In Other Colleges

The largest banquet ever held at Michigan university was given by the Union club, Nov. 11. President Angell acted as toastmaster.

The local chapter of the Lambda Niv. at Columbus university was last week granted a charter by the Delta Upsilon. The local fraternity have been petitioning for a chapter for several years.

At the University of California, the French club gave a clever French play last week. "La Sigale Chez les Tourmas" met with overwhelming success. A play will be given by the Spanish club in the near future.

William Greer Harrison, president of the Olympic club of San Francisco, characterized the college football game as a "head end collision," in which the weaker team is crushed. His remarks have caused much comment at the neighboring colleges and universities.

The army and navy football game will be played at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Nov. 26th. Seats for the game will be sold at $2.50 apiece. The proceeds of the game will go towards the relief of dependent widows and orphans of the enlisted men of the army and navy.

The University of Minnesota will soon boast of a "crack" military company. It is planned to have fancy drills, such as drilling without command, etc., which are given at the higher military schools. The purpose of the new company is to arouse enthusiasm in military affairs.

The senior class in electrical engineering at the University of Illinois spent one day at the St. Louis exposition under the guidance of the professors of the department. Most of the time was spent in inspecting power plants, from which the various services of the exposition are supplied.

The Big Four railroad has sent $15,000 to President Stone of Purdue university towards the fund for the Purdue wreck memorial. Last year the special train carrying the students to the Purdue-Indiana game was wrecked and the railroad agreed to pay this money towards a memorial fund. When the fund reaches $50,000 the college authorities will donate $50,000 more, making the fund $100,000.

There will be no coed rooters at the University of California's games. A movement by some of the women in favor of public demonstration was opposed by Yell Leader Bulkeley. The woman students, desirous of having their position made clear, passed the following resolutions: "That the women of the University of California will make no public demonstration at the big game, other than they have heretofore.

Seven Freshmen of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill., were so severely hazed that it is probable the cases of three will prove fatal. The hazing consisted of thrusting the boys into a greasy wooden chute, down which they shot thirty feet into a sand pit filled with floating ice and water. They were fished out with a lasso and compelled to walk home in their wet clothing. The names of the "hazers" have not yet been ascertained.

The price of admission to the Thanksgiving game has been set at $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75. Additional seating capacity is being provided in the shape of new bleachers which are to be placed at the ends of the field. Tickets for the game will go on sale today.
