Editorial Remarks

This evening our basket ball team team will play its first game, and it is indeed desirable that it should start the season with a victory. The Wesleyan aggregation is a strong one, and has already given an indication of its strength within our own territory The game tomorrow night will be vigorously played; hence a fitting attraction will be presented with which to open the season. It will be certainly an exciting athletic event and merits a large attendance

The matter of regular attendance at the convocation exercises can not be emphasized too strongly. It is safe to say in the outset that there is no equal period that the student will find more beneficial in the long run than the half hour spent at these exercises. Perhaps many are not aware that there is a regular committee in charge of the chapel exercises and some of their best efforts are given to providing attractions daily which shall be entertaining as well as highly instructive. Those who have been attending chapel will agree that the committee has been entirely successful in its efforts. The speakers who appear are masters of their subjects, and treat such subjects as all ought to be informed upon. They give you an insight in the course of a few minutes into what would ordinarily take extensive investigation for you to dig out for yourself. Any one who has not been attending convocation should cultivate a habit of going at once, not so much for the good of the cause as for his own good. The musical attractions are of an especially high order and merit a large attend-

At the Sophomore class meeting yesterday morning a number of statements were made which were either intended to give false impressions or else grew out of a misunderstanding. While we do not undertake to condemn anyone, we feel that it is our duty to correct a number of impressions attempted to be conveyed concerning The Nebraskan. It was stated that The Nebraskan had not in the first place been authorized to advertise the price of the Sophomore Hop as being a dollar, and that we, although being requested, had failed to announce that the price had been raised to $1.50. In this connection it was said that it had been intended all along to charge $1,50, but that we, acting without authority, had set the price at $1.00. Although this explanation was officially accepted, it did not give entire satisfaction to the class.

Now in the first place, there was nothing to warrant the price being raised to $1.50-a point which we do this week.-F. A. Powell, Oliver Thenot believe was explained. If $1.00 atre building.

had been charged all expenses would have been covered, and a reasonable profit left for the officials in charge of affairs. But overlooking this all-important fact, let us consider the statements that were made. The card advertising the hop that first appeared in our columns was written by one of our staff at the dictation of one of the two leading officials of the Sophomore Hop committee, and $1.00 was the price stated. The card appeared just as dictated, with no variations whatever. But after it had run in one issue, we were requested to leave it out for a while, being informed that the price 'might" be raised. This we did and upon special request inserted the card later without announcing any price. presuming that nothing was wrong. The evening before the Hop occurred we were requested to announce that the price had been raised to $1.50 this being the first intimation that we had had that such definite action had been decided upon. Hence, we did not willfully or even actually conceal until the last moment the fact that the price had been raised, as alleged.

This is our explanation, and we think it will stand. We have no desire to condemn anyone, as afore stated, but we want to clear away all impressions that we were mixed up in the disgraceful victimizing of the Sophomore class. Whatever directions were given in regard to advertising the affair we carried out to the letter, and can certainly be excused from the absurd attempts to lay any responsibility what-

Y. W. C. A. Xmas Service.

The last Y. W. C. A. meeting of the of holly were provided for all who attended. Miss Allene McEachron favored the audience with a vocal solo. Miss Myra Withers then addressed the meeting and in her charming manner brought home to every girl the real meaning of Christmas time, which she said," was a giving time, the whole glad earth around.'

Miss Van Zandt took charge of the 'recognition service," in which over twenty girls were formally received into the association.

Hour of Liederkranz Changed.

Professor Fossler announces that the University Liederkranz, which has heretofore met Mondays during the convocation period for rehearsal, will after the Christmas vacation meet Wednesdays at 1:15 p. m. This change it is hoped will enable more to take advantage of the German song service, which is so ably conducted by Mrs. Raymond. They horus is already large but there is still room for more, and the management is desirous that as many as can will come out to these re-The songs practiced and hearsals. sung are German national hymns, to know which is a privilege that all who have any knowledge of German should avail themselves of. The chorus, as stated above, will meet Wednesdays at 1:15, beginning after the holidays. This will not confuct with class meetings and other affairs which formerly conflicted with the Liederkranz's time for practice.

Chancellor Andrews contributes an article to the last "Independent," on Eastern and Western College Students." Dr. Andrew's estimate of the two lives is clear and appreciative and should prove interesting reading for college men throughout the country. His regard for western men is especially gratifying to Nebraskans.

A new castiron pedestal has been received in the machine shop for an emery wheel stand. This will be equipped with polishing emery wheels for the use of the class in mechanical engineering 4.
