Nebraska and California Medical Colleges Rank High.

Only Two West of Mississippi Admitted by New York Health Board.

The medical society held a very interesting meeting last Friday evening. Dr. Lyman of the department of physiology made the talk of the evening. His subject was "A Few Things of Interest to Medical Students." He spoke first upon the things which the student should study. He advised the student if possible to take at least four years high school Latin and three years Greek. Literary education was also advised if possible for the student to take. The six year course he advised the medical student to take by all means. A student if he graduates when twenty-one will have nine years before he can practice. In the remainder of his talk the doctor told of the advantages to be derived from an education in the Omaha Medical College. The smallness of the college favors small clinics and this is of an advantage to the student. One fact given by Dr. Lyman will be of interest to all university students. It is taken from an article in the American Medical Journal. It says that the New York State Board of Health will admit to its examinations students of only two medical colleges west of the Mississippi and these are the University of California and the University of Nebraska. He also added that students of the Northwestern Medical College of Chicago were not admitted to the examinations. Northwestern had heretofore always been considered the ideal of medical colleges in the west, so this was a very surprising as well as gratifying statement to medical students.

Dr. Lyman's talk was very thoroughly appreciated by the medical students and it is hoped that he may continue his talk some time in the near future. After the talk a short time was spent in parliamentary practice. There will be no meeting of the medical society next Friday evening on account of the talk to be made by Dr. H. B. Ward on that evening.

SENIORS MEET.

Senior Annual is "Boomed" and Hats and Gowns Discussed.

The Seniors held a meeting in U. 107 yesterday morning with President F. M. Hunter in the chair, who at the beginning stated that the purpose of the call was to transact some special business and in particular that pertaining to the Senior annual.

The reports of different committees were heard in their order. First the committee on Senior annual gave their report, which in substance was a general exposition of the plans and an appeal for various contributions from members of the class, that would be available for the subject matter of their valuable book. They emphasized the fact that the responsibility of making a good annual depended upon the cooperation and labored efforts of the whole class and not the four who were on the committee.

The question of gowns and caps, and also the advisability of giving a class play was quite warmly debated. The former, however, gave rise to a more contented sentiment, on account of the luke warm spirit among the boys, who did not embrace very firmly the idea of wearing these anclient appears, which as some bravely expressed it, gave them the appearance of a monk.

The meeting was well attended and a large amount of interest was displayed throughout the whole of it. The business before them was all disposed of in a business like manner.

No Score.

The Senior football team played its first game yesterday, and managed to hold its opponents to a tie game with no score on either side. The little academy team put up a very good defense, and the larger men could not make any headway against them on center plays. Captain States and Halfback Ramsey played the best game for the Seniors.

Next Monday afternoon the regular Senior-Junior game will be played in the field. The winners of this game will play the winners of the Freshman-Sophomore game, which occurs this afternoon, and the winners of that contest will play the Law Champions for the University championship.

Rates For Game.

A rate of one fare, plus 50 cents for the round trip from points within a radius of 200 miles from Lincoln has been secured by Manager Davis for the game with Illinois on Thanksgiving. This information should be spread, as many alumni and others interested will want to take advantage of the rate.

Ralph Hoagland of Chicago and S. L. Maines of Crete, have been chosen as referee and head linesman respectively. The umpire has not as yet been definitely decided upon.

Those desiring reserved seats for the Thanksgiving game should see to their purchase at once. The seats were put on sale yesterday, and before evening the receipts amounted to over $600.00, and they will go faster as the game draws nearer. Lots of good seats are left, however, but will not be had long. The best seats are placed at $1.75, but those at $1.50 and $1.25 are good, commanding a view of the whole field. But if seats are wanted at all they must be bought at once. Indications point to standing room being at a premium.

WANTS APPROPRIATION.

Library Board Asks Regents For More Books and Shelves.

The Library board held a meeting last Friday evening, those present being, the Chancellor, Deans Davis, Ward, Bessey, and Sherman. The matter of expending about $8,000 for new steel shelves in the book room was discussed and the board will ask the Regents for an appropriation for that sum. They will also ask for an appropriation of $2,000 to equip the library at the state farm, when it moves into the new quarters next spring. The board will also ask the regents for a larger appropriation for the purchase of books during the coming biennium, as there has been no increase in this direction for six years.

