In Society

Miss Pearl Fritzgerald is spending Sunday with her parents in Omaha.

Miss Maud Brush of Ashland will be the guest of Miss Jesse Brush for a few days.

Miss Anne Furlong of Auburn, Neb., will be the guest of Miss Allie Furlong over Sunday.

There are many visitors from Omaha and all over the state for the football game today. All the fraternity houses are filled to overflowing, the Phi Psis being especially taxed.

Messrs. Harry Read, Doane Powell, Orlo Brown, Russel Harris, C. McClure and W. B. Read of Omaha are guests at the Phi Psi house over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Orr gave a box party Thursday evening for a number of the university girls. The party included Misses Cramer, Nell Ensor, Dr. and Mrs. Orr and Miss Owens.

The Phi Beta Phi's will initiate six new members this evening. A spread will follow the initiation ceremonies. The names of the new members cannot be announced until next week.

The dormitory promises to form quite a part of the social life of the girls, as all kinds of informals and "fudge parties" are held there during the week. This week the girls have entertained a number of visitors from out of town.

It is now definitely announced that a party for the girls of the university will be given at the dormitory next Saturday evening. The house will be thrown open to all the girl students and faculty who wish to attend.

With the initiation of the Phi Beta Phi's this evening most of the fraternities have closed their initiations for at least a month. It was comparatively quiet at the frat houses, for there seemed to be so much doing outside. The theaters formed quite an attraction during the week, as well as the dances.

FOLK TO SPEAK.

St. Louis Boodle Fighter Will Talk at Chapel.

Monday morning at convocation Hon. Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis, the famous boodle-fighter, will give a short address. The fame that Mr. Folk has achieved during the past two years and his well known attitude on public questions will make his talk one of the features that the convocation committee has been fortunate enough to schedule this year. Mr. Folk is at present candidate for the governorship of Missouri on the democratic ticket.

The university pedagogical club will meet in room 210 University Hall Wednesday evening, October 25, 7:30 p. m. The club is composed of university graduates who hold the university teachers' certificate and seniors who are preparing to become teachers. All students interested in the profession of teaching are quite welcome at these meetings. Subject for Wednesday evening will be "The Teacher and His Preparation."
