Editorial Remarks

Such expressions of appreciation as that made by Coach Willard, of Knox college, which is published in another column of today's Nebraskan, is surely gratifying to all Nebraskans. The men on the Knox teams have always shown themselves to be gentlemen, and the Nebraskan, for one is glad to see that they have appreciated whatever Nebraska has been able to do as a host, during their visits in Lincoln.

The Nebraskan hopes to see a liberal excursion rate for the Kansas City trip obtained for Nebraska rooters, but even if the present rate of $5.75 cannot be reduced, we see no reason why a large crowd of rooters should not accompany the team. Except for the Omaha trip, no real football excursion has been run this year, and the pleasures which would be afforded by the excursion to Kansas City should prove doubly attractive for this reason. We expect the Haskell game to be a hard one, unless the Indians perceive the inevitable result before the struggle really begins. But the most effective means for making them appreciate the hopelessness of their efforts, would be a generous attendance of Cornhuskers, and a few vociferous Nebraska war whoops. Under the circumstances, even a rate of $5.75 is not exorbitant. Something in the neighborhood of $3.00 would of course, prove more acceptable, but if that cannot be secured, an enormous crowd should be in attendance from Lincoln, to show the Missourians "how," if for no other reason.

after paying all necessary expenses shall be divided among the contestants in such a way as to equalize the burden of expense among the contestants. (d) Choice of sub-topics. A eight o'clock on the day of the contest the speakers shall meet in a body and proceed to draw by lot from the list of sub-topics here submitted. The topic so drawn by a speaker shall form the theme for his discussion, and the number of the topic as here given shall determine his relative place on the program. (e) Speakers time limit. In the discussion of any sub-topic no speaker shall be permitted to occupy more than fifteen minutes. (f) Prizes. Substantial recognition will be given to the victor in the final contest. The committee hopes to be able to announce that two cash prizes will be offered, one of $100 and one of $50.

V. Judges. In both section and final contest men should be chosen who are qualified for the position and whose reputation is a guarantee of unbiased action. All judges shall be instructed to base their awards on the general effectiveness of the speaker, and evidence of his power to meet the requirements of public speaking in the practical affairs of life.

VI. University Credit for the work. The committee recommends that credit amounting in all to five hours for one term in the departments of political economy and public speaking be given for regular class instruction upon the theme of this contest.

It is the earnest desire of the committee having in charge the supervision of this league that permanent fund or endowment shall be established for its support. With an endowment yielding $500 annually the future success of the league would be assured.

The general subject chosen for discussion this year is Trade Unionism, and the committee has made the following sub-divisions of this subject. It has been thought desirable to increase the number of sub-divisions or sub-topics to fifteen and thus to eliminate all possibility of a student's undertaking to memorize his speech.

The entries for the contests have not all been made but from the favorable replies received in response to circular letter No. 1, the indications are that there will probably be eighteen or more state institutions represented.

In order that the time and place of the section and final contests may be published as soon as possible, the central executive committee announces that all entries must be made by December 20th; and that no entries may be made after that time except upon such conditions as this committee may impose. As soon as all entries have been made each state university will be given a list of the institutions participating and assigned to that section Professor E. G. Frazier of the University of Kansas, is chairman of the central executive committee of the league. Prof. Frazier will be remembered as the man who accompanied the Kansas debaters to Lincoln last spring, and expressed a desire for the renewal of athletic relations between the two universities. The other members of the committee are Professors M. L. Daggy, of the University of Washington and E. C. Hayes of Miami (Ohio) University.
