DR. JORDAN HERE

President of Leland Stanford a Guest of Dr. Ward.

President David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, who is just returning from Washington, D. C., will stop off at the University today, and if he arrives in time will address the students of the zoology department at 11:30. Dr. Jordan stops off at Lincoln to transact some scientific business with Dr. Ward, whose guest he will be during his stay in the city.

Dr. Jordan's subject before the zoology department will be "The Opportunities for the Scientific Man in the Government Service," and as this is perhaps the only opportunity University people will have of hearing the president of the great western University, a general invitation is extended to hear him at this time. It is a privilege no one should fail to avail himself of. Dr. Jordan is today one of the most prominent men in the educational world and as a scientist he ranks very high. He is also an authority on fish and seal fisheries, and his report of the Alaskan Fish Commission submitted to the government, embraces several volumes. Besides all his interests in his official capacity Dr. Jordan finds time to write and is the author of numerous books. His children's stories are widely read and are considered very choice. He is a man of large physique as well as mental capacity, and as a public speaker is considered very entertaining.

DEBATING NOTES.

What Other Colleges are Doing. No Reply From Kansas.

Up to yesterday evening no reply had been received from Kansas in response to the last letter of inquiry sent Wednesday by our Board of Control.

The championship of the Central Debating League will be fought out at Chicago by Michigan and Northwestern on April 8.

Michigan is jubilant over winning from Minnesota by unanimous decision in the face of confessed prejudice, against their side, by all three judges.

At Illinois the interest in debate this year is the greatest in the history of the University. The audience at the Illinois debate was the largest ever known at a debate there.

The Kansas-Colorado debate takes place at Boulder; the Kansas-Missouri debate at Lawrence. Both these contests Kansas won last year, Nebraska being the only team that lowered the colors of the Jayhawkers.

For the Minnesota debate Iowa picks her team tonight. At Iowa there is an epidemic of student squabbles this year, the latest, apparently, being one over the judges for this preliminary. The "Daily Iowan" states that over ten names have been suggested by the societies which have got control of that contest and that all have so far been refused.

On the inter-state debate bulletin board appears the recent number of the University of Chicago "Maroon" containing the picture of Cecil North, '02, whom Chicago appointed as one of her three representatives in the Central Debating League contest with Northwestern, an appointment which brought him great honor, and, incidentally, $170.

Palladian Debate.

The Palladian Debating club will meet next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock sharp, and the advisability of discontinuing the Monroe Doctrine will be thoroughly thrashed out by men who have had much experience in diplomatic affairs, who can orate, indulge in logomachy, or sit quietly in their seats during the bombastic onslaught are cordially invited to attend without regard to age, rank or class distinction.

The lively meeting last Saturday evening infused a contentions spirit among the logicians and the heavy air that shrouded the early part of the meeting was pierced by the heavy volleys of rhetoric and the exhibition of correct reasoning. The seemingly undeniable facts exposed by one side were butted into and denounced by the other. The preponderance of evidence swayed from side to side until the best informed minds were unable to judge which side of the question they believed.

Come out and catch the fever of this debating spirit and be a participant in the ejaculations.

"NEBRASKA MANHOOD"

Interesting Subject at Men's Mass Meeting Sunday.

"Nebraska Manhood" is the subject that will be discussed at the men's mass meeting to be held at the Oliver theatre Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. F. L. Willis, general secretary of the Omaha Y. M. C. A., will be the speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Willis is well known to a large number of the students at the University. He is well known as a platform speaker, being in continual demand in the big Christian conferences and conventions in the various parts of the country. He is a big man, with a big heart, a big voice and a big message for college men. A large number of University men are taking advantage of these mass meetings from Sunday to Sunday, and are receiving unmeasured benefit therefrom. A most cordial invitation is extended to those men who have been missing these meetings to come and give them a trial. These are opportunities which no college man can afford to miss, and the time spent in this way will be exceedingly remunerative.

Mr. Jules Lombard, of Omaha, will sing, among other songs, "I'm a Child of the King." Mr. Lombard is a veteran of the civil war. He is a man weighing 250 pounds, with long flowing locks of white hair, which tell of a long seventy years of service. His remarkable voice has lost none of the sweetness of his early manhood, when it counted for so much to the boys in blue behind prison walls during the war of the rebellion, when he and his brother, now deceased, used to visit the prisons with their melodies.

"Saved by race," will be sung by Messrs. Lombard and Willis, the latter of whom has a voice of no mean quality.

Attend the Frank Roberson lecture on "China" next Monday night at St. Paul's church. Tickets, 25 cents. Illustrated by stereopticon.

Board $2.50 per week at the Good Health Cafe.

Box of cigars given away every day at Powell's, Oliver theatre building.

IS A GOOD CHANCE

Five Men Can Be Given Education and Position

The following letter may be interesting to University students, containing as it does an opportunity for a good position after taking the course of instruction offered:

Chancellor E. B. Andrews, State University, Lincoln, Nebraska.

"My Dear Chancellor: I believe our representative at Lincoln, Mr. H. H. Loughbridge, spoke to you in regard to our Summer School of Life Assurance, to be held in New York beginning July 1st, 1904, also our vice president, Mr. Tarbell, has written you, and I now write to you again to that end, that you will secure from the State University for us say five young men about twenty-five years of age, who have in whole or in part worked their way through college. The conditions are that the entire expense of the education is borne by the Equitable, all that is required of the students is the fare to and from New York. During the school their board, lodging, laundry and entertainment is all furnished by the society, and they are sent out in the various agency well equipped for the business. It is a splendid opportunity for young men, and I hope you will assist me in this, and at the same time you will be rendering a valuable assistance to these young men. Yours very truly,

"H. D. NEELY,

Here is a good chance for the right sort of men. As may be seen from the letter, independence and an ability to hustle are the desired requirements, and any man of sufficient age and experience can gain a good foothold here.
