KNOX TEAM HERE

Coach Booth Makes Statement. Faculty Rooting Squad.

Regarding the game with Knox, Coach Booth said yesterday to a Nebraskan reporter:

"We ought to beat Knox by at least two touchdowns. They are not apt to score on us, still they may. There is apt to be such a happening in any game. They scored on Wisconsin, but Wisconsin had them completely snowed under. We know very little of the team this year. It is made up almost entirely of new material. They have played very few teams of standing, so we can't judge of their strength by newspaper reports. They beat De Pauw but De Pauw isn't a team of much standing."

In regard to the condition of the team Coach Booth said:

"The boys are generally in good condition, excepting Cotton, who went home yesterday and who we hear is ill. Hunter, the substitute left guard, is also out of condition, so we will probably have to put in a green man. Wilson and Benedict are not up to their usual standard, as they have not entirely recovered from the effects of the Iowa game. On the whole, we ought to beat them considerably, as their team as certainly not as good as it was last year, and our team is just as good as it was then."

With Hunter out of the game and Cotton in poor condition the team loses some of its strength. Hunter had his shoulder injured in a scrimmage early in the week, and has not recovered sufficiently to warrant his going into tomorrow's game. Lesh will probably take his place at left guard.

The Knox team arrived in town at 10 o'clock this morning and are quartered at the Lindell. They are reported to be in the best of condition and ready for the battle. Although our team is not in the best of condition we expect to see them defeat Knox decisively.

The team went out to the state farm yesterday evening for secret practice, and were put through the final evolutions in shaping up for the Knox game. Despite the fact that two of the heaviest men may be out of the game, they expect to beat Knox handily. The game with Iowa had a disastrous effect upon some of the players but Nebraska's line-up today will be strong.

Members of the faculty met in the law lecture room yesterday and organized a Faculty Rooting squad, at the suggestion of Dr. Cook. The faculty feel that an impetus should be given to the rooting and have taken upon themselves the duty of supplying all deficiencies. Under the leadership of Dr. Pound they will raise a din that will cause the slates to rattle on the roof of University hall. This action of the faculty evidences the highest spirit of enthusiasm and they are deserving of great praise for the step that they are taking.

A section of the seats in the grandstand will be reserved for the members of the squad and their wives. Those in the squad will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon for further organization and practice, in the law lecture room, 207 University hall.

All faculty members are requested to be present with megaphones. Tickets admitting to the grandstand will be distributed at this time.

Following is Nebraska's line-up: Borg, center; Perry and Cotton, left guard; Lesh, right guard; Si Mason and Robinson, tackles; Wilson, right end; Benedict, left end; Bell, right half; Eager, left half; Bender, quarter; G. Mason, fullback. Pixley of Omaha will referee and Hoagland of Chicago will be umpire.

WILL OPEN MONDAY.

Fall Term of Agricultural School Opens Monday.

The first term of the School of Agriculture at the state farm opens Monday. Registration will begin Monday morning and will probably last until Tuesday evening. The prospect for a large registration seems much better than ever before, although last year was an exceptionally good one.

During the present week prospective students have been coming in and making preparations for getting settled. Interest in the work at the farm is increased on account of the splendid new buildings that are in progress of erection there, or soon will be. By the beginning of next year the facilities will be enhanced to a large degree, as a splendid period of expansion will take place during the course of the present year.

The courses offered embrace every subject necessary to the education of any student intending to make farming occupation. There are six departments, which are as follows: Agriculture, Animal Husbandry, Horticulture, Animal Pathology, Dairying and Domestic Science.

For the first time in the history of the school of agriculture, work is offered for farmers' daughters in domestic science. The course includes instruction in cookery and household economics, besides work in mathematics, English, physics, chemistry, botany and physical training. The work in cookery, household economics and physical training are given at the University. The other classes recite at the University farm.

The school of agriculture is designed to train young men and women for greater usefulness on the farm. It also furnishes a partial preparation for those who desire to enter the technical agricultural group in the University, the full preparation being given by a year of preparatory work in addition to that offered in the three years' course.

The school year is divided into two terms of twelve weeks each. The first term opens November 9, 1903, and closes January 29, 1904. The second term opens February 1, 1904, and closes April 23, 1904.

Work on several of the new buildings is well under way, and by next spring the appearance of things will be greatly altered. The dairy barn is now practically completed. It is a structure 70x150 feet, costing, approximately, $9,000. The shops are now well along in course of construction and the foundation of the horticultural building has been laid. Its dimensions are 73x102 feet, and the cost will be about $6,000. The agricultural building will be soon be started. It will cost $60,000. The site for this building has been selected and plotted out.

Y. M. C. A Sunday Meeting.

The second in the series of big Men's meetings to be held in the Oliver theatre Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, will be held next Sunday. Mr. M. C. B. Mason, the colored orator of national repute, will occupy the platform, and will say something to men which will be worth coming a long distance to hear. Mr. Mason's power of presenting a subject, together with the keen interest which he has in men, will make his address especially strong. He is secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. church, and is highly respected throughout its rank and file.

Mrs. H. Finley Helms, who needs no introduction to music lovers of the city, will furnish the music. This feature of the meeting will make it doubly strong.

Men of the city are very cordially urged to avail themselves of this treat. Meeting under the auspices of the University and city Y. M. C. A. societies.

Seniors Hold Meeting.

The Senior hat and cane committee had a meeting of the Senior boys called at chapel this time yesterday morning, for the purpose of selecting a Senior cap and cane. Two sample caps, one a Turkish funnel with a tassel, and a black cap, were shown by the committee. Neither cap suited the fine tastes of the Seniors, and the committee was instructed to secure samples of hats. Seven samples of canes were exhibited, but none seemed to be suitable and a motion was made to get higher grade samples, and an amendment that they be heavy, loaded canes. Another meeting will be held Monday at 10 a. m.

Prof. Fogg in Omaha.

Professor Fogg was one of the judges of the debate last night at the Krountz Memorial church, Omaha, between the Chicago and the Omaha high school debating teams. The other judges were C. J. Smith, ex-attorney general, and Lawyer Crawford of Omaha. Superintendent Pease presided. Before the debate Professor Fogg gave an address on "Suggestions to High School Debaters." The instruction in argumentation and debate at the Omaha high school is in charge of C. M. Bracelen, Nebraska '02.

On account of Professor Fogg's absence the debate in English 15, set for yesterday afternoon, was postponed until the first of next week.

Printed in Pamphlet Form.

Mr. J. W. Crabtree's speech, delivered before the recent meeting of Nebraska superintendents and principals in their association meeting here on "Business Men's Criticisms of the Public Schools," has just been published in pamphlet form, and copies are being mailed to superintendents and principals all over the state. Mr. Crabtree is a man of experience in school affairs and through his official capacity as high school inspector is brought into intimate touch with not only the managements of the various schools throughout the state, but constantly meets business men and those interested in our public schools. More than this, Mr. Crabtree recently mailed questions to business men all over the state in regard to school matters and from their answers has collected a great deal of material, which, together with his own suggestions, makes this article an invaluable bit of information for anyone engaged in managing schools.

Hurt in Gymnasium.

While turning a hand-spring yesterday in the 3 o'clock gym class, James Searle tumbled off the mat in such a way as to light on his head. He was stunned from the bruise and was for a time in a semi-unconscious state. Dr. Reynolds was called and found the injury less serious than was at first supposed. He was assisted to his room and expressed himself as feeling better.
