AN EPIDEMIC IMMINENT.

The coming week will witness the crisis in the second semester struggle. Its advent will be marked by the imposition of mid-semester examinations and also that annual attack of Spring fever which inevitably follows the first warm days.

The pleasant weather of the past week has been the source of much surprise and rejoicing, for the relief of casting aside the worn overcoat and moth-eaten fur cap is truly great. The fear of snow-blindness has left, street cars run on their regular schedule, low shoes are no longer ridiculous, and the songs of the birds are in tune with the spirit.

No doubt the same conditions will prevail next week, and for many weeks to come, but unfortunately the novelty of the change will have worn off. Low shoes will have become commonplace, and the regular street cars will only serve to stir up clouds of dust. The increasing heat and drizzling rains will seem an unwelcome substitute for the crisp cold of the winter days. Spring fever will pounce upon the musing human and carry him far beyond the realm of usefulness.

This epidemic is, however, nothing to be alarmed about, as it is an annual event, and of short duration. With the bursting of the buds and the conquest of examinations, the curse will be dispelled, and the erstwhile victims will take a new lease on life—to rest in preparation for the summer.

SENIORS READY FOR FROLIC

CARE-FREE EVENING IS PLANNED BY MEMBERS OF FOURTH YEAR CLASS.

The senior masquerade of the class of 1912, judging from present prospects, will be a very successful affair. The seniors are entering into the spirit of the occasion and are getting ready for a frolic Saturday night.

This will be the last social affair of this year's graduating class and the committee in charge intends that it shall be a long-remembered one. There will be no formality whatever about the affair and everybody will know everybody else. It is not even improbable that "Ring-around-a-rosy" and other such games will be indulged in. In fact, it will be such a stunt as should remind one of the care-free days of his childhood.

A country school recitation day will occupy the time for the first hour. After this part of the program has been completed the music hall will be turned over to the dancers. The large lobby and the adjoining rooms will be reserved for the benefit of those who do not care to dance and here the old-time games will be played.

The masks will not be removed until the dancing has been in progress some time, so no one will know whom he or she is dancing with. There will be no programs.

The matter of expense should keep no one away. The price of the tickets is only twenty-five cents. The committee, in putting the price so low, is running the risk of not being able to meet the expense of renting the hall and engaging the orchestra, but is depending on the class loyalty of the seniors to see that the affair is a success. It is recommended that inexpensive costumes be used, preferably something comical that can be arranged on the spur of the moment.

All students should visit the "College Inn Barber Shop at 127 North 12th. S. L. Chaplin, Prop.
