Editorial Remarks

Our Editor, Mr. Ewing, and our Athletic Editor, Mr. Sweeley, left last night on the Missouri Pacific for Kansas City, the former to root for Nebraska, the latter to bring back a complete account of the game for Tuesday's Nebraskan.

The Nebraskan has been especially fortunate this year through the courtesies of the railroads, in having its own representative at all our outside games and we have received many compliments on Mr. Sweeley's writ-ups of the several games.

Mr. Ewing will go to St. Louis after the game and visit the fair for a few days. During his absence the editorial management will be in the hands of the business manager.

A thing to be deplored in connection with the university is the shab-biness and utter disregard of appearance for which half a dozen of our most prominent instructors are conthey dress at least slightly better than the hired hands about the campus, who receive from $1.50 to $2.00 per day.

Our professors are supposed to be looked up to by the students, and we are taught from the kindergarten up that personal neatness is one of the important lessons to be learned in life.

How the teachings of our youth are blasted, when we arrive at a great university, such as our, and are brought face to face with such instructors and are expected to respect them and imbibe knowledge from them.

We are glad to know that this applies only to a few of the members of the faculty (it is unnecessary to mention names) and that the great majority of our faculty present a neat respectable appearance and are a credit to the university.

We care not how brainy a man is, whether he is a man of national repute or not, there is no excuse for appearing in the garb that some of them do and we are confident that any one of the persons mentioned is able to buy a new suit at least once in two years.

Let them discard their time-worn, threadbare suits and appear, for once, on the campus dressed as they should be—as gentlemen.

GREENE AT MEETING.

Famous Lecturer at Oliver Tomorrow.

Word has been received from Secretary of the Omaha Y. M. C. A. saying that Dr. Thomas E. Green opened their lecture course this week and made a decided hit. Dr. Green is the speaker for the men's mass meeting at the Oliver theater next Sunday afternoon. He has served on the local entertainment course with unusual success, and is best known in his lectures on "The Key of the Twentieth Century" and "Left Handed People." For several years past Dr. Green has spent his entire time to lecture work and has appeared in all the large cities.

Vocal music by Miss H. Finley Helms and violin by Mrs. Ross Curtice are the special attractions in a musical way. No man in the university can afford to miss an hour which may be so profitably spent.

Old Sport Proves Attractive.

University students are becoming interested in the new skating rink at the auditorium, which was formally opened on Wednesday of this week. Roller skating, although an old sport, is some-occasional plunge in the sanitarium, or a round or two on the ice.

Almost at any time of the day can be seen one of these persons coming down the sidewalk on a bicycle, which bears the ear marks of a very ancient model, with its telltale wooden spokes, etc., wearing a suit of clothes which would do injustice to a tramp. We do not exaggerate the case. Every student in the university is familiar with the sight, and strangers have been heard to remark that we seemed to have an excess of janitors about the campus.
We realize as well as any one that our instructors are poorly paid, but none of them receive less than enough to provide comfortably for his family and it is to be expected that

The Auditorium has been well fitted what of a new fad in Lincoln, as there has heretofore been no rink in which to skate. With the opening of the new rink, a new means of entertainment is provided to university students who have up to this time contented themselves with howling, billiards and an
a round or two on the ice.
up for this arrangement. The floor smoothed up and during the coming six months will be used for roller skating exclusively, except that occasionally it will be used for one of the larger dances of the season. The management has spent considerable capital in providing the place, and the way in which it is managed should appeal to university students.

There is no Medium Price Underwear as good as THE MUNSING

We have sold it for over a dozen years and still have to find its equal on the market. It is well scraped through all sizes, finished with patent flat seams and generous laps. It is elastic ribbed conforming to every curve of the body and yielding to every motion. It will not bind or tear or make an unsightly bunch in any place.

Men's Munsing Union Suits.

All cotton, fleeced, Jersey, ribbed, good weight, natural gray, $1.50 a suit.
40 per cent wool, ribbed, natural
