Editorial Remarks

From the preparations being made at Minnesota, it is apparent that the visiting Nebraskans at the big game a week from Saturday, will be given the time of their lives. Minnesota considers—and rightly—the Nebraska game as the most important on her schedule, and whether it results in victory or defeat for her, her supporters are exhibiting a truly sportsmanlike spirit in providing entertainment for her opponents. The Nebraskan believes that the game will be one of the greatest ever played in the west, and a larger crowd should be on hand to cheer Nebraska to victory, than accompanied the team three years ago. But meanwhile the efforts of the northerners to entertain their visitors should not be lost sight of. Minnesota has always been one of our most dangerous rivals, not only in sport but in hospitality. Whether we may profitably take lessons from her remains to be seen, but from present indications she should be able to furnish us with a few pointers in spite of our own recognized hospitality.

Thursday and Saturday of this week at 7 p. m. occur the tryouts for the University Glee Club. Last year's club by its own motion rendered itself nit, and consequently there is not one man sure of his place on this year's club. The best voices will get the places, and all will have an equal chance. There are many excellent voices here in the University which have never been in evidence in the glee clubs. Let every man who can sing or who has a singing inclination turn out Thursday or Saturday evening and try for a place. The club is planning some trips this year, and the prospective trips, together with the excellent training to be had from Director Eames should make every one want a place. Everybody who can sing out for the trails in U 106.
