RETURN IN SAFETY

Senior Class Back Again After Strenuous Days Proceedings.

The Seniors left yesterday morning on their Annual May Outing, and after spending an interesting day at Milford returned in the evening fatigued, but well satisfied with the time they enjoyed. The party included about one hundred and twenty-five Seniors. They assembled at the B. & M. depot early in the morning, with an abundance of provisions on hand and prepared for a day of general pleasure and excitement.

As they were especially eager to do something noble before starting they deputized a party of powerful men to go and capture the first Junior that they could find. They were not long occupied in their search, as they speedily returned with the person of John F. Allen, president of the Junior class. The Seniors landed him safely in the car, but through lack of strict watch he departed from their midst and started up town. He was promptly pursued and brought back, and after a second unsuccessful attempt to escape, was pacified. The new emblem of the Senior class was floated to the breeze for the first time.

The party arrived at Milford at 9 o'clock, and at once proceeded through the streets to the center of the business portion. There they formed a large circle and made the people of Milford acquainted with the fact that they were from the University, and were indeed that august body, the class of 1904. They perpetrated their new class yell, which is:

We come with a shout,
We come with a roar;
We're the class of 1904.

A number of speeches were made by prominent members of the class, and the Seniors then proceeded to the grounds of the Soldiers' Home. No better spot could have been selected for the day's outing, as the grounds were spacious and attractive, and the shade was quite good.

A match game of ball was played between two teams, one picked from the Senior girls, and the other from the Senior boys. The girls won by a score of 13 to 2. Mrs. Buckner pitched an elegant game for the girls, puzzling her opponents with her large assortment of curves. For the boys Edwin F. Myers did creditable work in the box. He tried hard, but the odds were too great against him, and he was forced to resign in Mr. Buckner's favor. Miss Ethel Erford did some splendid base stealing and sliding for her side, and Miss Shinbur earned much applause by her batting, throwing and baserunning. Miss Harriett Brayton presided behind the bat for the girls and let nothing escape her.

Later a game was played between two boys' teams, one being the Dandelions and the others the Black Diamonds. The former won by a score of 9 to 7.

The class assembled to partake of luncheon, and thanks to the providence of the committee there was an abundant supply of the requisites on hand. In fact, the committee are to be congratulated on the completeness of detail with which they attended to their task, as not a hungry Senior could be found on the ground, in spite of the fact that the members of that class are habitually so.

After luncheon a number of interesting speeches were made by members of the class. Emory R. Buckner presided and succeeded in tickling the vanity of the Seniors as he called upon them in turn, so that they all responded readily. A large red umbrella suspended above the speaker's platform served to heighten the effect, and add to the dramatics of the situation.

The speech-making having concluded, the Senior athletes got into operation, and pulled off some interesting contests. A number of records, several pairs of suspenders and a collar button were broken by the mighty Senior men who entered the lists.

About a dozen men participated in a 50-yard dash, and Mr. Ludden was finally declared winner. John Westover and Miss Mabel Stephens ran an exciting race, the former winning out after hard exertion. In the three-legged race which was the final event, Mouck and Ludden carried off the honor.

After the races the Seniors seated themselves again in the shade and listened to very interesting readings by Misses May Edholm and Josephine Poynter.

Upon special invitation they then adjourned to the Soldiers' Home, where everything possible was done to entertain them. The old soldiers were genuinely glad to receive their guests, and too much can not be said in regard to the courtesy and accommodation that they showed. After the whole class had filed in and signed their names to the visitors' roll book, they were shown about the building and a general invitation was extended to them to dance, some of the old soldiers furnishing the music. Quite a number took advantage of the invitation and others entertained themselves in other ways.

The Senior baseball team wandered off up town in search of trouble. They finally landed up at the baseball park and were defeated by the Milford team by a score of 3 to 3.

At 4 o'clock the Seniors began to assemble at the depot and returned to Lincoln in good time for their evening meal. Upon alighting from the train they formed a procession and marched through the streets, following the flag, and being inspired to enthusiasm by a band consisting of one unsightly peace, which discoursed brilliantly. They marched along P street and turned down Eleventh, with all the demonstration that their volatile spirits could muster. As a captive in their triumphal march, they led along their distinguished prisoner taken in the foray in the morning.

The triumphal body of Senior paraded about the campus walks and rounded up at the big stone east of the library. Here they compelled the captive to mount the stone and after cutting his bonds they allowed him to go free.

