Editorial Remarks

The College Settlement benefit program given yesterday afternoon proved somewhat of a disappointment to the spectators in that they did not get to see the older members of the faculty perform.

The most attractive part of the affair was cut out when the "profs" failed to put in the lineup against the Commercials that was advertised and

LUDWIG'S

frequent expressions of disappointment were heard. The faculty managers perhaps felt that they were justified in making the change when the Commercial Club lineup appeared with the names of so many of the younger and more experienced men in it.

We believe, however, that it must be conceded that the best part of the affair, from the spectator's standpoint, was cut out and if they are expected to prove as good money makers in the future it might be well to make some arrangements hereafter to enable the faculty to adhere to the more attractive lineup "without seriously endangering the final score."

Dramatic Club.

The third play of the year given by the Dramatic Club was presented in Memorial Hall Wednesday evening.
The play was up to the usual standard maintained by the Dramatic Club.

The plot of the play ("The Shakespeare Water Cure") was laid at a water cure establishment. It consisted of the three acts, the first being in the hallway, the second in the parlor and the third in the banquet hall. The play was preceded by a curtain raiser entitled the "Silent System."

Each member of the cast presented his part very well. The cast was composed of Misses Hanlon, Grace Cop-pleck, Anna Orlofsky, and Rachael Carns and Messrs. J. L. Davidson, C.
F. Wallace, Claude Davis, F. W.
Hrubesky and J. E. Edgerton.

Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the Associated Barbs called for yesterday morning to elect officers had to be postponed on account of a lack of a quorum, due to the Freshmen cap excitement. The meeting will be held at 1 p. m. today.

Several candidates are in the field for the office of president and an exciting election is expected. This meeting being one of the most important of the year it is desired that a full attendance be present.

Nebraskan Banquet.

The annual banquet of the staff and managers of the Daily Nebraskan occurred at Sam's last night. Covers were laid for eight and a menu of eight courses was served. The banquet was most enjoyable throughout.
All present had a good time and felt amply repaid for the hard work of the year.
