phone switchboard in the world dur-ing 1907, after the big fire of that year.

George L. Sullivan, '08 (Nebr.), M. E. '10 (Colo.), is now assistant pro-fessor of mechanical engineering at Montana State College, Bozeman, Mont. Professor Sullivan taught three years in the University of Colorado. The April number of "Machinery" contains a description and photo-graphs of a valveless pump designed by him for the Dourte Pump Com-pany. This is a new departure in the pump line. February "Machinery" has an article on the "Phorograph," and late editions of "Power" have sev-eral articles all written by Professor Sullivan.

For your orchestra call O. L. Jones. Auto L-8605.

PLACE OF CAMP DOUBTFUL.

The place where the annual en-campment of the cadet regiment will be held next month has not been fully decided as yet. The choice of loca-tions rests now between Beatrice and Crete. The excellent treatment which the boys received last year at the Gage county capital has caused many to request that camp be held here again. Some of the second year ca-dets, however, are in favor of Crete because they want "new worlds to conquer, and new friends to meet."
