The Chemical Journal club meets today, and reports on experiments will be made by Mr. Winchester and Mr. Keyser.

Professor Sheldon gave an interesting lecture last night at the College Settlement on "Points of Historical Interest in Nebraska." The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon views.

Mr. Davis of Hyannis, Neb., who has a large stock ranch near that place, spent Thursday evening with Mr. Barrit reviewing old times of the State University with him.

The Union club will adjourn this evening in order to attend the Maxwell-Palladian debate. The club will meet the successful team two weeks from tonight to decide the championship between the clubs.

That University of Nebraska fame is becoming wide-spread is assured by the fact that Professor Nicholson has received a letter from a student in the University of Hamburg (Germany), who writes for information with a view of taking up a course of mining and assaying here.

The Y. M. C. A. directory is out and copies of it can be obtained free at the association rooms. This handbook is a convenient thing to have and no student should neglect to get one.

If you have not paid your subscription it is time to do so. Call on the circulator or business manager.

In Society.

Miss Vivian Lee entertained a few friends yesterday afternoon at luncheon in the domestic science department.

Another of the popular Band Informals occurs tonight at the Armory. Good music provided for and a constantly improving floor should draw a big attendance. Dancing will begin at 9 p. m. sharp.

The Glee club will meet this afternoon at 4 p. m. sharp at Townsend's to have pictures taken. The regular rehearsal will be at 7 sharp in Memorial Hall and will close in time for those desiring to do so to attend the Band Informal afterwards.

Out of town men who are here for the Phi Kappa Psi dance or banquet, are: Messrs. Burkee, Shedd, Powell, Henje, E. Harris, Bedwell, Collett, Cherrington, Buckley, Brown, Callahan, F. Harris, Dumont, Engle, Douglas, Fricke, Reed, Lehmer.

May 6th has been decided upon as the date for the Glee club's Lincoln concert. The club is planning trips to a number of towns in the state and the concert at Lincoln will wind up the year. Not much has so far been heard of the Glee club, but the men have been working hard and faithfully and under the directorship of Professor Eames of the School of Music, have made great progress. Obstacles such as lack of support, lateness in beginning, absence of a leader, have all combined to delay the club's appearance, but the date of Friday, May 6th, has finally been decided upon. The concert will be given in the Oliver theatre, and already several boxes have been spoken for in advance by fraternities.

Only two weeks intervenes until the Senior Prom. The Senior part of it appears to mislead somewhat and keeps some that are not Seniors away. The Prom. is not an affair of the Senior class, but simply given by that class to others. It is, perhaps, the most representative and inclusive of all the University functions and everybody is welcome. Coming just after spring vacation, as it does, the Prom. offers the first opportunity for dancing after students have re-assembled. While the affair has been always considered full dress time has shown that owing to the warmth of the evening dress suits are often in the minority and the more comfortable less conventional clothes are worn. The committee in charge has been working hard and everything conducive to the enjoyment of those who attend will be done.
