The students in general botany began work on Easter lilies Monday, to the great delight of the girls in the class. The professor promises them sweet peas in the near future.

Clarence Johnston left last evening for Kalispell, Mont., where he will work during the summer, surveying for the Great Northern. Mr. Johnston expects to be in school again next fall.

Professor Bessey has a few dates of the Deglet Noor variety, which he is exhibiting to those who call at his office. They were sent from Algeria by Ernst Bessey, '96, who has been sent to that country on business connected with the importation of date trees by the United States department of agriculture. This particular variety of the date is said to be the finest grown anywhere in the world. It is hoped that dates of this kind may eventually be grown in the desert regions of Arizona.
