HIGH SCHOOL DAY

FIELD MEET AND DEBATE PROMISE TO BE HOTLY CONTESTED.

A Good Representation Expected for the Field Meet—Eight High Schools Will Compete for Championship.

The annual interscholastic debate will be held in Memorial Hall this evening at 8. While the debate is controlled and managed by the Nebraska Interscholastic Debating Association, which is composed of the high schools of the state, maintaining the highest standard in debate, it is open to all high schools in the state. They are thus enabled to term the winner of the debate this evening the champion of the state for 1905.

The debate held two years ago was won by Lincoln and Omaha took second place. A. M. Levy, a member of the Nebraska team that defeated Washington University this year, represented Lincoln. Last year the Omaha representative, Byson, won the debate, while Lincoln had to be content with second place. N. M. Cronin, who has several times been one of Nebraska's representative in interstate debates, has charge of the work in argumentation in Lincoln. C. M. Bracelin, also a former Nebraska debator, coaches the Omaha teams. Since the installation of the new systems in these two schools their work has been of an unusually high order and the advantage seems to be slightly in favor of their representatives in the debate this evening. Beatrice has also been doing excellent work in debate this year, having won from a team representing Lincoln High School.

The debate will be on the direct primary question. The schools which will take part and the sides allotted to them in the debate will be as follows:

Affirmative—York, Beatrice, Lincoln, Nebraska City.

Negative—Omaha, York, Ord, Crete.

Twenty-five cents admission will be charged for the debate. Tickets may be obtained at the Registrar's office.

The following is the program for the day:

10:30 a. m.—General survey of University grounds, buildings and laboratories by High School students under the direction of University guides.

11:00 a. m.—Exercises of welcome, Memorial Hall. Music, University, Cadet Band. Address of welcome, Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews. Short addresses by State Superintendent J. L. McBrien, Principal A. H. Waterhouse, Omaha; Superintendent W. L. Stephens, Lincoln; Superintendent J. W. Searson, Fremont; Superintendent F. W. Williams, Seward, and others. Music, University Cadet Band.

12:00 m.—Basket dinner on University campus.

2:00 p. m.—Annual meet of Nebraska Interscholastic Athletic Association, University Athletic Field.

5:00 p. m.—Dress parade and review of Cadet Battalion by Chancellor Andrews, Commandant Chase, Adjutant General Culver, and attending superintendents.

6:30 p. m.—Meeting of Schoolmasters' Club, Lincoln hotel.

Finals Today.

The tennis meet with Minnesota, which was to have been played on May 20, was called off by the Northerners on account of continued wet weather, which had made practice impossible for them. A match will be arranged to be played in Minneapolis later.

The tennis team from Iowa will be played on the local courts Friday, May 26. Iowa's reputation in tennis is one of the best. On her recent trip East Iowa lost to Chicago, but won both singles and doubles from Illinois. In previous tennis matches with S. U. I. we have usually come off second best.

The first tournament has narrowed down to the semi-finals. Today Cassidy plays Reed and Scribner fights it out with Mathewson to decide who shall meet in the finals.

Matches for the second team with Doane, Wesleyan, and some others are being arranged. The second team has not as yet been selected.

Baseball.

The faculty baseball teams will appear on the diamond this morning at 11 and on every morning hereafter at the same hour except Saturday, when the time will be 10:30. The excitement is running high. Three splendid batteries—two men for each base—the field full of men—what can the Commercial Club expect to do against such an aggregation? Remember the hour, 11 a. m. every day.

CHANGES IN SIN

DR. ROSS' ARTICLE IN THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.

Urges That Sin Changes, but the Sinful Heart Does Not.

"New Varieties of Sin" an article which appears in the Atlantic Monthly for May should be of more than passing interest to the student body, first on account of its subject matter and in the second place because it was written by Professor E. A. Ross.

He begins by saying, "that the sinful heart is the same, but sin changes as society develops." He continues by noting, "that nowadays the waterman is our well, the trolley our carriage, the banker's safe our old stocking, and the policeman's billy our fist. Others look after our drains, invest our savings, nurse our sick and teach our children. The meat trust butchers our pig, the oil trust moulds our candle, the sugar trust boils our sorghum, the coal trust chops our wood and the barb wire company splits our rails. All this interdependence puts us at one another's mercy.

The use of states makes counterfeiting, smuggling, speculation and treason possible, commerce tempts the pirate, forger and embezzler. Every new fiduciary relation is a fresh opportunity for breach of trust.

The springs of the older sin seem to be drying up. Our forced-draught pace relieves us of the superabundance of energy that demands an explosive outlet.

The man who picks pockets with railway rebates, murders with an adulteration instead of a bludgeon, burglarizes with a 'rake off' instead of a jimmy, does not feel on his brow the brand of a malefactor.

The shedder of blood, oppressor of the widow and fatherless long ago became odious; but the latter day treacherles fly no skull and cross bones at the masthead.

The qualities which differentiate the primitive sin and procure such indulgence are: modern sin is not repulsive, modern sin lacks the familiar tokens of guilt, modern sins are impersonal."

Juniors Win.

In the first game of ball to decide the academic class championship yesterday afternoon the Juniors defeated the Seniors by a score of 6 to 3. After the first inning the Seniors were blanked. The third inning proved lucky for the Juniors, the score showing four runs for them in that inning.

The Juniors played a steady game all through, while the playing of the Seniors was erratic, especially in the fourth inning.

The features of the game were the one-man game of Captain Hyde, for the Seniors, and a one-hand catch by Kyle for the Juniors. The score:

Juniors 2 0 4 0 0 0—6

Seniors 3 0 0 0 0 0—3

Batteries—Seniors: Hyde and Keyser; Juniors, McLaughlin and Hagenstick.
