Chancellor Has Bad Cold.

Yesterday Chancellor Avery was confined to the house on account of a bad cold and sore throat. All last week he was traveling through the state speaking every day, and this, combined with the cold weather, has caused him to cease work and take a short rest.

FELLOWSHIP OFFERED GIRLS.

Annual Bryn Mawr Announcements Are Received by Miss Ensign.

An announcement of the fellowships offered by Bryn Mawr College has been received and posted on the bulletin boards by Miss Ensign, calling the attention of Nebraska University girls to opportunities for study at the eastern institution.

Fifteen fellowships, of the value of $525, and twenty scholarships, of the value of $250, are offered every year by Bryn Mawr. These are open to students of schools of high standing, including the students at Bryn Mawr. Candidates for fellowships must have completed at least one year of graduate work, while scholarships will be given to those next in merit, who may be seniors.

In awarding the scholarships and fellowships the recommendations of professors and indications of future success in academic work will be considered. Applications should be made not later than the 15th of April preceding the academic year in which the scholarship is to be given. Miss Ensign will give any information she can about the subject to those interested.

BANQUET TO BE AT LINDELL.

More Than One Hundred Tickets Bought by Engineers.

The Engineering society banquet will be held at the Lindell hotel, and not at the Lincoln as first announced.

The committee in charge announces that over one hundred tickets have been sold and it is hoped to sell at least seventy-five more by noon today.

Among the prominent engineers about the state who will be present are: State Engineer Price, B. C. Adams of the gas company, and probably E. J. Robinson, the earliest practicing graduate of the engineering college, and who now has charge of the evaluation work for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad.
