The following items from two of our exchanges will be of interest to Nebraskans. The first two are from the Missouri Independent, the last from the Pacific Wave, of the University of Washington:

W. W. Cook, assistant professor of law, is a graduate of Columbia University, receiving the degree of A. B. in 1894, A. M. in 1899 and M. L. in 1901. For two years Professor Cook held the Tindall traveling fellowship in mathematics, during which time he studied in Germany. After his stay abroad he entered the department of Public Law at Columbia University and for the past three years has been teaching law at the University of Nebraska.

Wilbur F. Starr has been elected musical director of the university and instructor in music in the Teachers' College. Professor Starr graduated from De Pauw University in 1894 and for some time after studied under Savage, Fichandler, Kroft, Meyer, Webster and other masters. For some years he was connected with Castle Square and English Metropolitan Grand Opera companies, singing leading baritone roles in all the principal cities of the continent. Recently Professor Starr has been connected with the musical departments of Nebraska and Nebraska Wesleyan Universities.

Robert E. Moritz, Ph. D., the new professor of mathematics, comes from the University of Nebraska. He received the bachelor's degree from Hastings College in 1892. In 1896 Chicago granted him the master's degree, and in 1901 Nebraska added the doctor's degree. The year of 1901-1902 Professor Moritz spent in study at Strassburg, Paris, Leipzig and Goettingen. In Nebraska, where he was assistant professor, Doctor Moritz was held by his associates to be one of the ablest men in the department. In addition to his duties as instructor, he has written extensively for mathematical and scientific journals, publishing no fewer than fourteen articles involving research work. Washington is to be congratulated on his accession to the faculty.

Columbia College is to have a new building for the School of Mines. Adolph Lewishon, president of the United Metal Selling Co., recently gave $250,000 for the building. It will be placed on the Broadway side of the quadrangle.

This new building will enable the students at Columbia to study the practical side of mining. They will no longer be obliged to travel in the west to gain this phase of their course. A mine will be dug under the university campus and the students will take their turns at shaft sinking.