Juniors Meet Thursday.

The junior class will hold a meeting Thursday, to consider the matter of caps and also the matter of the freshman caps of last year. Other matters of importance will be brought up and every junior should be present. Come and stir up some enthusiasm for the junior-senior football game next Monday. The sombrero board will have something to say in regard to the work so far. Get into the game and show that you are a member of the sombrero class.

Superintendent of Construction Chawins and wife left Saturday for St. Louis, where they will take in the fair for a few days.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

The Y. W. C. A. had a red letter day Sunday, this being the day appointed for the report of the delegates to the convention at Geneva, Wis., last year. Miss May Inomas presided. The program was opened by song service. Grace Coppock gave a synopsis of Miss Ruth Paxton's talk on the power and influence of the Y. W. C. A. The personality of Mr. Willis Hotchkiss was traced by Miss Caroline Wood, who pointed out to the close resemblance of his life to that of St. Paul, recounted his trials in the dark continent, for from the comforts of civilization, suffering from illness and hunger and then gave his account of the needs of Africa. Miss Erford gave a few vivid points from the lecture of Dr. D. D. Gordon on Christian Power, its price value and triumph over sin. In Touches here and There" Miss Anna Moore portrayed the wonderful natural scenery of Geneva and compared it to the peace of the quiet hour. Miss Coopek spoke of the excursions to the Kernes observatory, Williams Bay, The Fisheries and Holliday Home, described the dress parade and discussed the work done by the Y. W. C. A. in America and abroad in saving souls.

A SHEDD BENEFIT

Proceeds of Bellevue Game to be Turned Over to "Chic" Shedd.

Athletic Board Shows Appreciation of Work Done by Former Star End.

The game Saturday will be a Shedd benefit. The net proceeds of this game with Bellevue will be given to Chic Shedd, the old varsity end, who was injured while upholding the honor of the Scarlet and Cream on the gridiron. Last year Bellevue put up a mighty good game, considering the material they have there to draw from. This will be the last opportunity to cheer the varsity before Thanksgiving, and the good contest promised, together with the most laudable purpose for which the receipts are destined should bring out a good crowd. The price has been placed at 50 cents, for both grandstand and bleachers, and every loyal Nebraskan should be there, if for no other reason than to show their appreciation for Chic Shedd. His injury has made it impossible for him to do any work, and the university, for which he has sacrificed so much, has stood by him splendidly, and ought to continue to do so.

MASS MEETING TOMORROW

Interest Must be Aroused For "Chic" Shedd Benefit.

Tomorrow morning a mass meeting will be held in chapel. The purpose of this meeting is to impress every one with the fact that it is his or her duty to come out to the Bellevue game Saturday, and aid in the Shedd benefit. The entire net proceeds are to be turned over to the famous varsity end, and we owe it to ourselves to see that our little wad helps increase the size of the proceeds pile. Speakers, interesting as usual, will be on hand to dispense the hot air, and the chapel ought to be filled to overflowing.

With the exception of Cotton, whose leg still keeps him off the field, all the varsity squad were out for practice last night. Captain Benedict limbered up his good right leg with a few punts for the first time since his injuries. The number of men still attending practice is remarkable for this time of year. With only a week of football left there were twenty men out last night in the varsity squad, and eighteen in the scrub squad. This is the best spirit that has been shown during any previous season.

Basket ball practice last night was not well enough attended to warrant opening up both floors, but the work was fast and showed progress. The game to have been played with the high school tomorrow has been postponed until next Tuesday. There will be no admission charge for this game. The following men will be given a try-out in this game, which is the first of the season: Hoar, Hagensick, Burruss, Durkee, Drake, Bowman, Bell, Mathewson, Meyer and Beers.

If you want a snap in books, pictures, pyrography & etc., don't fail to attend the "Book Auction" at the Lincoln Book Store every afternoon and evening.

A force of men was busily engaged yesterday at the Auditorium smoothing up the floor for roller skating. It is now in fine shape. Admission to men, 20c; to ladies, 15c. Skates rented 20c per pair.
