

KOMENSKY DAY CELEBRATED.

Local Bohemian Students Present Portrait to Philosophy Department.

The Komensky Club met Saturday evening in Chapra hall of All Souls' Church to commemorate the 320th anniversary of the birth of John Amos Komensky (Comenius), Bohemia's great educator. A biographical sketch of the reformer was written and read by Miss Louise Dustaka, a poem by B. Butner was given by Miss Vlasta Sterba, Miss Clara Janouch read a paper, and Prof. Sarka Hrbek told of her visit to the places in Bohemia, Moravia and Holland which had been the scenes of Komensky's activity. The boys of the club delivered brief extracts from Komensky's writings. The club presented a fine portrait of Komensky to the Philosophy department of the University in commemoration of the anniversary. The portrait will appear in Dr. Wolfe's room in Library hall.

STUDENTS POOR SPELLERS.

Editors Are Troubled with Bum Orthography of Contributors.

Can Nebraska students spell? The student editors of the Cornhusker and Rag think not. "It is terrible," said the literary editor of the Cornhusker. "Copy comes in to us with almost every other word misspelled. Now, look at this. Enthusiastic is spelled in four different places 'enthusitic' and character 'character.' We certainly need a course in simple spelling in this school." One of the associate editors of the Rag tells the same story. "It takes us the longest time just to correct the spelling. It's the boys' stuff, too. The girls are pretty good, but the fellows get careless, or else they simply can't spell."

STRUGGLING WITH QUIZZES.

Mid-Semester Examinations Again Held to Hour Limit.

Mid-semester examinations are upon us, and it will be well for the student who does not realize that fact to become acquainted with it immediately. Some instructors chose to give mid-semester or preliminary quizzes last week, but this is the official week marking the middle of the term. Instructors are at liberty to give as many tests as they see fit, providing they are held within the one-hour limit. Last semester there was a good deal of comment among the students on the wisdom of dragging out several exams through the week as compared with giving them all at once, but it has been left to the discretion of the professors this semester as last.

IF you're particular about having your clothes in good style--and you ought to be--you'd better be particular where you go to buy them.

That doesn't mean that you won't find stylish clothes for sale in a good many places; but it means that if you don't get anything but style, you'd better not buy.

THE object in being particular about style is to have clothes that look stylish; and if you want them to look stylish, you want them to keep on looking stylish; and clothes don't do that unless they are made to do it; "and made to do it" means all-wool fabrics.

And that's the only way to get style that stays; that's why Armstrong's name in a garment means so much to him who buys the clothes to wear.
