DR. JORDAN HERE

President of Leland-Stanford Speaks at Chapel

Our University had the pleasure of entertaining Dr. David S. Jordan, who is president of Leland-Stanford University, yesterday. Dr. Jordan was en route to Peru, where he delivered an address at the State Normal yesterday evening. He came directly through to Lincoln from California. Dr. Jordan had been expected here several weeks ago to deliver an address before the medical society, but owing to a wreck he was unable to come, and he was obliged to postpone his visit here until a later date. Although he had been expected for some time his arrival in the city Tuesday evening created quite a surprise among University people.

At convocation yesterday Dr. Jordan addressed a few words to the students, in the absence of General Daggett, who failed to arrive until late. He entertained for a short time with a number of humorous stories and jokes and then congratulated the students upon their being the students of a state institution. He discussed state educational students in general, pointing out the fact that the equipment in such schools is far superior to others, and that private institutions in order to maintain their standing in the educational world must offer something entirely different and specialize upon it. The State University deals with a much greater variety of courses and has behind it the people of the state with great financial support.

Dr. Jordan is a man of fine physique and carries himself with the greatest ease. His general appearance and mode of delivery are pleasing and he held the close attention of his audience throughout his entire discourse.

Accompanied by Dr. Wolcott, he visited the different branches of the scientific department. He took special interest in these, as he himself is a scientist of great note. He expressed himself as pleased with the busy appearance of everything here and complimented the work that our University was doing. He said that it was perfectly evident that our scientific department was not only strong and well equipped, but that the work was pushed in all directions. The work of the zoological department, through its thoroughness and range, struck him forcibly, and he spoke in high terms of the general conditions and the laboratory work. He was greatly interested in the zoological department, as he is a zoologist himself, and Dr. Ward is a personal friend of his and an acquaintance of long standing.

He also visited the medical, geology and botany departments, and expressed himself greatly pleased and surprised at the advanced order of conditions there. He spoke before the Medical society and one of Dr. Bessey's classes in botany. He thought well of our medical course, and of the progress made in the department.

Chancellor Andrews entertained at luncheon at the Lincoln hotel for Dr. Jordan, General Daggett, Commandant Chase and Dr. Wolcott. Dr. Jordan left at 1 o'clock for Peru, after speaking in high terms of his entertainment and expressing his pleasure at having an opportunity to visit our University.

THE BAND CONCERT

Cadet Band Will Give Concert February 29th

The University cadet band will give its regular quadrennial concert at the Oliver theatre, on the evening of February 29th, 1904.

University spirit should pervade the hearts of the students, one and all, and cause them to turn out en masse to show beyond the shadow of a doubt their appreciation of the talent and ability of which the band is composed. Close, critical observers have given the band of this university very high compliments, and the close attention to practice and application to study which has enabled its members to place the organization upon such a high plane should receive an unquestionable show of appreciation and approval.

The University band is at present composed of forty members under the leadership of Prof. August Hagenow. Its services have been given without compensation on innumerable occasions of University functions. It has turned out as a body at almost every football game and added enthusiasm, college spirit and public interest to the affairs held on the University campus.

Its presence during football and baseball games has caused the University of Nebraska to receive enthusiastic praise and complimentary comment from visitors who betook the character of the organization as an index to the University life and general character.

Aside from things connected with the regular curriculum it is the most important organization of the University; occupies a larger place in the public mind of the patrons of the University and constitutes the most necessary complement to all public exercises and sports of the University.

For these and many other reasons, the concert on February 29, a date none can forget, should be one grand ovation and event of appreciative enthusiasm for the good work and efficiency of the University Cadet band.

Faculty People Entertained

All of the members of the Faculty Women's club were entertained with their husbands yesterday by Chancellor and Mrs. Andrews at their home, 1410 Q street. The ladies were entertained in the afternoon, and the gentlemen were invited from 5:30 to 7 p. m. The occasion was elaborate in every detail, the whole house being opened up in generous hospitality to the entertainment of the faculty ladies and their husbands. The decorations, which were scarlet and cream roses downstairs and pinks and tulips upstairs, were tastefully and attractively arranged. Downstairs dinner was served and upstairs ice cream and cake. The Misses Howells, Puffer, Dean, Pound, Frankish and Evelyn Gear and Frankie Gear served refreshments. About one hundred and fifty guests were present. This is one of the most pleasant and elaborate social functions of the season, and one in which all found unusual enjoyment.

The noon meetings of the Y. W. C. A. for the week beginning February 16, will be in charge of Miss Anna Van Zandt, who will give extracts from Gordon's "Quiet Talk on Power." All who can, are urged to come the first day and each day as promptly at 12:20 as possible in order that the connection may not be lost, for the running sequence will be very essential to the help and enjoyment to be derived from these readings.

Union Shining Parlor, 1018 O St. Chairs and ladies and gentlemen.

