THE NEW P. B. K.'S.

Score of Seniors Receive Recognition of Scholarship.

This morning in chapel the list of those elected to Phi Beta Kappa chapter was read, amid the demonstrations of the large throng that was assembled. The usual excitement preliminary to the annual announcement was in evidence, and now those whose hearts have been beating anxiously with expectation are glad that it is all over. The final meeting of the council was held yesterday evening, when the final decisions were made.

Doubtless many will feel disappointed because they were not honored, although they have maintained a high standard of scholarship all through their college course. However, a large per cent of the class have not had the required work, as it was the purpose of those who originally founded the chapter to prevent intense specialization along one line. There are required branches included in the list of requirements. Full work in any four of these will render a student eligible to consideration for the Phi Beta Kappa chapter. The requirements are as follows:

Ten hours of either ancient or modern languages.

Ten hours history.

Ten hours science.

Ten hours mathematics.

Six hours philosophy.

A glance at this list will show how many lose out if they are not posted on the necessary qualifications. Moral character is also taken into consideration, but it is doubtful if anyone was debarred on this account. Following is the list of fortunate ones who have achieved one of the highest honors to which a student of this university can aspire:

E. R. Buckner.

Rose Clark.

N. M. Cronin.

Bessie Dumont.

Josephine Dumont.

Ethelwyn Hand.

Maria Kern.

Lula King.

Beulah Livesey.

Patty Matthews.

Harriet Mitchell.

Addie Reynoldson.

Ira Ryner.

Anna Van Zondt.

Laura Whaley.

Laura White.

Nellore Wilson.

TRACK MEET DATES.

Arrangements Made for Two Dates. Baseballists Busy.

The dates for the Minnesota and Colorado meets have now been definitely set. The former will occur at Lincoln on Saturday, May 21, and the Colorado contest will take place at Boulder on Wednesday, May 11. An attempt was made to have it either the 13th or 14th, so that the men would not be absent from classes for the greater part of the week, but the Colorado interscholastic field meet takes place on those days, and the only thing left to do was to take a mid-week date. The South Dakota meet has already been set for May 30.

Now that the principal dates have been fixed the secondary meets will be arranged. The first one will be the regular preliminary, and April 16 has been selected as the day for that. At this time the teams will practically be picked. Following that there will be some contest every Saturday. Among the events which may be arranged are meets with the Lincoln high school, Doane college, with the winner of the state championship, and two University meets, a handicap and an inter-class.

Owing to the heavy track the hurdlers and runners could not get out yesterday afternoon, but the pole vaulters practiced in the Armory. Hagensick, Gibson and Morse are all doing well, and have cleared the ten foot mark. Benedict can do better than this by eight inches, and it is predicted that he will clear eleven feet before the season is over. This should be as good as anything Minnesota can do.

Dr. Elson, the president of the Western Inter-Collegiate Gymnastic association, has notified Dr. Clapp that Nebraska was unanimously elected to membership at the last meeting of the board. This association takes in Minnesota, Wisconsin and nearly all the other "Big Nine" schools.

Mr. Lane, assistant in the physical education department, is again ill and is forced to go to the hospital. He had just taken up his work a few days ago after an illness of a week's duration, and his many friends will be sorry to hear that he is again down.

Eckersall, the crack Chicago quarter and sprinter, on account of whose professionalism Caspar Whitney threw Chicago out of his football estimates, has at last thrown off all pretense, and joined a professional baseball team.

The Senior Prom.

The attention of the University public is again called to the Senior Prom., which is to be held at the Lincoln hotel on April 8th.

There seems to be an impression abroad that this is strictly a class affair. This is a mistaken idea. The Senior Prom., like all class dances, is intended for University people generally, but is only conducted by the Seniors. It is an opportunity for "old grads" to come back and keep in touch with the University and renew old acquaintances. It is the last class dance of the year and many people, especially those who are now in their last year, will desire to avail themselves of this last opportunity to participate in one of the most enjoyable functions of the year.

In the past this has been considered more or less formal, but in fact many of the students have signified their intention of not being deprived of the pleasure of this function on account of a mere matter of form.

The committee is prepared to entertain a large and representative University crowd. The halls, the large floor, Eddy Walt's orchestra, and long dances are features which will make this most a pleasant evening for all present.

Lincoln Local Express, 11th and N. Tel. 787. Baggage hauled.

The regular spring opening of millinery is being held at the Famous. How about that Easter hat?

