DR. DAVIS AT CHAPEL.

An Interesting Talk Given on the "Breadth of Power."

An interesting talk was given at chapel yesterday morning by Professor Davis on the "Breadth of Power." He emphasized the necessity of broadening our course so that we would not become narrow in our views. We were to become leaders in the different sections of the country and it would not be profitable for us to specialize too much on one subject.

Of the different subjects that he suggested for the student to become a broad and liberal thinker the study of history was the most important, none other would lead a person to think more liberally and to see new ideals more quickly.

He spoke of science as a mental trainer to develop the fact method.

The discourse was very instructive, and although a very small number was present those who attended felt fully repaid.
