Editorial Remarks

The success of last night's concert given by the Glee club is of course attributed to the whole club, in great measure, but especially to director H. P. Eames, whose entering zeal has surmounted huge obstacles, and to Manager Martin Dirks, whose careful attention and unflagging energy made the home concert what it was.

The committees which aided Mr. Dirks also did their part exceedingly well.

When business so important as election of class officers comes up it is hard to believe that any member of the class to do the electing could find an excuse to be absent. Two calls for class meetings have been made by the president of '07, and twice those who responded failed to come up to the quorum.

Apparently the number necessary for a quorum is too large and the Sophs are in a dilema. They cannot transact any business without a quorum, and it seems impossible to get a quorum. The disinterested Sophs ought to attend at least once to the number of fifty, in order that a change may be made, and those desirous of working may proceed.

The results of the athletic contests of Wednesday afternoon furnished many surprises, not only to the spectators, but to the contestants themselves. Many of the men entered for the different events did even better than they had thought themselves capable of doing, and all showed the result of the careful and thorough physical training accorded those in the gymnasium classes. On the other hand many of the men in the events did not do so well as they might have done, not so well as they were capable of doing. The season for track work is just beginning, and the three months left can be made to work wonders by proper training and endeavor. The men who came into prominence for the first time Wednesday should keep up the good work. The University needs these new mep all the time. This constant development of superior material tical batters.

is the test of effectiveness of the Physical Training Department; it is the test of faithful training, as was shown Wednesday, that is sure to tell in long run. Prospects for track athletics at Nebraska are at present, bright, and a new University record ought to be the goal of every man working in the track athletic events.

The size of the audience at the Glee club concert last night bears testimony to the fact that at last the Glee club has won the place it deserves in the estimation of the University.' Since the disbanding of the old musical clubs in '96 interest in these organizations has waned, and it has taken three years of hard, up-hill work on the part of the re-organized Glee club managers to recover the lost ground and place the club where it should be. Two years ago, when Prof. Starr conceived the idea of having a Glee club here, so little interest was manifested by the students that the management did not feel warranted in engaging a place for the first concert which would entail even a nominal expense, and the program was given in the chapel to an audience of less than two hundred. Last year the concert was given at the Oliver, to an audience somewhat larger, yet so small as almost to discourage the Glee club enthusiasts. Extra efforts were put forth this year, the event was well advertised and everywhere the coming concert was spoken of with pleasant anticipations. At a next year concert it is hoped that "standing room only" will greet prospective seat purchasers.

Mr. Jolly Sunday,

Franklin Pierce Jolly, humorist, lecturer and impersonator, will deliver his celebrated lecture, the "Jolly Side of Life," at the Oliver next Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. Mr. Jolly comes very highly recommended. He is an able and brilliant speaker. "His lecture entertainments are a resistless medley of chaste fun, solid common sense, classic beauty, all tinged with true philosophy and religion of life, mingled with humorous recitations and impersonations." The doors open at 3:30 p. m. All men invited.
