

GLAD SPRINGTIME AND "SPOOFING" TIME HERE

WARM SUN BRINGS RETURN OF POPULAR PASTIME TO UNIVERSITY.

Well, it looks as though the long wished-for springtime is at last here. We feel justified in making this statement because the sun has actually been shining for two whole days, and it has been warm, too. That means the snow is about all melted and we can once more view Mother Earth, which, as no doubt every one will agree, is a rare privilege after the long weeks of snow, and then some more snow.

Another thing that caused us to realize that spring is here is the fact that we saw one of Nebraska's stalwart youths "spoofing" one of Nebraska's fairest maidens while they sat side by side on one of the benches near U. Hall.—this, we claim, is the most conclusive evidence that can be obtained, and it all happened yesterday.

Just to think, at last the good old days when a fellow feels in that frame of mind to "spoof" have at last returned; when he kind o' feels that there can't be much ill in the world when the days are so nice and warm, and the trees are budding out, and the birds are singing, and the girls are beginning to appear in their summer attire, seemingly with their wits keener than ever, and with more efficiency in the gentle art of "spoofing" than the boys could ever hope to attain.

A Girl is Essential.

For those who do not know how "spoofing" is done (can there be such?) we might remark here that it is simply getting some girl—you must always have a girl—then, either taking a seat on one of the benches on the campus or strolling slowly about the walks, saying as much to her as possible without saying anything; cutting a class or two the while, and having her do the same thing. The conversation must be, in the most part, a kind of mutual admiration for each other, or, vice versa. In the case of the "vice versa," you must be sure that it is all good natured, but make out that you are "sure sore about something." Mind now! don't really be sore, but try and make believe that you are. As a matter of fact, beginners should never try the vice versa method, because only the experienced "spoofers" can use it with any degree of success.

Anyhow, be this as it may, this is the "spoofing" season and everybody will be "doing it now." By June it likely will have become a second nature to us all.

The freshman law class last evening treated itself to an Orpheum party. About forty of the members of the class were present.

"DEMOCRACY OF WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE."

By Miss Lola LaFollette, (Daughter of Senator Robt. M. LaFollette)

Oliver Theatre, Wednesday, March 27.

As a champion of Woman's Suffrage Miss LaFollette ranks very closely, if not an equal, to Mrs. Pankhurst. Miss LaFollette has also won recognition as a gifted actress and in addition to her lecture Wednesday night, will give a reading of the English comedy, "How the Vote Was Won." Miss LaFollette will be introduced by Prof. Alice Howells.

Prices: 75c, 50c and 35c.
