Campus Gleanings

The class in French 1 has been divided into two divisions, on account of the large attendance.

The chemistry building is fast nearing completion and will be opened for work in two or three weeks.

G. W. Cheney, '06, of Bee, has returned to school after a year's absence on account of ill health.

Jim Whiting, a former engineering student, is confined to his home by a severe attack of bronchitis.

Physical examinations of the gym students are being held this week, and Monday morning the practical work will begin.

W. W. Burr returned yesterday morning from St. Louis, where he has been the past week taking in the sights at the World's Fair.

The Lincoln Academy football team is already putting up a stiff practice game under the coaching of Graves, formerly of the university team.

Professor Fling's class in European history is so large this semester that he has been compelled to change the place of recitation from L. 308 to the art room.

The new football posters have made their appearance and are attracting much attention. They are of the same style as those which proved so effective last year. A number of card posters of similar design are also placed in the various business houses of town.

The Palladian Literary society will give its opening reception to new students next Saturday evening. It was intended to hold the reception Friday evening, the usual time of meeting, but owing to the Y. W. C. A. reception at the governor's mansion on that evening it was thought better to change the date. Elaborate preparations are being made to insure a good social time.

Mission Study.

A UNIVERSITY MEETING.
Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in Memorial Hall, is to be the first of a series of interesting meetings on missionary topics. It will be a union meeting of the two Christian associations and everybody is invited. Mr. A. Elmer Turner of Omaha will speak. All who know Mr. Turner need no special invitation and those who have not met him will be glad to make his acquaintance. Let us give him a rousing reception. J. W. Hilton will sing.

MISSION STUDY.

Some strong courses in mission study are offered by the Christian associations this year. This is something for everybody. The "extent and variety" of ignorance on this subject is surprising. Missions are a real element in the world's progress today. No intelligent man can afford to be ignorant about them. The courses as outlined do not call for any unreasonable sacrifice of time. The busiest student can carry one with a little effort. The only expense is the cost of the text-book. Your schedule is not complete without one of these courses.
