

APPOINTS BOOK COMMITTEE

President Elliott Names Editors of Senior Annual

The Seniors met yesterday morning in U. 106, and the appointments for the Senior Annual were announced. They are as follows: Editor-in-chief, Calvin H. Taylor, assistant editor; A. B. Keyser and Miss Abba Bowen; associate editors, Dwight Pierce, Emma Lambur, Grace Evans, Nell Cronin, Helen Sreeter, Ethel Erford, Nettie Burlingame and Fred J. Pritchard.

The question as to whether or not to have a class play was raised. There seemed to be some objections to it on the ground that some $300 is involved in it, all of which under present conditions would have to be borne by the class. Nor was this the only objectionable feature. It is claimed that with the free ticket system more or less confusion has always arisen about seats and many would rather pay for their seat and then be sure of it than hold a free ticket and be turned away. President Elliott was instructed to appoint a special committee to look into the matter, to confer with the chancellor and if necessary with the regents.

Debating was next discussed and inter-class debating heartily endorsed by the class. President Elliott will appoint a debating squad to represent the Seniors in these debates.

The Pin Committee gave its report and exhibited a number of sample pins for the inspection of the class.

Neil Cronin reported on class orator, but owing to the shortness of time it was necessary to adjourn before any action could be taken. The unfinished business will be taken up at another meeting in the near future.

Chicago-Omaha Debate

The Chicago-Omaha high school debate, which took place at Omaha Friday evening, was won by Chicago, for whom two of the three judges voted. The visitors were in Professor Fogg's opinion more effective in refutation especially. With preparing the Omaha team for the contest, C. M. Braclen, Nebraska '02, who is head of the department of history, had practically to do. He has not yet taken up that part of his work. There is already exceptional interest at Omaha in debate. Eight or nine hundred people crowded the Kountze Memorial church. The hearty applause given the good work of the visitors was a noteworthy pleasant feature of the contest.

Maxwells Adopt Constitution.

The Maxwell Debating club met last Friday night and adopted a new constitution. This was necessitated by the fact that the old constitution is lost. A notable thing about the new constitution is that to become an active member of the club the candidate is required to sign the constitution, whereas the University calendar provides that all law students are members of the Maxwell club. The matter was reconciled by the argument that the calendar conforms to the constitution, rather than that the constitution will have to conform with the calendar. After a spirited parliamentary drill the question, "Resolved, That illiterate persons should not be allowed to vote" was debated.

Class Football.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Seniors and Juniors will meet on the gridiron in full array to contest for honors. Each class believes that it has a winning team and each team needs the support of its whole class. Let the rooting squads be on hand and make it a contest of voices as well. Come out to see which wins.

Faculty Will Go to Kansas

Eighteen members of the faculty will go to Kansas Saturday. By the volume of noise which they made at the Knox game we feel sure that their presence will be a great aid to the rooters.

The "Mission Social" Saturday night at Professor Hodgman's home was a decided success. Mrs. Velte, a missionary from India, gave a short address. She depicted the immensity of the mission field and the dire need for more workers. Mrs. Velte's little boy was dressed in an Indian costume and sang a song in the Hindoo language. After light refreshments were served Paul W. Harrison made a few remarks concerning the reasons why one should take mission study.
