Doc Bixby at Convocation.

The people who attended chapel yesterday morning felt fully paid for their time when they were given such a humorous treat as the program committee had prepared for them. The entertainers for the occasion were Dr. Bixby, the poet philosopher of the State Journal, and Miss Retz, of Drake University, a graduate of the Boston School of Expression.

Mr. Bixby needed no introduction and began in a humorous way to express his gratitude for the opportunity of an appearance and to offer a few apologies for never being able to appear at his best.

After these preliminary remarks he told a few good stories of a man whose tongue worked on a pivot and was greased at both ends, so that words glided from them like cels through a greased auger hole. And the wise mathematician who knew so much, yet how little. Then he started off on a rhythmic tour and led the audience into his deep laid channel of entire humor.

When he finished these verses of ironic comedy he introduced the one who, he said, would furnish the "better half" of the program, Miss Retz.

Miss Retz rendered some comical selections, which were indeed very humorous, and given in an excellent impersonation. The spirit of the boys was well portrayed in connection with the "Mustard Plaster." She intended to give but one recitation, but the crowd was so pleased by the reading that she favored them with another, "The Man Churning," and still another about "Love, How to Love, Where to Love, and Some Who Love Any Old Place."

The whole program was filled with humor and everybody laughed and cheered during the entire period.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

A large number of men remember with pleasure the annual banquet of the University association, which was held last year at the Lindell hotel in March. The banquet this year has been set for Tuesday evening, March 29th, at the Lindell hotel. Chancellor Andrews has kindly consented to speak. Other prominent faculty members as well as men prominent in the state and other states will also participate. The names of these speakers will be given later. Among the students men prominent in athletics, debating and other lines of University activity will lend their presence on this occasion, and the price will be 75 cents per plate. It is expected that more than two hundred men, last year's attendance, will be there. Other University organizations who would make contributions to the association work may do this by keeping the evening of March 29th open.

One of the officers of the association, is in receipt of a letter from Spencer Cortelyou, who is in the Philippine islands, enclosing $5.00 for association work as a testimony of his appreciation of what is being accomplished.

"Cort" reports that he is getting along nicely and says he expects to return to the "States" in about a year and one-half.

A similar letter was received from C. C. North, who inquired about old friends and in other ways shows his keen interest in University affairs. Mr. North has recently recovered from a three weeks' illness, but reports that he is now rapidly getting his old time health and strength.

The association is also in receipt of a letter from Turner O. Rinker, '02, now in the Philippine islands. He expects to be here to greet old friends during commencement week.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Dr. E. L. Paine, well known to University students, will address the men's meeting. Dr. Paine always has something interesting to say, and he knows how to say it. There will be good music and University men are urged to turn out and enjoy this meeting.

Miller & Paine's soda fountain man is now at Maxwells, 13th and N.
