Select Invitations.

The Senior class committee on invitations has made selections for programs and bids for the various class functions of commencement week. These are quite simple but very handsome in appearance and will be the cause of much appreciative comment on their appearance. The invitations are separate from the programs, and are printed in Old English type. The inside envelope is embossed with the Nebraska University seal. The seal is also printed in gold on the front of the programs, and is surrounded by a handsome green and gold border of cornhusks. It is tied with green cord—the class color.

The programs are of white crepe paper, and contain ten inside pages. It includes the class roll, and the program for commencement week. The Senior Laws are entered with the Seniors of the other departments of the University. C. A. Mohrman is chairman of the committee.
