Editorial Remarks

Governor Mickey, in his inaugural address, was loud in his praises of the efficient management and work of the insane asylum, the institute for the blind and other state institutions whose staff of employees depend solely upon his wisdom of appointment, but meager and unimposing was his reference to the state university.

Wisconsin, after trying the system of graduate coaching for three years, results disastrous both to her athletic teams and her college spirit, is again to have a paid coach. Phil King, the little man who placed Wisconsin on the pinnacle of football fame some years ago, has been secured again as coach. Casper Whitney, in his resume of the season just past, urges Wisconsin to stick to the graduate system, but the Badgers are tired of it. This once Whitney is undoubtedly right when he urges that the graduate system be retained. That such a system can be followed successfully Illinois has demonstrated. The start was made at the right time, by the right men, in the right direction, with the right kind of results, and not Wisconsin's failure, under adverse circumstances, but Illinois success, should be borne in mind. When a coach is imported, paid a princely salary, remains two months with the university employing him, and then leaves, somehow or other the team he turns out seems his, rather than that of the school, and the expression "Coach Jones' men" is far more prevalent than "our men." And this should not be. The team representing a university should be a product of that school as nearly as possible, and a team brought together, coached and trained by graduates would be much more representative. The students would have a closer interest, a more intense loyalty in something they and their own college mates had sacrificed themselves for than in a sort of imported article. Whitney's exhortation is to "patronize home industry" and we hate to see Wisconsin quit.

If you got it at Armstrong's, it's right.

Alumni

The Nebraskan is indebted to one of the University alumni residing in the Northwest for these items of interest concerning several graduates of the University:

E. G. Spafford, '02, is teaching sciences in Davenport high school, Davenport, Wash.

Emma N. Meier, '03, has charge of primary work in Olympia, Wash., schools.

Eliza E. Meier, '03, who has been teaching sciences at Wenatchee, Wash., is at present at St. Luke's hospital, Spokane, recovering from a very serious attack of the typhoid fever.

A. M. Storch, law '03, is teaching in the eighth grade in Wenatchee schools.

Rufus Woods, law '03, is in newspaper work at Wenatchee, Wash.

Ralph Woods, law '03, is practicing in Tacoma, Wash.

G. A. Johnson, law '02, is practicing in Portland.

S. C. Hawthorne, '02, is selling mining stock throughout Oregon and Washington.

L. H. Overturf, '02, who went to New England in the summer of 1902, is now promoting a town site about twenty miles south of The Dalles, Oregon.

J. L. Schuylerman, who left the University in 1902, is engaged in timber cruising in Washington, with headquarters at Portland.

S. C. Wilson, who took graduate work several years ago, is now principal of the Hawthorne school in Spokane.

J. A. Reed, graduate student, is principal of T. F. Miner school at Seattle.

W. F. Meier, '03, law '03, is an instructor in English in Spokane high school.

L. J. Pospisil, '03, is drafting for B. C. Ribblet, a mining engineer of Spokane.

C. J. Berkey and E. A. Baker, both law '04, have opened an office in Spokane.

Vests Chosen.

The members of the champion sophomore football team who are to wear the interclass championship emblem have chosen a gray sweater vest with a large blue O encircling a smaller gold 7. These vests have been ordered, and will be received within a few days.

Westover Better.

An excellent constitution has brought speedy recovery to Westover, and he is now able to be up and about. He will probably resume his work at the university Monday.

Patronize Nebraskan advertisers.

Manicuring, hairdressing, shampooing and facial massage. Special attention to students. The Famous.

HERZOG'S SEMI-ANNUAL SALE

Twice a year for the past 11 years we have given our Lincoln patrons an opportunity to wear a first-class tailor-made suit or overcoat for a LOWER PRICE than they will ask you for what they call a good ready-made garment. On MONDAY, JANUARY 2 we will again place our ENTIRE STOCK, any Suit or Overcoat in the house, made to YOUR measure, nothing reserved, $20.00

This is all that would be necessary for us to say to those who have taken advantage of our sales in the past; but we want to say to those who have never yet given us a trial, WHY WE CAN SAVE YOU MONEY. We have Three Large Stores—Lincoln, Omaha, and Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Herzog, is acknowledged by mill men to be the best woolen buyer in the west. He buys large quantities and pays spot cash for every yard of goods bought, which enables us to dress you for almost us to dress you for almost one-half the price other merchant tailors ask you. We guarantee style and fit equal to the best. Do you know Jim Martin? He is our cutter.
