominent professor said:

"Of course, we expect to hold the Carnival. All of us professors haven't trained for nothing. We glory as much in the triumph of athletic victory as do those of a younger generation. If Saturday is a good day we will have the Knox game postponed and hold our Carnival then."

There is, however, not much likelihood of the Carnival being held Saturday. The football men will probably need the athletic field. The meet will take place in the course of next week according to present plans and nothing will be left undone to revive interest and make it a success.
