LIVE QUESTIONS.

The present administration of the Nebraskan announced as its policy the gathering and publishing of news; news to the exclusion of all else.

The carrying out of this policy has proven a problem which has demanded all our energy and time; we have done our best, which has not been anything startling, and have sought to carry to our readers information which at least carries with it a fresh atmosphere.

At this time, when news is particularly scarce, it might be well to mention another aim which we have always had in mind, but which we have not made much of. This aim, which is shared by many other University institutions, is to instill into the undergraduates and alumni a deep regard for the school; a regard which will prompt them to portray, at every opportunity, the advantages and fine features of their Alma Mater.

The "Rag," in its present capacity, meaning its size and circulation, cannot be favorably compared with the dailies of other institutions. In this far it cannot inspire the readers with much loyalty and enthusiasm.

It can, however, accomplish something by bringing up for discussion "live" questions questions which concern the welfare of the University, and which should be of interest to every student and alumnus. If such an interest can be created through its columns the Nebraskan will consider that it has done a large part of its duty to the school.

Advice to Engineers.

Dean Cooley of Michigan, well remembered by Nebraska students who heard him speak at the Cornhusker banquet, spoke to the sophomore engineers of his school at their class dinner last week. The essence of his toast was to the effect that the engineer should broaden his life while in college to such an extent that he can proclaim himself a cultured man as well as a technical individual while practicing his profession.

All students should visit the "College Inn Barber Shop at 127 North 12th. S L. Chaplin, Prop.
