Campus Gleanings

Extensive preparations are being made for the second dormitory dance which will be held this evening at the University Women's Building. The following are among the visitors from Omaha here for the occasion:

Miss Mable Cheek, visiting Miss Pearl Fitzgerald; Miss Eunice Ensor, visiting her sister, Miss Nell Ensor; Miss Florence Kohn, visiting Miss Minnie Hiller.

The Forestry people have been officially notified of the change of name of the United States Bureau of Forestry which is hereafter to be known as the "Forest Service." All of the government forest resources, many of which have hitherto been under the Department of the Interior have been transferred to the Forest Service. This means a much more scientific treatment of the forest reserves and at the same time it will call for more well trained foresters.

The College Settlement house was the scene of a most happy occasion Wednesday evening, when a reception was given to all the girls' clubs of the Settlement by the Y. W. C. A. committee which has that work in charge. About fifty girls first joined in a grand march, then seated themselves for the program. This consisted of music and recitations by some University girls, followed by several Settlement girls who showed great talent. When the program was ended the Valentine box was opened and a joyful clamor arose while the missives were being distributed. Then the children were taken to the basement where they indulged in the best treat of all, candy making. Altogether the evening was a great success, one long to be remembered by all who were there.

In Other Colleges

The Alumni of the University of Minnesota have offered $436 in cash prizes to be awarded to students successful in contests in essay writing oratory and debate.

H. H. Putnam, registered in the Medical School, is ill at his home in Omaha with the lagrippe.

The University of South Dakota gives the debating team of that school its choice of opponents in debates.

The most important gifts to Yale during 1904, were as follows. $100,000 for a mine school; $40,000 to library funds; and a bequest of $250,000 for the construction and maintenance of a building as a memorial to Dr. Jared Linsky.

The enrollment in the Bible classes at the Y. M. C. A. reaches the high water mark this year at the University of Minnesota, three hundred men having entered the work. There has been a steady growth all year, and still more classes are being formed.

The legal department in Denver University has recently established a law office where anyone needing legal assistance may place his case. It will be turned over to the seniors who, in prosecution of the case, will be under the direction of experienced lawyers.

L. G. Wilkins, a freshman pole vaulter at the University of Chicago, has invented a device for indoor vaulting which is expected to make possible as good records indoors as outdoors. The device consists of a hardwood block covered with metal. The vaulter plants his pole on the metal plate and it slides to the end of the block, thus saving the jar from the momentum until the vaulter is in the air. A. G. Spalding has taken steps to patent the device and it will probably be placed on the market soon.