MEDICS TO HOLD RECEPTION

Chancellor Andrews Will Speak at the Event.

Chancellor and Mrs. Andrews, the faculty, and students of the College of Medicine will be tendered a reception by the Medical Society of the University at Art Hall, Friday evening, April 8th.

During the early part of the evening there will be speaking by Dr. Andrews and other distinguished guests both from Lincoln and from out of town. The chancellor is but slowly recovering from his recent sickness and this will practically be his first appearance in public since his return from Chicago.

In this reception the Medical Society has a two-fold purpose, primarily as a manifestation of welcome to the chancellor, and further to promote acquaintance and good fellowship among those interested in medical work in the University.

A party of students on return from a recent visit to the Omaha department of the college, report having had a very enjoyable and profitable trip, inspecting the facilities of the institution at that place. Especially were they impressed with the methods employed in conducting clinics and by the strength in numbers and quality of the active teaching staff. Both faculty and students from Omaha will attend the reception, thereby increasing the certainty of its being one of the memorable social events of the year in University circles. Doubtless many of the guests will remain over and be visitors to our campus the following day.

Music will be furnished by Hagenow's orchestra and refreshments appropriate to the occasion will be served.

GENERAL DEBATING NEWS.

Practice Debates are Being Held. Debating Elsewhere.

Another practice preliminary debate was held yesterday afternoon from one to three o'clock in Memorial hall. The speakers on the affirmative were J. D. Brady, T. T. Johnson and R. J. Henderson. The negative side of the question was supported by B. G. Lewis, L. C. Lightner and C. A. Sawyer. The squad will meet again this afternoon. Most of the members of the squad will remain here during the recess, only three or four of them going home for the vacation.

At California there are thirty applicants for positions on the team that will meet Stanford in the annual contest. A California alumnus has offered a prize of $100 to the team if it succeeds in defeating Stanford. The preliminaries are being held in three sections, with three sets of judges.

At Cornell over one hundred students contested for the honor of representing their institution at the Central Oratorical association contest, which will be held at Delaware, O., on May 1st.

THE BAND MAY GO

Arrangements Made for Summer School Excursion to the Fair.

The work of making the next summer session a material factor in the general work of the University is being zealously pushed. Arrangements have been perfected for the excursion to the World's Fair, which will leave Lincoln June 25th, and return July 2d, and which will be open to all the students attending the summer school. Very reasonable rates have been secured, in fact the cost of attending the fair will be hardly half as much as it otherwise would be. Hotel rates of $1.50 a day have been secured. Ordinarily each person would be obliged to pay $20 to $30 per week. Fifteen dollars will cover all actual expenses of each student, which in itself would be almost enough to induce students to attend summer school even if they were not inspired with a desire for further culture and enlightenment. Only members of the faculty and registered students will be allowed to profit by these rates. Others desiring to go will have to pay advanced prices.

In all probability the band will accompany the excursion. It contemplates making a tour in the state this summer, and if it does it will be held together until the date of the excursion. If it goes it will help matters greatly. The excursion will be advertised extensively all over the state as a feature of the summer school, and it ought to be a good drawing card.

The calendar is out and presents an altogether different appearance from the usual order of summer school calendars. It is printed on better paper and all the composing work was done by hand. The variety of type gives form and tone to the book throughout, features that have been noticeably lacking heretofore. The titles of the courses have been put in bold-face type, the names of the professors in caps and the names of the faculty in connection with the courses they give have been put in large heavy capitals, and the title of the course in smaller type.

The list of the faculty takes up four pages and is longer than ever before. A general page statement follows enumerating the colleges and schools in the University, followed by a statement as to the length of the courses and the degrees. Then follows a seven page introduction over the name of Professor Hodgman, director of the Summer School, which points out the special advantages of the session.

The style of this bulletin as to English—the capitalization of proper nouns particularly—has been made to conform to generally recognized literary usages. For instance all the main words in the title of colleges and schools are capitalized, as well as the main words in the title of each course. Fewer abbreviations will be used than heretofore, and the description of each course also follows more or less closely one form. The titles of all the books are set in italics. The announcement is three times as large as last year's and is much better and clearer and there are many more courses. Over forty courses are offered special attention being called to the school for superintendents.

Union Debate.

The Unions will debate the following question Saturday evening: "Resolved, That the Sherman anti-trust act should be repealed." Affirmative, Hanlon, Pfeifer, O'Gara; negative, McDonald, McReynolds, Milek. This is the only club that never adjourns for a vacation. All are invited.