PLAY 'EM TONIGHT

Basketball Team Will Meet the Omaha Y. M. C. A. Club

The basket ball management has signed a game with the Omaha Christians to take the place of Highland Park College tomorrow night. Omaha defeated the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. by a decisive score a couple of weeks ago, so they are certain that they can do the same thing to our team. As this will be the last game before the team's departure on the northern trip every student should turn out, especially since our team is to play four hard games, one of them with a team we have never defeated. We know that the interest does not attach to this game that does to a regular college game, but still it will be as close a game as this season's schedule promises, and will be well worth seeing. If a desire to encourage our team will not pull a crowd, perhaps a good game may do so. On the trip our men will see big crowds and they can not fail to draw odious comparisons between college spirit in the north and college spirit in Nebraska.

Before the game and between halves our second team will play Wesleyan. This will be the second team's first appearance in public, and it will be picked from these men. Newton, Noyes, Mellick, Mathewson, Krake, Miller, Tyner, Lott and Hammill, who played such a star game for the Y. M. C. A. last year, and who has just registered in the University.

Entries for Charter Day closed last night. No other fraternities than those mentioned yesterday have entered. It is very important that the names of the teams should be handed in also. Only one fraternity did this. The Phi Gamma Delta team consists of Sunderlin, Miller, Lott and Cramer. The preliminaries for all the contests will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30, the Highland Park ladies' game being declared off.

University people who have not seen the faculty basket ball team at practice have a great treat in store for them. A power is given into our faculty that we common mortals do not have—they can do two things at a time, and not only that, but they can do them well. Dr. Engberg is the wit of the distinguished group, and all the while the ball is passing swiftly back and forth he keeps up a constant flow of jokes—faculty jokes, and we refer all Freshmen to Prof. Barber for information as to their grade. The Nebraskan reporter withstood five or six of them, but when the distinguished professors, justly famous "Two-stones with one bird," joke came forth, the reporter turned tail and ran. In truth, his is a Scandinavian wit, as Dr. Clements puts it.

But if Dr. Engberg is the wit of the crowd, Mr. Congdon surely wins the laurel wreath for beauty, and all Uni. people may be glad that he knows it, and displays his Apollo-like form to the best of advantage.

A UNIVERSITY SERVICE

Special Service Next Sunday—Chancellor Andrews to Speak

A service absolutely new in this institution, and one that should be of deep interest to every man and woman in the University, will be held in the chapel next Sunday evening, February 14th, at 7 o'clock. The service is known as a "Vesper Service," lasting but one hour, and addressed by Chancellor Andrews. In some of the older institutions of the country, this service is one that calls forth the entire student body, and holds an honored place in the traditions of the institution.

It is a distinctively college meeting, and is meant to take the place of the church service on the appointed evening. Those who are in the habit of attending services in the city churches are urged to be in this University service next Sunday evening, and in this small way show their respect and admiration for the services and character of our chancellor. Let every college student take advantage of this opportunity to attend a University event which is free from all partisanship and the like.

Special music has been provided, and as the meeting will last but one hour it is expected that the chapel will be filled with loyal University students.

Further Communication.

The military department has received further details concerning the cadet encampment at the St. Louis fair this summer. The barracks will be very advantageously placed in a prominent part of the grounds, with quick and easy access to any of the most important buildings. The exposition authorities are in receipt of requests for space from schools all over the country. Camping facilities will be furnished for from five to ten days. There will often be more than 2,000 troops in camp.

During the encampment of the University battalion, from June 6 to 16, the Inter-Scholastic and Olympian games will be held daily. These will form a part of the great Olympian revival which promises to form so prominent a feature of the fair. This period will be largely devoted to Inter-Scholastic baseball.

Seventeen colleges and universities have already arranged to send cadets to the fair, and new applications are coming in daily. The University is to be congratulated on securing a good date for the encampment, as they are all practically filled by this time.

New Members of Pershings

Regular drill tonight at 7:15 sharp. The following members will straighten up their affairs within one week or be subject to dishonorable discharge: Case, Crazier, Hershey, Krajicek, Miller, Ross, Scott, Smith, Shallenberger.

The following are dropped in good standing: Guthrie, Laffer.

The applications of the following men for Pershing Rifles have been approved and they will obtain leggings and report for drill Thursday evening: Orcutt, Westover, Manning, Rohrer, Kendall, Lott, Hill, Elmendorf, Murphy, Rush, Raber, Moser, Flake.

Other applicants will report and drill as recruits.

About 1,700 men attended the meeting addressed by Fred B. Smith in the Oliver theatre last Sunday afternoon, there being scarcely standing room left. In every respect, this was the greatest meeting ever held in the city, and brought many lasting and important results. One hundred men decided at this meeting to lead a Christian life from that hour. Nothing but praise for Mr. Smith can be heard on every side.

Prof. Hodgman has been elected chairman of the sidewalk committee of the City Improvement society. The other members of this committee are Rev. Lewis Gregory, Prof. C. A. Robbins, M. J. Waugh of the Lincoln Paint and Color Co., and John E. Miller of the firm of Miller & Paine. If University people have complaints forthcoming regarding the condition of our sidewalks, now is the time to let the committee know of it.

Special rate to students at Hendry's.

Lincoln Local Express, 11th and N. Tel. 787. Baggage hauled.

Sam's Cafe. The only place in the city to get the famous "Little Gem Hot Waffles." Special service for ladies.