A number of Juniors were anxious to despoil the Senior flag and caused a respectable "rough house." They succeeded in getting some strips and these are being proudly displayed about the campus. A Senior by some swift foot work rescued the flag pole and carried it off to a place of safety. And thus ended a day of momentous happenings, and today the faculty will welcome back the truants to the fold after mixing the pleasure of their association for so many hours.

Withdraws from the Congress.

Phi Gamma Delta fraternity has officially notified the Pan-Hellenic Congress of its withdrawal from that body. The reason given for its action is that it can not give assent to or participate in the coming Pan-Hellenic barbecue, because of certain undesirable features which it is reported will be connected with it. The communication regarding this matter was submitted at the meeting of the congress held yesterday evening.

PLAY CREIGHTON TODAY

First Home Game Since the Return of the Team.

This afternoon at 3:30 the victorious Cornhuskers will meet Creighton University on the F. & M. park diamond, and Nebraska fans will be given the opportunity of seeing in action the team that skinned Minnesota and Notre Dame. Adams will be in the box and will endeavor to demonstrate to the Omahogs any of the fine points of the pitchers' art which may have escaped them in their collision with Morse last Saturday. The Creighton team has, however, been reorganized and is expected to put up a much stiffer game than it did in Saturday's contest. It is not known who will do their twirling, but the rest of the team will line up as follows: Lannigan, ss; Callahan, 1b; Mullen, W. H.; Kennedy, 2b; Creighton, c; Mullen, J. R.; Cassidy, cf; Pendergast, lb; Garvey, 3b.

It is expected that Johnny Bender will return from Boulder in time to do the receiving for Nebraska, but if this is impossible, Miller will probably take his place. The other men will line up in the usual order.

All sizes in duck pants at $1.00 to $1.50. Blue flannel shirts at $1.00, $1.50, $2.50 and $3.00. Also the best army hat every shown, at 90 cents. The B. L. Paine Clothing Store.

Please help the poor. Buy your cigars and tobacco of Frank DuTell, 1020 O St.

Y W C A FUNCTION

May Morning Breakfast will be a Delightful Event.

Saturday morning, May 14, the University Y. W. C. A. will serve breakfast from 7 o'clock till 10 at St. Paul's church. Undoubtedly, in more senses than one, the breakfast will be warm. The price per plate will be 25 cents. Competent cooks will occupy the kitchen, and a satisfying repast is promised, with something to suit every palate, even the most finicky. Every wise student and every member of the faculty will bring his relatives and friends and will come early and stay late. Any person who desires to eat more than one May Morning breakfast will be given ample opportunity and a possible deduction in rate.

Altogether there will be fifteen tables. The second year domestic science girls, under Miss Mary Benedict, will decorate and serve at one table. There will be a special faculty table, at which members of the faculty who wish to set in state and haughty isolation, may be accommodated. Eight of the tables will be decorated by fraternity girls in the colors of their various organizations, and guests will be served by attractive relay from the various fraternities. It is expected, however, that no members of a fraternity will be served at the table bearing her colors, but will seek her breakfast at another table. The supply of food and the patience of the waiters will be inexhaustible. On this occasion even the latest comers will not find that the early birds had all the fare, waitresses, it is solemnly affirmed, will not be allowed to receive gratuities.

Those in charge of the breakfast are: General Managers, Elsie Piper and Eva Cooper; "kitchen queen," Anna Van Zandt; head waitress, Flossie Archer; door keeper, or "money juggler," Ruth Wilson. Among the hostesses are Mrs. Hodgman, Mrs. Piper, Misses Alice Howell, Nellie Dean, Laura Puffer.

Debaters Off for St. Louis.

The debating team left yesterday afternoon for St. Louis, where they will meet Washington in a discussion of the Monroe Doctrine tomorrow night. Nebraska will uphold the negative of the question, as it is expected that from experience already gained, our men will put up a spirited contest. Speeches were made in chapel yesterday morning by Dr. Pound and Dr. Ross, who discussed the principles of debate, making a number of especially impressive statements. A number of intimate friends were at the depot to bid the men goodbye, and express their best wishes for their success, in which the whole University joins.

Mr. Tompkins' Hired Man.

Another of the popular plays that have attracted attention will be given by the Dramatic Club in Meomrial hall next Tuesday evening. This time it will be "Mr. Tompkins' Hired Man," and the plot is said to be an excellent one. This is the second play that the Dramatic Club has given at the University this year. An admission of 10 cents will be charged. The Dramatic club has developed some excellent talent, and this play will be awaited with interest by University people.
